SENATE IGNORES NYE'S PROTEST; TAKES DAVIS IN

And Thereby Is Rid of Mr. Grundy.

BY JOHN HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—The United States senate today by a vote of 58 to 27 snubbed Senator Gerald P. Nye and his senatorial campaign investigation committee and seated former Secretary of Labor James J. Davis as senator from Pennsylvania.

It was a choice between Mr. Davis and Joseph R. Grundy. Mr. Grundy, having been appointed a year ago when the senate refused to admit William S. Vare, had the privilege of sitting tight until a duly elected successor ousted him. He is the frank Mr. Grundy, who affronted certain senators by talking about "backward states."

Choice Was Easy.

The senate took Mr. Davis.

It was a year lacking three days from the day on which they had resolved to deny Mr. Vare his seat by a vote of 58 to 22. In the Vare case they had before them a committee report showing that $785,000 had been spent in Vare's campaign. In the Davis case they had Senator Nye's prophecy that the committee expected to find expenditures of more than $500,000 for the ticket on which Mr Davis ran for senator and Francis Shunk Brown for governor.

Eleven Republicans and 13 Democrats who had voted to reject Mr. Vare leaped the technical dividing line between the two cases and voted to let Mr. Davis come in. Nineteen Democratic senators in all voted against the resolution referring Mr. Davis' case to the Nye committee for further inquiry.

Senator Robinson Explains.

"In the Vare case and the case of Frank L. Smith of Illinois, we had before us a report of our committee which impeached their right to enter the senate on the ground of corruption," Senator Joseph T. Robinson, minority leader, explained.

Even the radical Republican bloc of thirteen, usually to be found on the voting side when ousting is to be done, split in two, seven voting against Mr. Davis and five in his favor, Senator Robert M. La Follette being absent.

The final summary was: For the Nye resolution—9 Republicans, 17 Democrats, one Farmer-Labor—total 27. Against the resolution—39 Republicans, 19 Democrats—total 58.

The senators had just had time to seat themselves following the opening prayer when Vice President Curtis produced Mr. Davis' certificate and Senator David A. Reed, senior senator from Pennsylvania, announced: "Mr. Davis is in the chamber and ready to take the oath."

Nye Enters Objection.

Mr. Davis was sitting in the back row, a stocky figure with wavy gray hair. He made as if to get up, but Senator Nye had already begun his objection. Senator Nye wished to perform "what I conceive to be my duty and ask Senator Elect Davis to stand aside." He wished opportunity for further investigation. Only in Pennsylvania, among the eight states investigated, was there evidence which might form a basis for objecting to the seating of senators-elect. "The total expenditures in behalf of James J. Davis are not fully known. A very material amount has been expended in addition to what was reported."

"I am sorry," said Senator Reed when Nye was done, "but I must object and insist that the rights of the senator-elect and of the state that elected him be respected by the immediate administration of the oath."

From his desk Senator Nye whipped his prepared resolution: "Resolved, that the claim of James J. Davis to a seat in the United States senate is hereby referred to the special committee investigating senatorial campaign expenses."

It was on that that the vote was taken.

Nye Plans to Keep On.

Despite the vote, Senator Nye declared later, investigation of the Davis campaign will continue. A hearing will be held tomorrow, at which George L. Weaver, an attorney, will testify, it is expected, concerning a printing bill for $74,000, which is supposed to be among the Brown-Davis campaign items not reported to the committee. Other witnesses will follow.

CRISIS OVER IN SIX MONTHS, HIS MESSAGE HINTS

He Counts On Higher Income Tax Rate.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—In his second annual message on the state of the Union, President Hoover told congress today in effect, that good times are just around the corner.

He enumerated various indications that the tide has already turned and made clear his belief that a fair degree of prosperity will have been restored by summer.

To cope with the crisis which exists in the meantime, the President asked congress for an appropriation of from 100 million dollars to 150 million dollars for the acceleration of public works construction in order to give employment to men out of work.

"Our immediate problem," said the President, "is the increase of employment for the next six months, and new plans which do not produce such immediate results, or which extend commitments beyond this period, are not warranted."

Higher Tax Rate Sure.

Surveying the finances of the country, the President broke the news gently to income tax payers that the income tax reduction allowed on 1929 incomes cannot be continued on 1930 incomes, the tax on which will be payable next year. The rates automatically revert to the regular levels.

Mr. Hoover did not specifically state that the income tax reduction is to be discontinued, but the financial statement he submitted is clearly based on this assumption.

On the basis of the income tax reduction now in effect, applying to the last six months of 1930 but not to the first six months of 1931, the President calculates that the government will wind up the current fiscal year with a deficit of 180 million dollars instead of the surplus of 123 million dollars which the treasury estimated a year ago. Then, assuming that "the temporary tax reduction of last year be discontinued," the President said that a surplus of only about $30,000,000 is in sight for the next fiscal year.

"Most rigid economy," the President added, "is therefore necessary to avoid increase in taxes."

Republicans Applaud.

The house, in which the reading of the message consumed 41 minutes, listened to the chief executive's annual report in unbroken silence until the end, when the Republicans applauded and eventually rose in their places, continuing the demonstration, while the Democrats remained in their seats, exhibiting no sign of approval.

Speaker Nicholas Longworth [Rep., O.] pronounced the President's review of business conditions "very encouraging," and Representative John Q. Tilson [Rep., Conn.], Republican leader, said the message was "very timely and very sound."

Senator James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], Republican leader of the senate, said he indorsed the whole message with the exception of the President's declaration that he would ask the senate to ratify the revised world court

Gary Mourns Girl Victim of Rum Tragedy

There was a funeral service for a pretty 18 year old girl in Gary yesterday and a court arraignment for five young men who had been her high school classmates.

These two events stirred the city of Gary and spurred its officials to action. For the girl, Arlene Draves, was killed in a drinking orgy at a supposedly respectable Gary home last Saturday night and the five young men have been charged with her murder.

Special Grand Jury Ordered.

Besides the funeral and the arraignment, developments of the day were as follows:

1. Announcement by District Attorney Oliver Starr that a special grand jury would be impaneled on Monday to hear the evidence.

2. Appointment by Mr. Starr of a special prosecutor, John Underwood, who pledged himself to demand the death penalty for all defendants, as provided by Indiana law in cases of death through ravishment.

3. Appointment by the president of the Gary city council of a commission to investigate the police department, with special reference to reports of protection accorded bootleggers and dive keepers.

Police Disperse Crowd.

Before the arraignment the courthouse square was packed with men, steel workers, business men, fathers and sons, a crowd which the police considered so menacing that they dispersed it before the five prisoners were brought from jail. In brief proceedings the five pleaded not guilty murder and were returned to the Lake county jail at Crown Point.

At the police order for dispersal there was no resistance and no threats were uttered. Police Chief Stanley Bucklind later said the temper of the crowd had probably been misjudged, saying: "They're law abiding people, except in the matter of the prohibition law."

The prohibition law was Gary's principal topic yesterday wherever the death of Arlene Draves was discussed. Men in barber shops talked of the chances of repealing the eighteenth amendment and of the five defendants' chances for acquittal. Women, shopping at bargain counters, whispered of the reports of drinking among high school students.

Girls Attend Funeral.

The officiating minister at the funeral service, the Rev. M. A. Shuster refrained from controversial subjects. He read from the New Testament, selecting the parable of the "wise and the foolish virgins," and the crowd that packed the spacious chapel listened with attention. A majority were young girls, who had known Arlene in high school.

Following the Bible reading the minister delivered a sermon, directed particularly, it seemed, to the young among his listeners. He chose for his text the tenth verse of the forty-sixth Psalm, "Be still and know that I am God," a text which, he said, carried a message of warning and of counsel.

As an organ sounded a miserere in signal that the service was at an end, young friends of the dead girl came forward, one by one, to view her in the gray satin lined casket, banked with floral pieces, many of which had been sent by social groups among them.

Arlene to Lie Beside Mother.

As they viewed the casket, the eyes of many were suffused with tears. In seats curtained off from the crowd the family mourners wept quietly. The family, comprising Arlene's elderly father, a worker in the steel mills; her three sisters and four brothers, were to take the casket today to their native town, Reynolds, Ind., to bury Arlene beside her mother, who died when the girl was 3 years old.

Two of the five defendants were reported to to have sought permission to attend the service, a request which Chief Bucklind denied. Only Virgil Kirkland, 20 years old, regarded by the

JINGLING CAR FARES PORTEND HAPPIER DAYS

Shopping Throngs Hurry to Buy.

That definite barometer of business—street car, elevated and bus traffic—is giving evidence that public buying is moving swiftly back to normal.

A year ago last March, trade observers noted the first signs of money tightness when the volume of travel on the local public carriers fell off. The depression that followed was accompanied by continued reports of a reduction in the number of riders using the lines to reach the shopping centers.

Yesterday, the reports of executives and traffic managers of the three local transportation lines showed a leap in fares corresponding to the normal Christmas increase.

Cause and Effect.

Hand in hand with the increase in carfares is the increase in business. Shopping has suddenly become normal over the city. The loop stores are filled with shoppers and the neighborhood stores are humming with activity. It is said that the cash volume is not as great as a year ago, but numerous reports have been verified by investigators for THE TRIBUNE that in number of individual sales this period compares favorably with the same period last year.

Apparently, in the view of business observers from all parts of the city, the determination to buy has returned to the public. All of the avenues of business ordinarily regarded as thermometers of trade indicate a return to normal habit.

A Stimulating Influence.

The Chicago Surface lines, the Rapid Transit company, and the Chicago Motor Coach company have all felt the stimulation and have been adding more conveyances to their schedule with the expectations of continuing to do so up to the peak of preholiday traffic, reached, usually two or three days before Christmas.

Monday, according to G. A. Richardson, vice president and general manager of the Surface lines, the company had more fares than an any day since last May, jumping more than 250,000 above the average registered on recent normal days.

About 2,514,000 fares were paid Monday, said Mr. Richardson. The previous Monday 2,358,000 fares were collected, and both figures are above the normal of 2,250,000.

"We are adding cars on all routes all the time," said the general manager. "It is a distinct indication that buying is on the up and up, for the general movement is toward the business centers all over the city."

Increase on Elevated.

The same trend was noted by H. G. Hardin, general superintendent in charge of transportation for the Rapid Transit—the elevated. "We find," he said, "that it is necessary to add more cars in the middle morning and late at night. This means that the women are doing their purchasing before noon and are taking advantage of the late hours the stores are keeping during the evening.

"I don't have the exact figures on the number of cars we are using now, but we are needing more each day. My prediction is that this increase will continue up to the very last few days before Christmas. We reach our peak a day or two before with the last minute shoppers."

The Motor Coach Trend.

The motor coach company, said President John A. Ritchie, has had a sudden increase in business in the last ten days. Monday's collections totaled almost $2,000 above those for the previous Monday, the exact figures being $1,958.

Between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. the coach company has found it necessary to add more buses to its service and the company is anticipating that more will be necessary to cope with the demands of the Christmas shoppers. Adopting a combination of slogans that have been proposed recently to stimulate normal buying, the motor coach company has designed a sign which will be placed on all their equipment:

"Do Your Christmas Shopping Normally and Now."

Example in Public Schools.

An example of how a public institution, such as the school system, can help increase business and alleviate want, is found in the recent report of Superintendent of Schools William J. Bogan to Lewis E. Myers, president of the board of education. The superin-

She does not smoke cigarets.

She has never been to a night club or to a tea dance.

She has never been in an airplane and has no ambition to fly.

The good warm earth of Grundy county, Iowa, has been her mother, and the sun in the cornfields, and the winter winds on the long daily tramp to school, have left her cheeks like the rose.

Club Holds Ninth Congress.

She was the winner in a group of 20 girls from all parts of the United States, examined by nurses, dentists and doctors at the McCormick Memorial institute. The 4-H club is holding its ninth annual congress in Chicago and 1,400 members are here, each winners in local contests.

Fifteen boys also contested, and the high score here was made by William E. Bodenhamer, 20 years old, of Johnson county, Missouri.

It was a close contest and the doctors had to look over their candidates several times. Marian's score was 99.7 and William got 98.7. The girl failed to make a perfect score only because of a slight inflammation of one eyelid, perhaps a bit of Chicago dust, and a small defect in the alignment of her white teeth.

Marian is a senior in high school and is the seventh child in a family of eight, her parents being of Danish blood.

Gives Credit to Parents.

"I give my father and mother a great deal of the credit," she said. "I often walk to and from school, two miles each way. I have been in 4-H club work for four years and often help father with his chores and work in the garden."

Questions as to her diet revealed that she eats cooked cereal nearly every morning, with toast, fruit, eggs, and milk or cocoa. Meat once or twice a day and plenty of vegetables. She helps her mother with the housework and sleeps nine hours a night. She drinks a quart of milk a day and does not take tea or coffee. Candy about once a week, after meals.

Marian is 5 feet 3½ inches tall and weighs 138 pounds. She is planning to go to college at Ames.

Young Bodenhamer is the youngest in a family of seven and is 5 feet 6½ inches tall, weighing 151 pounds. His chest measurement is 35 inches and his waist 30.5. Legs slightly bowed and teeth defects kept him from a perfect mark.

He also drinks a quart of milk a day and has about the same kind of farm food. There are sleeping porches at both homes and they are used in the summer and in winter the windows are kept open at night.

EAST IS EAST AND WEST IS WEST; AND NEVER TWAIN'LL MEET

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Adrian B. Miller, federal probation officer, was questioning Jung Ah Lung, 64, who had been given a suspended sentence today on a charge of possessing narcotics.

"How long have you been married?" Miller asked.

"Thirty-eight years," the oriental replied.

"Ever have any trouble with your wife?"

"Where is your wife now?" Miller inquired.

Boyce, Fond of Wife's Sister, Wins Divorce

New York, Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Harrison H. Boyce, middle aged millionaire inventor of automobile accessories, including the motometer, has stolen a Mexican divorce march on his young wife, Mrs. Nancy Boyce of Park avenue. This became known tonight. Boyce took Mexican leave of Mrs. Boyce via the indulgent courts of sunny Sonora only last week.

Not only did Boyce get a Mexican decree but Mrs. Boyce's younger sister, the popular Jacqueline Hawthorne Athana, filed action to divorce John J. Athana at the same time.

Society Recalls Suit.

All Westbury, L. I., was abuzz with the surprising news of the Hawthorne sisters. Nancy and Jacqueline once were that fashionable village's pet "debbies," and all Westbury recalled that only a few months ago, after Brother-in-Law Athana sued Motometerman Boyce for $500,000, charging alienation of affections, the young and lovely Jacqueline rushed home to Park avenue and affected a temporary reconciliation between Boyce and Mrs. Boyce.

For a time Mrs. Boyce was the paragon of devoted wifehood, defending her husband, declaring he had done nothing more than send Jacqueline flowers, and announcing she would stick to him loyally in fighting Athana's suit.

Reconciliation Ends.

Then Boyce wanted his true and loyal spouse to sign some papers. She balked. The reconciliation ended suddenly. He packed his bag and left "on a business trip." That was early last month. Boyce next popped up in Sonora and the vivacious Jacqueline Hawthorne Athana popped up in the same place.

Boyce proceeded to arrange legal action for his own divorce. But he also proved the model of big brother-in-law solicitude in taking care of filing of Jacqueline Hawthorne Athana's action, too. She is but half his age and for years was his legal ward.

Perhaps the Preservative Caused the Original Sin

Springfield, Mo., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—John Chanler, 19, had Albert Qualls, 22, haled into court to answer a charge of mayhem committed in a recent fight. Chanler fetched in as his chief witness a piece of his own right ear. He said he recovered it after the battle. The judge showed more than usual interest in the ink bottle in which the ear reposed, for it was filled with Missouri corn liquor.

Buy from the Pessimists and Found Your Fortune

Somebody was quoted the other day as saying that the way to found a fortune was to buy from pessimists. It follows, accordingly, that the time to buy is when the pessimists are the most numerous, with each underbidding the other in an effort to make sales. Right now we have quite a few pessimists. Their ranks have been swelled by a large contingent of those who a year or so ago were whooping it up under the banner of the optimists. Many of those who bought at the top now want to get out at the bottom. What was a bargain at any price a little more than a year ago is now regarded as a burden simply because it happens to be selling temporarily at a fraction of its former price.

Things can sell for too little as well as for too much. That's why many items now offer such attractive buying opportunities. Things bought now for a song from the pessimists can be sold back to them when they again join the ranks of the optimists—after the price has gone up high enough to attract their attention.

Mr. Bogan mentioned in his report, however, that he opposed the use of the teachers and pupils as a distributing agency for circulars designed by Mayor Thompson to further his "prosperity" scheme.

"The community," he wrote Mr. Myers, "demands that teachers protect their children from habits or practices which are not in accord with the highest ideals and principles.

"I am, of course, always eager to coöperate in any legitimate way to relieve unemployment, stimulate business, and promote prosperity in Chicago. May I call to your attention a few of the activities in which the schools have engaged recently under my direction?"

Put 10,000 Men to Work.

A list of six school activities follows, one of which promises employment to 10,000 men within a few weeks, when thirteen school projects have been started. In addition to unemployment relief, new construction and repair work on the school projects will put $20,435,000 into circulation.

Another school activity was the registration of more than 100,000 unemployed for Gov. Emmerson's relief commission, the teachers voluntarily giving their services.

Another was the coöperation of the schools with the women's division of the governor's commission, says Mr. Bogan's report, in "planning for the solicitation, securing, and storing of bundles of clothing for the needy during the current week." The appeal for clothing was carried to their homes by the 500,000 school children. The contributed clothing was received at the schools and the school employés obtained vacant storerooms throughout the city for storage of the bundles. The women's division is conducting a drive this week for enough clothes to keep the poor warm this winter.

$75,000 to Buy Clothes.

Mr. Bogan also tell in his report to the board how he instituted the collection of a $75,000 fund to purchase shoes and other clothing for needy children of the city so that they may attend school and suffer no loss of health. Yesterday, with about fifty schools yet to be heard from, this fund had reached $64,000.

A committee of district and assistant superintendents of schools arranged, at Mr. Bogan's direction, relief stations at strategic points over the city where the various charities could dispense their supplies and learn the exact situation in each district. He caused reports to be made of the relief work being done by each school and its auxiliary bodies, the Parent-Teacher association, and the community organizations in each district.

"I am willing to promote, so far as lies in my power, sane and intelligent buying on the part of the citizenry," Mr. Bogan wrote in conclusion.

G. O. P. SURPRISED AS SAVAGE QUITS COMMITTEE JOB

Surprise was expressed in Republican circles last night when it was learned the Joseph P. Savage, committeeman for the 25th ward, had turned in his resignation to Chairman B. W. Snow of the Republican county committee. Neither Savage nor Snow would comment upon the resignation, the chairman merely saying that it would be presented at the next committee meeting.

When it was announced last week that Savage had been appointed by Mayor Thompson to a five year term on the school board, the move was regarded as an attempt to align Savage and his law partner, former State's Attorney Crowe, with the Thompson faction.

Mr. Savage has removed from his 25th ward home to 3240 Sheridan road but residence outside a ward has not been construed in the past as barring a committeeman from service on the central committee. Rather, the resignation was taken as a declaration that neither Crowe nor Savage would be with Thompson for a fourth term.

OKLAHOMA CITY SEES GHOSTS OF LAND RUSH DAYS

Tract in Heart of Town Staked Out.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Dec. 2.—(AP)—The ghost of the homesteading spirit of 1889 walked today in Oklahoma City. Led by an '89er, a group of individuals staged a second "run" for land in the shadows of the downtown skyscraper district.

The objective this time, however, was not a "quarter section" upon which to throw up a shanty home, but a $7,000,000 strip of land in the business district abandoned by the Rock Island railroad in the removal of its passenger station and downtown tracks.

Land Bought by City.

That the city has paid the Rock Island $4,000,000 for the choice business property means little to the would-be homesteaders, led by Sam Bartell, constable, who was a deputy United States marshal back in 1889 when Oklahoma was opened to settlement and who obtained city lots by staking them out then.

Bartell's position is that the railroad, which obtained its right of way from the government, lost title by abandoning. He contends that the strip—about half a block wide and five blocks long—has reverted to the government as a part of the original townsite grant of 160 acres and is open for entry under an old act of congress.

Today's run lacked the fanfare of the land rush of 41 years ago when the clattering of horses' hoofs, the rumble of heavy wagons, the rattle of buggies, and ven the rushing feet of pedestrians marked the race for homesteads.

Posts Homestead Notices.

Unheralded, Bartell and his followers merely moved in on the valuable strip and posted announcements of their intention to occupy it.

Technically the property still is in the hands of the Rock Island and the city is to take possession Thursday. Malcolm McKenzie, Municipal counselor, said the property will be fenced when the city takes possession and policemen posted to keep off trespassers. The city intends to use the tract for park purposes.

Estimated from the price of adjacent business lots and from the increase in valuation since it was purchased from the railroad, the strip is worth about $3,000,000 more than the city paid for it.

The tract may be even more valuable than if its worth were based on mere real estate holding. In the last few years oil has been discovered in many places directly underlying the city. Wells have been drilled in vacant lots and back yards.

Several geologists claim that the "dome," the most valuable of the oil supply underground, lies directly under the state capitol. It is known that the wells grow more productive as they approach the center of the city.

Eva Booth Tells Britain Dry Law Would End Dole

LONDON, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Evangeline Booth, head of the Salvation Army in the United States, today urged prohibition upon Great Britain as a panacea for economic ills. "My message to the British people," she said as she sailed for home, "is to get prohibition and you will do away with your dole and your unemployment."

OHIO DAILY FOUNDED 'WAY BACK IN 1793 STOPS PUBLICATION

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—The Commercial Tribune will print its last issue tomorrow morning. This ends the career of a newspaper founded in 1793, and exceeded in age in the old northwest territory, only by the Scioto Gazette of Chillicothe.

The business and good will of the Commercial Tribune will be taken over by the Enquirer, which was founded ninety years ago.

Murat Halstead, editor of the Commercial and Commercial Gazette from the '60s to the '80s, pledged bonds of the paper to John R. McLean of the Cincinnati Enquirer and Washington Post, in the early '90s. The paper gradually lost ground, despite a merger with the Cincinnati Tribune in 1896, and on July 22, 1911, the Commercial Tribune was sold to Francis T. Homer, personal representative of Mr. McLean.

Since that time the McLean interests maintained the Commercial Tribune as Republican and the Enquirer as independent, frequently Democratic.

The Enquirer becomes the city's only morning paper. It was announced that the street price of the Enquirer will be reduced from 5 to 3 cents. Elsewhere the price will remain 5 cents.

CHIEF OF GERMAN ARMY PLEADS FOR FRENCH AMITY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 2.—The publication of a declaration of "honest friendship" for France and the French army by Gen. Curt von Hammerstein, commander in chief of the German reichswehr, set Berlin gaping today. The general spoke at a farewell banquet in honor of the departing French attaché, Gen. Tournes.

"Between the professional soldiers there is a certain international comradship, which makes it easier for soldiers to understand each other," Gen. von Hammerstein said. "A soldier naturally belongs to circles struggling for the national cause of Germany, as well as that of France, but he forgets wartime mass hatred the quickest."

"The oppressed man cannot be the true comrade of the oppressor and only sincere friendship is worth anything."

U. S. ASKS CITY TO CLEAR TITLE FOR POSTOFFICE

A contract for the foundation work on the $15,000,000 postoffice can be awarded early in the spring if the government receives a clear title to the air rights site over the property of the Union Station company. This assertion was made yesterday by Ferry K. Heath, assistant secretary of the treasury, in a letter received by City Clerk Smith.

The title which the government has agreed to buy now is clouded by an easement held by the city for the opening of Congress street between Canal street and the river. Members of the council railway terminals committee have refused to give up the easement.

"Provisions are being made for an arched opening that the city will be permitted to use should it eventually decide to extend Congress street," the letter read. "It is planned, if title to the site can be promptly vested in the United States, to award a foundation contract early in the spring."

Firm to Buy Stock Back from Employes at Loss

Quincy, Ill., Dec. 2.—(AP)—The Gardner-Denver company announced today it will repurchase from its employés at the price they paid for it $180,000 worth of stock sold in an employé participating during the 1929 bull market. The stock was offered to employés at $58 a share when it was listed at $65. Since then, however, the stock has fallen to $35 a share. Besides refunding all payments made, the company said, it will pay 6 per cent interest on the deposits. The concern also has a plant in Denver.

REICHSTAG RIOTS FEARED; BERLIN MASSES POLICE

Parliament Will Pass on Finance Decree Today.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 2.—With the public of Germany exceedingly nervous over the jobless crisis and President Paul von Hindenburg's decree making the drastic financial program a law of the land, Berlin tonight is concentrating its police forces for tomorrow's opening of the reichstag. Strong forces of both foot and mounted police will be thrown about the parliament building to crush any possible disturbances.

The police recall the riots when the reichstag went into session Oct. 13. The Fascists and communists, who had made heavy gains in the elections, were the indirect cause of stormy scenes in which rioters hurled rocks through the windows. Hence the authorities are taking no chances.

Will Surround Building.

The police have been ordered to surround the parliament building at noon. The session opens at 3 o'clock.

What will happen when the legislative body takes up the president's financial decree, which includes drastic cuts in public expenditures, sweeping reductions in salaries of public employes and a curb on increasing taxes, is the burning question on the minds of all Germans tonight.

Three possibilities exist. The reichstag can approve the Hindenburg decree. It can revoke it, in which case Chancellor Bruening might obtain the president's authority to dissolve the reichstag and call new elections, thus establishing an out and out dictatorship. A vote of nonconfidence for the cabinet is the last. What would happen then is a guess.

Chancellor Is Confident.

Should an attempt be made to revoke the financial reforms, the cabinet has one assurance and that is that the Social Democrats, who have the largest membership in the reichstag, are not inclined to help bring about a dictatorship. The chancellor is confident that his enemies—the Fascists, communists, and Nationalists—cannot muster enough votes for revocation.

The Fascist leaders tonight decided to oppose a vote of confidence for the cabinet and they are looking for the support of the communists and Nationalists to overthrow the cabinet.

Political observers declare that tomorrow's parliamentary session is a critical one. The people, they say, are edgy, and anything may happen. Political leaders are wondering whatever the result may be how it will affect the six million men who belong to military organizations controlled by political parties.

Fascists Best Trained.

The best trained of these are Adolf Hitler's Fascisti, or "Brown Shirts." They number 500,000. Their closest rivals are the "Steel Helmets," an association of war veterans, and total 1,000,000 members. Three of the former kaiser's sons are members. A fourth son "deserted" to join the more militant Hitlerites.

Three and a half million men are supporters of the republican "Reichsbanner." Three hundred thousand more are in the secret "Red Front Fighters" and "Red Navy," while 90,000 are members of the loyal republican "Young German Order" and similar organizations.

"The Red Front Fighters" have been suppressed, but they meet secretly. Members of the "Red Navy" confine themselves to communist propaganda among sailors. "The Reichsbanner" wear khaki uniforms. They go in heavily for physical culture. Germany is keeping its eyes on these men.

DENIES DIVORCE PLEAS OF BOTH IN GRADY TRIAL

Judge Scores Husband, Raps False Whiskers.

The divorce bill of Thomas J. Grady, real estate dealer, and the cross bill of his wife, Mrs. Eileen Grady, were both dismissed by Superior Judge Marcus Kavanagh yesterday for want of equity. In giving his decision the judge scored Grady and characterized Robert J. Robinson, who was with Mrs. Grady in a cottage at Bluff Lake when her husband raided it, as "Grady's stool pigeon."

"If Mrs. Grady committed adultery, and I am not convinced that she did, it was a frameup," the judge declared. "The case against her is founded on perjury, and a litigant bringing such a case is entitled to nothing.

"I will not find Mrs. Grady guilty —neither will I find her guiltless. She was a married woman carrying on a flirtation with a married man. I am going to hold against both of them."

Ridicules Their Disguises.

The judge also refused to grant Mrs. Grady separate maintenance, but ordered her husband to pay her $2,400 which evidence showed she gave him when they were married. Mrs. Grady was visibly disappointed by the decision. Attorney Edwin Hamilton, representing Grady, indicated he would appeal.

Judge Kavanagh's decision also ridiculed the disguises worn by Grady and a fellow amateur sleuth, Bernard Shanley, when they trailed Mrs. Grady for evidence. "They were only children's toys," said the judge.

"If Grady's story regarding his visit to the cottage at Bluff Lake is true," the judge said, "he has less manhood than any witness I have ever seen in my experience on the bench."

It was here that the judge said Robinson might have been a stool pigeon for Grady. "It is curious that Grady and Shanley should know just what afternoons Mrs. Grady and Robinson went to the cottage. On the day of the raid [July 31], Mrs. Grady did not know that she was going to the cottage until that day, but Grady knew it the day before."

Doubts Bathing Party Story.

The judge also alluded to the Highland Park bathing party, which had a large place in the evidence. Grady and Shanley, wearing false whiskers, testified they watched Robinson, Mrs. Grady, and another woman emerge from the water. They saw Robinson dry Mrs. Grady's back with a towel in the car, after which they saw her dry his, they testified.

"I do not believe their testimony," the judge said. "Not even a perfectly shameless woman would stand in a car naked with a naked man while they dried each other with towels.

"The charges Grady has brought against three respectable citizens will be blots on their names forever. Yet not one whisper of evidence was produced against any of them. Never before have I seen such deliberate falsifying.

SEIZE 3 YOUTHS AFTER 9 HOLDUPS WITH $40 LOOT

Three youths were picked up late last night after they had committed nine holdups, with the police just behind them at each one. Finally, however, a detective bureau squad car, commanded by Sergt. George Schupolsky, overtook them at Belden avenue and Clark street.

They gave the names of Kenneth Tannehill, 22 years old, 1700 North Crawford avenue; Irving Olson, 21, of 5960 West North avenue, and James Martin, 23, of 5947 North Manton avenue. They were riding in a car they had stolen from Elmer P. Bendt, 3815 West Augusta street. The nine robberies netted them $40.

JOHN D. RETRENCHES; GIVES GOLFER NICKEL, NOT DIME, THESE DAYS

Ormond Beach, Fla., Dec. 2.—(AP)—John D. Rockefeller hesitated about giving his pastor golfing companion a nickel here today after the latter had executed a good drive.

But, then, a pretty shot is worth it, and, too, "Neighbor John" wanted to accommodate news photographers on his first time out on the links this season.

"If money wasn't so scarce," said Mr. Rockefeller, "I'd give you a nickel for that drive."

But to the news picture folk it seems appropriate that the man who has billions of nickels should have given the pastor one nickel, even if he did not get the customary dime. They told Mr. Rockefeller their opinion.

"All right," agreed the philanthropist, and the minister now has a shiny new nickel.

LUCILLE FORBES WINS RIGHT TO SUE MATE HERE

Mrs. Lucille Forbes, 4246 Sheridan road, yesterday won the first step in her legal battle with her estranged husband, Alexander D. Forbes, 25 years old, son of a wealthy Rockford family. Superior Judge John J. Sullivan denied Forbes' plea that his wife's separate maintenance suit be dismissed on grounds that the Cook county courts lack jurisdiction.

Mrs. Forbes, through her attorneys, Socrates & Davis, contended that she could bring suit here because her husband has also left Rockford and is residing permanently at Cutbank, Mont., where he is managing his father's oil properties.

They were married secretly in June, 1929. Mrs. Forbes' suit says her husband's parents persuaded him, by threats of disinheriting him, to leave his wife. Forbes is the son of Walter Forbes, president of the Rockford National bank and the Northwest Malleable Iron company. Young Forbes' parents have been sued for $500,000 damages in another action filed by Mrs. Forbes, which charges alienation of affections.

SHOT IN BRAWL, HE SAYS.

Warren avenue police are investigating the case of Joseph Kelly, 32 years old, 323 South Francisco avenue, taken to the county hospital yesterday with a buckshot wound in his right lung. He said he had been shot in a drunken brawl at Madison and Morgan streets.

ATTACK DRY LAW, DENYING PUBLIC GAVE APPROVAL

Appeal to Supreme Court Is Expected.

New York, Dec. 2.—[Special.]—A distinguished array of lawyers questioned the validity of the adoption of the eighteenth amendment in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals here today. They appeared in a test case ultimately destined for appeal to the United States Supreme court.

The principle involved in the appeal of Louis E. Thibault from a conviction in Vermont to a sentence of imprisonment of a year and a day for violation of the Volstead act, was described as "the most important and fundamental question in constitutional law that has ever been presented in an appellate court."

The case presented the opinion, originally fostered in New York by Selden Beacon of counsel for appellant and by other constitutional lawyers elsewhere, that "the eighteenth amendment has never been adopted by the people," since no such amendment giving the national government added power over the people "can be adopted save by the people in conventions assembled in their several states."

Since the prohibition laws were ratified by the legislatures, Mr. Bacon, former Supreme Court Justice Daniel F. Cohalan, and Jeremiah M. Evarts, Thibault's counsel, held that the eighteenth amendment is clearly an encroachment upon "government of the people, for the people, and by the people," and hence unconstitutional.

Régime Termed Despotism.

The hearing of the appeal today is considered as the start of one of the most vigorous legal assaults against the liquor laws ever instituted and marks a direct espousal of the "cause of the people against encroaching centralised government," described as "despotism" by Mr. Bacon.

In his opinion, and that of Mr. Cohalan, the principle involved transcends the eighteenth amendment and involves the question "whether the people of the United States are free people or the subjects of despotism."

Judge Martin T. Manton, dean of the Appellate court judges, presided at the two hour hearing. Sitting with him were Judges Augustus N. Hand and Harris B. Chase. All of the judges asked numerous questions of Mr. Bacon and Mr. Cohalan, who argued the appeal for Thibault, and quried Harry B. Amey, United States attorney, appearing for the government.

Decision Is Reserved.

Both sides filed voluminous briefs, and regardless of the decision, the case is bound to come before the judicial notice of the Supreme court as both Mr. Amey and Mr. Bacon announced that they would appeal if the decision were adverse. Decision on the appeal was reserved.

Mr. Bacon filed with his brief a copy of an address by former Senator George H. Williams of Missouri before the Oklahoma State Bar association. Mr. Williams was one of the original advocates in his section of the country of the method instituted today of attacking the eighteen amendment, and he was present at the hearing today, having come from St. Louis. A number of lawyers were among the interested persons in the courtroom.

Thibault was convicted on four counts charging him with possession of whisky for sale and three for selling whisky for beverage purposes.

Descendant of Sherman.

Mr. Evarts formerly practiced law in New York and is a descendant of Roger Sherman, a signer of the constitution and one of the authors of the tenth amendment. It is on the tenth amendment that the appellant's case was predicated today, his counsel arguing that Thibault could not legally be punished for transgressing a law which does not constitutionally exist because it was not constitutionally ratified by the people.

"Our whole argument is predicated upon the tenth amendment to the constitution," Mr. Bacon, who presented the main case for the appellant, declared. Mr. Bacon claimed that the tenth amendment, originally adopted as a part of the so-called "bill of rights," limited powers that might be claimed under article five of the constitution which provides for the amendment of the constitution.

Article five provides for amendments by ratification by "the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the congress." The tenth amendment declares that "the powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people."

Mr. Bacon and his colleagues held that the word "or" was in this case distributive and not alternative; that one of the most fundamental tenets of the constitution is that the "powers of government emanate from the people" and that the tenth amendment, limiting and restricting the fifth article and taken in conjunction with and in consideration of the other articles of the constitution and its preamble, imposes upon congress the necessity of submitting proposed amendments to the source from which the power springs—the state or the people. He drew a distinction between the legislatures of the states and state conventions, declaring that state legislatures are not truly representative of the people.

Questions of Power Raised.

Mr. Bacon said that the question he raised is the unique one of "Who has the power of amendment?" not the question of extent of amendment as expressed by Elihu Root.

Interpreting the fifth article alone and without restriction he declared that "the power of the legislature would be absolute and they would exercise it as a federal function, not as a function of the state or of the people." If this is so, he added that "the power lies in the hands of less than 1,300 men to abolish religious freedom, to abolish trial by jury, to provide that no man can raise a finger if a federal official wants to imprison him, to abolish this court and all courts, to put us at the absolute mercy of those men."

Emphasizing that "the power is reserved to the people," Mr. Bacon declared that if the fifth article ever gave the federal government the right to "dispose of the people and their free spirits," the tenth amendment revoked it.

Decisions Are Cited.

Mr. Amey answered more briefly, citing a number of judicial decisions and holding that there is no difference between the legislatures of the various states and the people. He declared that a popular assemblage, such as was held in Athens to settle such mooted questions, "is not possible in a country of this size." He declared his opposition's interpretation if adopted as conducive to "tearing down the constitution itself." "People have a right to do this," he said, "but they must tear it down to the foundations and begin all over again."

WASHINGTON HALTS METHODISTS' PLAN TO ENLARGE 'LOBBY'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Plans of the Methodist Episcopal church to build a new half million dollar addition to its building adjoining the capitol grounds—sometimes called the Methodist "vatican," today were apparently checkmated.

Owing to a new District of Columbia zoning ordinance limiting the height of buildings in the capitol neighborhood, the annex project has been practically abandoned. Deets Pickett, research secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition, and Public Morals which occupies the building, said today that the matter would be decided at the board meeting on Dec. 9.

Reports published locally were that the government possibly might condemn the present Methodist building to make way for government construction. These reports were unconfirmed.

The impressive five story white building, situated just east of the senate wing of the capitol and across the street from the new Supreme court building has been the pride of the ecclesiastical drys. The wets and liberals regard it as a propaganda mill.

Original plans for the annex called for a structure of the same cornice height of the present building, which is 72 feet high but which would be forbidden under the 60 foot limit now in effect.

The church officials sought to raise the limit to 90 feet but the plea was rejected by the District zoning commission on the ground that a 90 foot structure would overshadow the government buildings.

BILLS PROVIDE 4 PER CENT BEER AND ALCOHOL

Wet Measures Offered in Both Houses.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Four per cent beer and medicinal liquor bills were introduced simultaneously in the senate and house today by Senator Hiram Bingham [Rep., Conn.] and Representative E. W. Goss [Rep., Conn.]. The bills were referred to the judiciary committee of each house.

One of the Bingham-Goss bills would amend the Volstead act by removing the one-half of one per cent alcohol limitation in beverages and substitute four per cent, while the other would amend the act by allowing physicians to prescribe malt liquor containing one-half pint of alcohol for the use of one person in ten days.

Provisions for Alcohol.

The medicinal liquor amendment provides that "No physician shall prescribe nor shall any person sell or furnish on any prescription any malt liquor that contains more than one-half pint of alcohol for use by any person within any period of ten days."

Prohibition activity during the first two days of the congressional session has been confined to the introduction of bills, mostly wet, several of which were presented yesterday. Tomorrow, however, the interest of the wets and drys will be fastened upon the prohibition enforcement phases of President Hoover's budget message and the treasury appropriation bill report covering allotments to the coast guard, customs, and bureau of industrial alcohol.

Wants Them All Submitted.

From a third organized dry leader today came a statement concerning agitation in the dry ranks over a referendum on the 18th amendment. Ernest H. Cherrington, secretary of the World League Against Alcoholism, declared that if the 18th amendment is to be submitted to a vote then all the other constitutional amendments should be submitted also.

Most dry leaders, he said, do not believe, however, that a popular referendum on any part of the constitution is "in harmony with that system of representative government which now obtains."

APPEAL TO CONGRESS FOR MORE HOSPITALS TO CARE FOR WAR VETS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Unable to care for the constantly growing number of war world service men seeking admission to government hospitals, the veterans' bureau, in its annual report issued today, appealed to congress to either build more hospitals or limit the classes of veterans to be admitted.

On July 1, 1930, at the close of the last fiscal year, there were 30,541 patients in the bureau hospitals, an increase of 2,824, or 10 per cent, in one year. Since 1919, the report said, there have been 882,687 admissions to hospitals, while during the last year they numbered 92,115, second only to the peak of 134,354 in 1922. The report forecast "a potential load of more than 4,000,000 veterans."

The net disbursements of the veterans' bureau for last year for all purposes aggregated $452,150,622, an increase of $19,047,652. Death and disability compensation payments totaled $188,000,000.

The bank had liabilities of more than two million dollars, now in charge of Receiver Albert W. Frankenfeld. Schuyler organized the bank in 1876.

POSTPONE TRIAL OF FOSTER FOR LINGLE MURDER

CRIMINAL COURT.

Henry Pearce and William Russell, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years each in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Joseph Burns.

The trial of Frank Foster for the murder of Alfred Lingle was suddenly continued yesterday until Feb. 16 by agreement of both prosecuting and defense attorneys. Three jurors had already been tentatively selected when the continuance was suggested to Judge George Fred Rush. A juror was withdrawn and the entire jury panel was dismissed. The explanation was given that the trial at this time would hamper the Lingle investigation.

A $20,000 bond was given for Foster's release on property scheduled by Mrs. Anna Green, 3920 Jackson boulevard. The property was valued at $35,000 with a $22,000 first mortgage and the state's attorney recommended that the bond be accepted despite the incumbrance. The bond was approved.

Foster was then taken before Judge John H. Lyle to answer a vagrancy charge and the same property was scheduled for his release on $5,000 bond. The bond was again approved on recommendation of the state's attorney. Foster, after being photographed at the detective bureau, walked to the street, a free man for the first time in five months. The vagrancy case was continued to Feb. 13.

The vagrancy case of Joe Saltis, south side gang leader, set for hearing yesterday, also was continued by Judge Lyle. Saltis did not appear when his case was called. His attorney, George Crane, told Judge Lyle that Saltis was almost constantly at the bedside of his son, Emil, 14 years old, who was hurt in an automobile accident a week ago.

"I think I should investigate this story," said Assistant State's Attorney Harry Ditchburne.

"No, no. I'll take the attorney's word for it," said Judge Lyle. He continued the case until Dec. 9.

Young Robber Wins Judge.

Then came the case of Joseph Giblin, charged with eight robberies. His 18 year old bride, Geraldine Giblin, former south side night club hostess, was present.

"I am from the west and I came to Chicago to be near the cattle in the stockyards," said Giblin, who was in tears. "But I had to work somewhere and I got a job running a hotel elevator."

Giblin told of meeting the blonde entertainer and of their elopement to Crown Point.

"I wanted to get her pretty things, so I went out and held up people," he said. "She didn't know anything about it."

"I believe you," said Judge Lyle. He struck off the charge of robbery against the girl. "I am setting a low bond of $5,000 in this case and I will recommend clemency, Giblin, when you go to trial."

Plea Gains Clemency.

George Tronnen, 30 years old, 2004 North Clark street, was arraigned before the court. He told of his burglary of a chain store at 3537 Fullerton avenue, of which he was the manager. He obtained $750.

"I wanted to buy a Christmas present for my mother and sister," said Tronnen tearfully. "This is my first offense."

"I am sorry for you," said Judge Lyle. He granted the defendant probation, first reducing the charge to petty larceny, and remarking: "I am doing this upon my own responsibility."

Alderman Writ Dismissed.

Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court dismissed a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of Izzy Alderman, police character, and ordered him into the custody of New York City authorities as an alleged participant in a jewel robbery in that city in 1926.

The defense attorneys, however, were granted a fifteen day stay in order to appeal to the state Supreme court and Alderman will be held here under bond pending a decision on the appeal.

The Appellate court issued a writ of mandamus ordering Judge Lyle to sign a bill of exceptions which he had refused to sign and to pay $23 costs of the case in the Appellate court. Judge Lyle had refused to allow an appeal from a $342 judgment in a case before him. The Appellate court ruled that he had erred in this refusal.

In a speech before the City club Judge Lyle criticized Acting Police Commissioner Alcock and recommended that Col. A. A. Sprague be appointed police commissioner.

"I cannot too strongly urge a training school for judges, public officials and police officers," Judge Lyle said. "We need a good chief of police, not a man from the ranks. A man of the latter type would have hobnobbed with all the rank and file, various gangsters, and too many politicians.

"A chief of police must be a man who is not afraid of losing his job and being forced to work under men he has previously ruled. I will not mention the present chief except as an alleged chief. If Alcock were any good he could catch Capone."

Referring to the coming mayoralty primaries Judge Lyle said: "When people select a mayor next spring they will not pick a circus ballyhoo, wearing a huge cowboy hat, carrying a cane, and with the idea that kissing babies is the proper method of presenting his case to the people."

NEW YORK QUIZ FINDS ANOTHER NEST OF GRAFT

Thieves' "Fences" Pay and Go Free.

New York, Dec. 2.—[Special.]—The Appellate division's inquiry into the magistrate's courts in this city uncovered another ugly partnership between the forces of law and the underworld today. This time the searchlight centered on the city's "fences"—receivers of stolen goods—and their brotherhood with police, bondsmen, lawyers and the courts.

Carl Ackerman, a storekeeper, was questioned in private by the investigators. According to Ackerman, he was questioned regarding the case of a fence named Ferron, arrested for receiving stolen goods, who hired as counsel Hyman Bushel, then an attorney but later an active magistrate. Ackerman said Bushel demanded a fee of $7,000 and that upon payment Ferron was arraigned in Police court and discharged.

From other sources it was learned that the activities of "fences" in evading the law by bribery and the payment of "protection fees" probably would occupy the attention of the investigating body as soon as the vice graft cases have been thoroughly sifted.

MOTHER KILLED AS SON STEPS ON AUTO STARTER

Tragedy Occurs as Two Work on Car.

Mrs. Elsie Wasson, 40 years old, 7058 Eggleston avenue, was fatally injured last night when she was crushed by an automobile while her son, Edwin, 20 years old, was at the wheel. The accident occurred in the alley at the rear of their home. Wasson stepped on the starter of the car, which was in gear. Mrs. Wasson, who was standing in front of the auto, was crushed against a garage door.

Wasson told police that he and his mother had parked the car to put an anti-freeze solution in the radiator. Not knowing that the car was in gear, he started the motor and his mother was struck before he could apply the brakes. She died before help could be summoned. Wasson was not held.

This death and four others increased the Cook county motor toll for the year to 1,019. The victims:

Jack Baker, 6 years old, 1317 Clybourn avenue. Killed last night in front of his home by the automobile of Edwin Murphy, 1211 Berwyn avenue.

Joseph Bieñada, 55 years old, 3640 South Wood street. Killed when struck last night at 39th and Halsted streets by the machine of Walter Lawson, Indianapolis, Ind. Lawson had been attending the stock show.

Joseph Lococo, 16 years old, 5147 West 25th street, Cicero. Died at the Berwyn hospital of injuries received on Sunday in a collision at 16th street and 61st court, Cicero.

George H. Pinkham, 73 years old, 4503 North Campbell avenue. Died at the Ravenswood hospital of injuries received on Sunday when struck by an auto at Western and Sunnyside avenues.

2 FIREMEN DIE UNDER DEBRIS AS FLOOR CAVES IN

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Caught beneath wreckage as a floor in a burning warehouse collapsed tonight, two firemen, Joseph Hintz, 27, and Gerald O'Brien, 26, were killed, and three others were injured but not critically.

Other firemen dragged the injured men from the building. Several minutes later they found the bodies of Hintz and O'Brien. The fire, in a three story brick building housing the H. Siegel Burlap Sack company, was of undetermined origin, firemen said.

Fisher, Ill., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—The bodies of W. F. Door, 77, and his son, Patrick, 45, were found in their home by neighbors late yesterday when they called at the house where they had been living alone. They are believed to have been killed by drinking denatured alcohol.

prosecution as the principal culprit, would discuss the case, the others having been forbidden by their lawyer to talk of it, even to their own parents, they said.

Sees Dry Law on Trial.

Volsteadism will be on trial instead of the defendants when the defense presents its case to the jury, Attorney Robert Moore of Gary indicated last night. His firm is defending David Thompson, 22 years old and married, who was host at the liquor party; Leon Stanford, 21, former Emerson High school athlete; Henry Shirk, former athlete of Emerson High and St. John's Military academy, a son of a Gary fire captain, and Paul Barton, married and a professional athlete.

"This case typifies the results of the law which one of our statesmen has described as 'a noble experiment, far reaching in purpose,'" Attorney Moore declared. "When I was a high school student 25 years ago, temperance workers used to depict as a typical instance of the evils of drink a child pleading for lenience for a drunken father.

"Times have changed, the situation is reversed, and today we have the fathers and mothers pleading that their children be spared the penalties for offenses committed under the influence of intoxication.

"Prohibition Is Guilty."

"Many hearts have been wrung over this case—the hearts of the parents of these boys and the dead girl. I sympathize with all of them. These youngsters didn't create the prohibition law. It was brought about by fanatics, who, now that the law's viciousness has been established by such cases as this, lack the will to enforce it or the courage to admit it should be repealed.

"We in northern Indiana have grown sick of so-called statesmen who advocate prohibition with the smell of liquor in their mouths. Their hypocrisy has brought our young manhood and womanhood to indulge in such orgies as the one in this case.

"This condition is not peculiar to Gary. In every town of this country it is the same. Every mother can sympathize with the mothers of these boys, reflecting that her boy might easily be snared in the same trap of bootleg liquor that society had set for youth."

By his own admission young Kirkland, who claims that he and Arlene were engaged to marry and who has confessed the first attack upon her, had begun drinking in his early high school days. In 1929, being a senior and a star on the football team, the coach ousted him from athletics, and the principal subsequently expelled him because of intoxication.

Kirkland had been the fiancé of Arlene for a month before her death, he said. Following an Armistice day party he and Arlene with a party of friends had driven to Valparaiso for a marriage license, he revealed, adding:

"But Babe [Arlene] was so drunk we didn't dare go before the license clerk."

Tells of Alcohol Orgy.

"She had passed out at a good many parties," he went on. "So I wasn't scared when she dropped over on a sofa at Dave Thompson's house. The alcohol was terrible and we had wine before the alky cocktails came around. I expected she'd get sick. It's what happened afterward that I can't explain."

In the confession, Kirkland said that, after taking the girl to the rear porch of the Thompson home and roughly shaking the girl to revive her, he allowed her to fall upon the porch and attacked her. Then, when two of the other defendants suggested going for sandwiches, he drove the car while they assaulted her. He buried his head in his hands and sobbed when recalling the final episode—his entering the house and suggesting that the others go to the car where Arlene lay unconscious.

"We were engaged—we were going to marry," he cried. "Would any human being in his right mind do what I did? I was crazy drunk—just crazy drunk."

Rum Seller Held on 4 Charges.

In Thompson's confession, Clarence Johnson, 37 years old, a Gary bootlegger, was named as the purveyor of the alcohol served at the party. Arrested by state police in Indianapolis, Johnson was held by City Judge Herman Key in Gary yesterday on three liquor charges and one of accessory before murder.

Citing Johnson's case as typical of enforcement problems, Police Chief Bucklind recalled that he had been arrested three weeks ago on charges of peddling liquor to high school students. The school superintendent, William A. Wirt, nationally known in the educational field and credited with giving Gary the finest public school system in the country, had made the complaint.

In a raid on the bootlegger's home the police found a quantity of liquor, arraigned him on charges of possession, and saw him fined $100 and sentenced to thirty days in jail. Johnson appealed and was out on bond the same day.

The police made two more arrests last night in connection with the murder case. The prisoners are Sigmond Beke, 41 years old, 1472 Cleveland street, a bartender, and Gust Kish, 35 years old, 360 Maryland street. According to the police, Thompson and several companions purchased a gallon of wine from Beke shortly before the Draves girl's death. Kish is said to have introduced Thompson to Beke.

BILLY DOAK OF CABINET STILL LABORING MAN

Clings Pridefully to His Lunch Box.

GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Brisk and busy Billy Doak today took over many of the duties and some of the privileges of the secretary of labor, although pending senate confirmation of his appointment he finds it amusing to call himself, less formally, "Secretary of What Not."

The duties began early this morning when he drove in from his home on the Potomac to close up his affairs as national legislative chairman and editor for the railroad trainmen's brotherhood. The privileges ended late last night when he and his wife drove home from their first official function the cabinet dinner at the White House.

In between had been work, plenty of it.

For this new labor secretary is a laborer, a quiet, courteous, unflustered sort of worker who makes time for everything.

Proud of His Lunch Box.

He is still the railroader, with pride in the ten cent store lunch basket that hangs above the hearth at "Notre Nid," his Virginia home. But he is also a student, with devotion to the books that flank the hearth and give a dramatic sequel to the lunch basket.

Speaking of dramatic contrasts, when 18 year old Billy Doak used that basket, some thirty years ago, he was making $1.30 a day, switching box cars at Bluefield, W. Va. But today thanks to the delay in the resignation of former Secretary James J. Davis, Appointee William Nuckles Doak is losing $41 of federal pay every twenty four hours the senate dallies in confirming him. Yet he is able to smile.

He hasn't the pay check, and he hasn't the title, as yet. But at the cabinet dinner the President and Mrs. Hoover gave him the rank of his office and placed him ahead of his predecessor, Davis.

Looks Like a Professor.

Mr. Doak looks like a teacher, say of economics. His voice is soft and Virginian, for all its experience at addressing labor meetings. At the same time there is nothing kid gloved about him. He owns a small sedan, with a friendly colored boy sitting close in by the driver's seat. And one of the things he did today was to decline the use of the swanky limousine that the former secretary has been using.

Born near Rural Retreat, Va., 49 years ago the twelfth of this month, Doak [his intimates call him Billy; his wife calls him Will] was the son of a confederate soldier and the descendant of Preacher Doak, the first Presbyterian minister in those parts. He started work as a switchman and rose rather quickly to administrative posts in the brotherhood of his craft.

His work brought him to Roanoke, Va., where in 1908 he met Emma M. Cricher of Ironton, O., there on a visit to her cousin. They were married in 1908 and lived in Roanoke until 1916, when new duties brought him to Washington. For more than ten years their home was a Washington hotel.

Builds a Country Home.

A temporary illness and a permanent longing for the outdoors sent him scouting for a place where he could have dogs, fuss with a garden, see something beside senators. On the banks above the Potomac, Virginia side, of course, eight miles from the capital, he found his spot and built a rambling white house. It was to be merely a summer retreat. But by the fall of the first summer he and Mrs. Doak were so fond of the place that they stayed on.

Besides, by this time they had acquired three dogs, a parrot, a canary, four colored helpers, and many chickens. The parrot, by the way, is the second to join the cabinet family, for Secretary of State Stimson has one. The Doak parrot is what you might call a one man bird, for she perches on his shoulder to awaken him in the morning and follows him around faithfully.

Cautious and Earnest.

Cautious of prejudging the problems of his new job, Mr. Doak declines to give specific views on specific questions in his new field, such as the controversy over the possible transference of some of the children's bureau activities to the public health service.

But of the fundamental viewpoint that he brings to his task he speaks freely. Arbitration, he believes, is the rational solution to many difficulties.

"The big difficulty about arbitration," he explains, "is of course that age old difficulty of human nature; that of finding disinterested people who know something about the question at issue."

He has faith in unions and believes earnestly what he recently wrote in an editorial in his magazine:

"Compact unions are the best safeguards against ultra radicalism and the numerous other isms with which we are now confronted."

"Next to eternity, the most serious problem for every person to consider is how he shall spend his declining years."

And, in a Labor day editorial in his Railroad Trainmen's Journal our newly appointed secretary of labor wrote his own faith in his own job in these words:

ENDS HER LIFE BY GAS.

Mrs. Evelyn McLean, 25 years old, 4051 School street, committed suicide late yesterday by turning on the four gas burners on the kitchen stove in her apartment.

RIPARIAN OWNERS WIN ALL LAND UP TO WATER'S EDGE

Michigan Supreme Court Reverses Itself.

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Real estate and resort interests won a decisive victory in the Michigan Supreme court today, when a majority opinion was handed down holding that owners of upland property, bordering upon the great lakes are entitled to full title to the water's edge.

The principle established by the state's highest court a few years ago in the Kavanaugh vs. Baird case was that the riparian owners held title only to the meander line established by federal government survey and the state held the remaining strip in trust. In the new opinion written by Justice Louis H. Fead in the case of John R. Hilt vs. Herman Weber, the court's former stand is completely reversed.

"The dictum that riparian owners along the great lakes own only to the meander line is overruled," the opinion states. "Instead of aiding in the working out of the recreational aspirations of the state, it would seem the effect of the Kavanaugh doctrine would be destructive of the development of the lake shores. The state could make no use of the relicted land. It loses nothing of practical value. Taxes will more than compensate for the loss of an empty title. The doctrine of justice must give way to the state's duty to no longer perpetuate an error and an injustice. There is no power to justify the taking of private property without compensation. The right of the state is subordinate to that of the riparian owner."

Five Justices Concur.

While the effect of the decision is to give the riparian owners full title, the language of the court indicates that the state retains title in name only, while the property owners hold and may transfer by sale all of the rights customarily associated with ownership.

"The state has title in the relicted lands solely in a sovereign capacity. It is set forth, 'For the protection of navigation, fishing, and hunting. The state cannot divest itself of such a trust. It cannot sell or lease for any purposes which would affect the trust or injure the rights of riparian owner. The riparian owner has the exclusive use of the bank and shore and may erect bathing or other structures thereon for business or pleasure.'"

Five other justices of the eight comprising the court concurred in Justice Fead's opinion, although two of the five, Justice William W. Potter and Walter H. North, signed a concurring opinion setting forth some special views on the subject. Chief Justice Howard Wiest, however, wrote a dissenting opinion supported by Justice John S. MacDonald.

Gov. Green Disappointed.

Gov. Fred W. Green expressed displeasure at the majority opinion. He had sought an arrangement under which the conservation department could have treated each case on its merits. He pointed out that those who have purchased land entirely relicted were entitled to protection as well as upland owners who bought property in good faith believing their title extended to the water's edge.

Real estate interests will be spared many threatened damage suits as a result of the decision as many persons who had bought property and found their title extended only to the meander line had brought actions for recovery.

GUNMEN ROB STORE OF DRESSES.

While a gunman held a pistol at the head of Abe Kusnets, owner of a dress store at 5839 West Division street yesterday three confederates carried virtually the entire stock of the store to a waiting automobile and escaped.

WOMAN ACCUSES CAB DRIVER.

Frank Sedivy, 37 years old, 1120 West 19th street, a driver for the Chicago Taxicab company, was held for questioning yesterday by the Marquette police, after Mrs. Mary Dovjak, 42 years old, 1750 West 22d street, said she had been beaten and robbed while riding in his cab.

What IS it that Mr. K. has to announce in Next Sunday's Tribune that all B. L.'s will find so interesting?

HOOVER ASKS FOR 150 MILLIONS TO GET MEN WORKING

His Message Forecasts Speedy Recovery.

"Ridiculous," Says Harrison.

Senator Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.] said the President's analysis of the depression "presents an excuse that is pitiable, an alibi that is ridiculous." According to Harrison it was the "indefensible Hoover-Grundy tariff act that provoked and assured the economic debacle."

Prohibition, which vies with hard times as a subject of public interest, is not mentioned in the message. The closest the President comes to it is to recommend passage of the border patrol bill, the bill for relief of congestion in the courts advocated by the Wickersham commission, and the bill for a more effective enforcement of prohibition in the District of Columbia.

Reiterating that "we have as a nation a definite duty to see that no deserving person in our country suffers from hunger or cold," the President broached his plan for a supreme effort, costing perhaps 150 million dollars, to wipe out unemployment in the next six months. This money is not to be expended upon additional public works, for the construction work of the government, the President said, is already "at the maximum limit warranted by financial prudence as a continuing policy." The fund is to be used for construction work at once upon public buildings, waterways, and other public works already authorized that otherwise would not be undertaken for several years.

Would Control Purse.

Mr. Hoover recommended that this appropriation of between 100 million and 150 million dollars be made distributable upon recommendation of a cabinet committee approved by the President. With that amount available, the President said it would be possible to expend a total of 650 million dollars upon construction of all kinds in the next 12 months.

At the instance of the administration, Senator Otis F. Glenn (Rep., Ill.), member of the senate appropriations committee, immediately after the reading of the message introduced a bill providing for the appropriation of $150,000,000 as the emergency unemployment fund requested by the President.

Most of the criticism of the message heard in congressional lobbies was directed at the request for this large appropriation. Numerous Republicans joined the Democrats in the comment that the executive should not be given so large a sum with no strings tied to it.

Too Drastic for Byrns.

Representative Joseph W. Byrns [Dem., Tenn.], ranking Democratic member of the house appropriations committee, said that "such drastic power has never been asked by any President except during war," but added that he believed the proposal merits the approval of congress "after some modification of the manner in which the money is to be spent."

The President's consideration of the current period of hard times was confined to measures of first aid treatment. The broader question of the removal of the causes of recurrent economic depression would best be considered, in his opinion, "after the passing of this depression, when we can examine it in retrospect."

SENATE WORKS A BIT

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Legislative wheels began to grind today, preliminaries incident to the opening of congress being largely out of the way. The senate commenced consideration of a bill for the regulation of interstate motor bus traffic which was passed by the house last winter and was the unfinished business of the senate when adjournment was taken in July. Little progress was made, Senator James Couzens [Rep., Mich.], chairman of the committee on interstate commerce, who is in charge of the bill, stating that he had been informed that a number of amendments would be offered later.

Reed Asks Immigration Ban.

Senator David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.], in offering his bill to suspend all immigration for a period of two years, told the senate that while he did not believe any immigration law change would provide a panacea for unemployment or the industrial depression, he did think that "in a time like this it is highly unwise to admit persons seeking employment."

Senator Reed explained that his bill would apply to all countries on this hemisphere as well as to Europe and also to Filipinos. His reference to the Filipinos, who, he said, are entering Pacific coast ports in "alarming numbers," caused Senators Burton K. Wheeler [Dem., Mont.] and W. H. King [Dem., Utah] to assert that these people should not be affected by the bill at a time when the question of Philippine independence is being considered.

Glenn Files Public Works Bill.

Among other bills introduced there were a number of measures dealing with unemployment and drought relief. Senator Otis F. Glenn [Rep., Ill.] presented the administration bill for a 150 million dollar emergency fund for public works construction, while Senator Charles L. McNary [Rep., Ore.] offered the administration bill for a $40,000,000 seed loan fund. Senator Elmer Thomas [Dem., Okla.] proposed a special senate committee to handle emergency relief legislation.

Senator S. W. Brookhart [Rep., Ia.] introduced a bill to increase the federal aid road appropriation to 500 million dollars for each of the years 1932 and 1933.

In the house adjournment was taken after the reading of the President's message. Tomorrow, after congress receives the President's budget message, the house will commence debate on the first of the annual appropriation bills, that relating to the treasury and postoffice departments.

TEXT OF PRESIDENT HOOVER'S MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Following is the text of President Hoover's address to the congress, met in joint session:

"To the Senate and House of Representatives: I have the honor to comply with the requirement of the constitution that I should lay before the congress information as to the state of the Union, and recommend consideration of such measures as are necessary and expedient.

"Substantial progress has been made during the year in national peace and security; the fundamental strength of the nation's economic life is unimpaired; education and scientific discovery have made advances; our country is more alive to its problems of moral and spiritual welfare.

"During the last 12 months we have suffered with other nations from economic depression.

"The origins of this depression lie to some extent within our own borders through a speculative period which diverted capital and energy into speculation rather than constructive enterprise. Had overspeculation in securities been the only force operating, we should have seen recovery many months ago, as these particular dislocations have generally readjusted themselves.

Overproduction Blamed.

"Other deep seated causes have been in action, however, chiefly the world-wide overproduction, beyond even the demand of prosperous times, for such important basic commodities as wheat, rubber, coffee, sugar, copper, silver, zinc, to some extent cotton, and other raw materials. The cumulative effects of demoralising price falls of these important commodities in the process of adjustment of production to world consumption have produced financial crises in many countries and have diminished the buying power of these countries for imported goods to a degree which extended the difficulties farther afield by creating unemployment in all the industrial nations. The political agitation in Asia; revolutions in South America, and political unrest in some European states; the methods of sale by Russia of her increasing agricultural exports to European markets; and our own drought—have all contributed to prolong and deepen the depression.

"In the larger view the major forces of the depression now lie outside of the United States, and our recuperation has been retarded by the unwarranted degree of fear and apprehension created by these outside forces.

Extent of Depression.

"The extent of the depression is indicated by the following approximate percentages of activity during the last three months as compared with the highly prosperous year of 1928:

Value of department store sales	93% of 1928
Volume of manufacturing production	86% of 1928
Volume of mineral production	90% of 1928
Volume of factory employment	84% of 1928
Total of bank deposits	103% of 1928
Wholesale prices — all commodities	83% of 1928
Cost of living	94% of 1928

"Various other indexes indicate total decrease of activity from 1925 of from 15 to 20 per cent.

"There are many factors which give encouragement for the future. The fact that we are holding from 80 to 85 per cent of our normal activities and incomes; that our major financial and industrial institutions have come through the storm unimpaired; that price levels of major commodities have remained approximately stable for some time; that a number of industries are showing signs of increasing demand; that the world at large is readjusting itself to the situation; all reflect grounds for confidence. We should remember that these occasions have been met many times before, that they are but temporary, that our country is today stronger and richer in resources, in equipment, in skill, than ever in its history. We are in an extraordinary degree self-sustaining, we will overcome world influences and will lead the march of prosperity as we have always done hitherto.

No Patent Remedy.

"Economic depression cannot be cured by legislative action or executive pronouncement. Economic wounds must be healed by the action of the cells of the economic body—the producers and consumers themselves. Recovery can be expedited and its effects mitigated by cooperative action. That cooperation requires that every individual should sustain faith and courage; that each should maintain his self-reliance; that each and every one should search for methods of improving his business or service; that the vast majority whose income is unimpaired should not hoard out of fear but should pursue their normal living and recreations; that each should seek to assist his neighbors who may be less fortunate; that each industry should assist its own employés; that each community and each state should assume its full responsibilities for organization and employment and relief of distress with that sturdiness and independence which built a great nation.

Government Leading Vast Cooperative Effort at Revival.

"The best contribution of government lies in encouragement of this voluntary cooperation in the community. The government, national, state, and local, can join with the community in such programs and do its part. A year ago I, together with other officers of the government, initiated extensive cooperative measures throughout the country.

The first of these measures was an agreement of leading employers to maintain the standard of wages and of labor leaders to use their influence against strife. In a large sense these undertakings have been adhered to and we have not witnessed the usual reductions of wages which have always heretofore marked depressions. The index of union wage scales shows them to be today fully up to the level of any of the previous three years. In consequence the buying power of the country has been much larger than would otherwise have been the case. Of equal importance the nation has had unusual peace in industry and freedom from the public disorder which has characterized previous depressions.

"The second direction of cooperation has been that our governments, national, state, and local, the industries and business so distribute employment as to give work to the maximum number of employés.

"The third direction of cooperation has been to maintain and even extend construction work and betterments in anticipation of the future. It has been the universal experience in previous depressions that public works and private construction have fallen off rapidly with the general tide of depression. On this occasion, however, the increased authorization and generous appropriations by the congress and the action of states and municipalities have resulted in the expansion of public construction to an amount even above that in the most prosperous years. In addition the coöperation of public utilities, railways, and other large organizations has been generously given in construction and betterment work in anticipation of future need. The department of commerce advises me that as a result, the volume of this type of construction work, which amounted to roughly $6,300,000,000 in 1929, instead of decreasing will show a total of about $7,000,000,000 for 1930. There has, of course, been a substantial decrease in the types of construction which could not be undertaken in advance of need.

"The fourth direction of coöperation was the organization, in such states and municipalities as was deemed necessary, of committees to organize local employment, to provide for employment agencies, and to effect relief of distress.

Actual Suffering Held Down.

"The result of magnificent cooperation throughout the country has been that actual suffering has been kept to a minimum during the last 12 months, and our unemployment has been far less in proportion than in other large industrial countries. Some time ago it became evident that unemployment would continue over the winter and would necessarily be added to from seasonal causes and that the savings of workpeople would be more largely depleted. We have as a nation a definite duty to see that no deserving person in our country suffers from hunger or cold. I therefore set up a more extensive organization to stimulate more intensive coöperation throughout the country. There has been a most gratifying degree of response, from governors, mayors, and other public officials, from welfare organizations, and from employers in concerns both large and small. The local communities through their voluntary agencies have assumed the duty of relieving individual distress and are being generously supported by the public.

"The number of those wholly out of employment seeking for work was accurately determined by the census last April as about 2,500,000. The department of labor index of employment in he larger trades shows some decrease in employment since that time. The problem from a relief point of view is somewhat less than the published estimates of the number of unemployed would indicate. The intensive community and individual efforts in providing special employment outside the listed industries are not reflected in the statistical indexes and tend to reduce such published figures. Moreover, there is estimated to be a constant figure at all times of nearly 1,000,000 unemployed who are not without annual income but temporarily idle in the shift from one job to another. We have an average of about three breadwinners to each two families, so that every person unemployed does not represent a family without income. The view that the relief problems are less than the gross numbers would indicate is confirmed by the experience of several cities, which shows that the number of families in distress represents from 10 to 20 per cent of the number of the calculated unemployed. This is not said to minimize the very real problem which exists, but to weigh its actual proportions.

"As a contribution to the situation the federal government is engaged upon the greatest program of waterway, harbor, flood control, public building, highway, and airway improvement in all our history. This, together with loans to merchant shipbuilders, improvement of the navy and in military aviation, and other construction work of the government, will exceed $520,000,000 for this fiscal year. This compares with $253,000,000 in the fiscal year 1928. The construction work already authorized and the continuation of policies in government aid will require a continual expenditure upwards of half a billion dollars annually.

150 MILLION FOR IDLE

President Asks Large Appropriation for Federal Construction.

"I favor still further temporary expansion of these activities in aid to unemployment during this winter. The congress will, however, have presented to it numbers of projects, some of them under the guise of, rather than the reality of, their usefulness i., the increase of employment during the depression. There are certain common sense limitations upon any expansions of construction work. The government must not undertake works that are not of sound economic purpose and that have not been subject to searching technical investigation, and which have not been given adequate consideration by the congress. The volume of construction work in the government is already at the maximum limit warranted by financial prudence as a continuing policy. To increase taxation for purposes of construction work defeats its own purpose, as such taxes directly diminish employment in private industry. Again any kind of construction requires, after its authorization, a considerable time before labor can be employed in which to make engineering, architectural and legal preparations. Our immediate problem is the increase of employment for the next six months, and new plans which do not produce such immediate result or which extend commitments beyond this period are not warranted.

"The enlarged rivers and harbors, public building, and highway plans authorized by the congress last session, however, offer an opportunity for assistance by the temporary acceleration of construction of these programs even faster than originally planned, especially if the technical requirements of the laws, which entail great delays, could be amended in such fashion as to speed up acquirements of land and the letting of contracts.

Plans Are Prepared.

"With view, however, to the possible need for acceleration, we, immediately upon receiving those authorities from the congress five months ago, began the necessary technical work in preparation for such possible eventuality. I have canvassed the departments of the government as to the maximum amount that can be properly added to our present expenditure to accelerate all construction during the next six months, and I feel warranted in asking the congress for an appropriation of from $100,000,000 to $150,000,000 to provide such further employment in this emergency. In connection therewith we need some authority to make enlarged temporary advances of federal highway aid to the states.

"I recommend that this appropriation be made distributable to the different departments upon recommendation of a committee of the cabinet and approved by the President. Its application to works already authorized by the congress assures its use in directions of economic importance and to public welfare. Such action will imply an expenditure upon construction of all kinds of over $650,000,000 during the next twelve months.

AGRICULTURE

"The world wide depression has affected agriculture in common with all other industries. The average price of farm produce has fallen to about 80 per cent of the levels of 1928. This average is, however, greatly affected by wheat and cotton, which have participated in world wide overproduction and have fallen to about 60 per cent of the average price of the year 1928. Excluding these commodities, the prices of all other agricultural products are about 84 per cent of those of 1928. The average wholesale prices of other primary goods, such as nonferrous metals, have fallen to 76 per cent of 1928.

"The price levels of our major agricultural commodities are, in fact, higher than those in other principal producing countries, due to the combined result of the tariff and the operations of the farm board. For instance, wheat prices at Minneapolis are about 30 per cent higher than at Winnipeg, and at Chicago they are about 20 per cent higher than at Buenos Aires. Corn prices at Chicago are over twice as high as at Buenos Aires. Wool prices average more than 80 per cent higher in this country than abroad, and butter is 30 per cent higher in New York City than in Copenhagen.

"Aside from the misfortune to agriculture of the world-wide depression we have had the most severe drought. It has affected particularly the states bordering on the Potomac, Ohio, and lower Mississippi rivers, with some areas in Montana, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Texas. It has found its major expression in the shortage of pasturage and a shrinkage in the corn crop from an average of about 2,800,000,000 bushels to about 2,090,000,000 bushels.

Governors Summoned.

"On Aug. 14 I called a conference of the governors of the most acutely affected states, and as a result of its conclusions I appointed a national committee comprising the heads of the important federal agencies under the chairmanship of the secretary of agriculture. The governors in turn have appointed state committees representative of the farmers, bankers, business men and the Red Cross, and subsidiary committees have been established in most of the acutely affected counties. Railway rates were reduced on feed and live stock in and out of the drought areas, and over 50,000 cars of such products have been transported under these reduced rates. The Red Cross established a preliminary fund of $5,000,000 for distress relief purposes and established agencies for its administration in each county. Of this fund less than $500,000 has been called for up to this time as the need will appear more largely during the winter. The federal farm loan board has extended its credit facilities, and the federal farm board has given financial assistance to all affected coöperatives.

"In order that the government may meet its full obligation toward our countrymen in distress through no fault of their own, I recommend that an appropriation should be made to the department of agriculture to be loaned for the purpose of seed and feed for animals. Its application should as hitherto in such loans be limited to a gross amount to any one individual, and secured upon the crop.

"The Red Cross can relieve the cases of individual distress by the sympathetic assistance of our people.

FEDERAL FINANCES

Hints at Discontinuance of Temporary Cut in Income Tax.

"I shall submit the detailed financial position of the government with recommendations in the usual budget message. I will at this time, however, mention that the budget estimates of receipts and expenditures for the current year were formulated by the treasury and the budget bureau at a time when it was impossible to forecast the severity of the business depression and have been most seriously affected by it. At that time a surplus of about $123,000,000 was estimated for this fiscal year and tax reduction which affected the fiscal year to the extent of $75,000,000 was authorized by the congress, thus reducing the estimated surplus to about $48,000,000. Closely revised estimates now made by the treasury and the bureau of the budget of the tax, postal, and other receipts for the current fiscal year indicate a decrease of about $430,000,000 from the estimate of a year ago, of which about $75,000,000 is due to tax reduction, leaving about $355,000,000 due to the depression. Moreover, legislation enacted by congress subsequent to the submission of the budget, enlarging federal construction work to expand employment and for increase in veterans' services and other items, has increased expenditures during the current fiscal year by about $229,000,000.

Big Adverse.

"Thus the decrease of $430,000,000 in revenue and the increase of $225,000,000 in expenditure adversely change the original budget situation by about $655,000,000. This large sum is offset by the original estimated surplus a year ago of about $1.3,000,000, by the application of $185,000,000 of interest payments upon the foreign debt to current expenditures, by arrangements of the farm board through repayments, etc., in consequence of which they reduced their net cash demands upon the treasury by $100,000,000 in this period, and by about $67,000,000 economies and deferments brought about in the government, thus reducing the practical effect of the change in the situation to an estimated deficit of about $180,000,000 for the present fiscal year. I shall make suggestions for handling the present year deficit in the budget message, but I do not favor encroachment upon the statutory reduction of the public debt.

"While it will be necessary in the public interest to further increase expenditures during the current fiscal year in aid to unemployment by speeding up construction work and aid to the farmers affected by the drought, I cannot emphasize too strongly the absolute necessity to defer any other plans for increase of government expenditures. The budget for the 1932 fiscal year indicates estimated expenditure of about $4,054,000,000, including postal deficit. The receipts are estimated at about $4,085,000,000 if the temporary tax reduction of last year be discontinued, leaving a surplus of only about $30,000,000. Most rigid economy is therefore necessary to avoid increase in taxes.

National Defense.

"Our army and navy are being maintained at a high state of efficiency, under officers of high training and intelligence, supported by a devoted personnel of the rank and file. The London naval treaty has brought important economies in the conduct of the navy. The navy department will lay before the committees of the congress recommendations for a program of authorization of new construction which should be initiated in the fiscal year of 1932.

NEEDED LEGISLATION

Lays Program Before Short Session and Urges Speedy Action.

"This is the last session of the Seventy-first congress. During its previous sittings it has completed a very large amount of important legislation, notably: The establishment of the federal farm board; fixing congressional reapportionment; revision of the tariff, including the flexible provisions and a reorganization of the tariff commission; reorganization of the radio commission; reorganization of the federal power commission; expansion of federal prisons; reorganization of parole and probation system in federal prisons; expansion of veterans' hospitals; establishment of disability allowances to veterans; consolidation of veteran activities; consolidation and strengthening of prohibition enforcement activities in the department of justice; organization of a narcotics bureau; large expansion of rivers and harbors improvements; substantial increase in federal highways; enlargement of public buildings construction program, and the ratification of the London naval treaty.

"The congress has before it legislation partially completed in the last sitting in respect to Muscle Shoals, bus regulation, relief of congestion in the courts, reorganization of border patrol in prevention of smuggling, law enforcement in the District of Columbia, and other subjects.

"It is desirable that these measures should be completed.

Offers a Program.

"The short session does not permit of extensive legislative programs, but there are a number of questions which, if time does not permit action, I recommend should be placed in consideration by the congress, perhaps through committees coöperating in some instances with the federal departments, with a view to preparation for subsequent action. Among them are the following subjects:

"Electrical Power—I have in a previous message recommended effective regulation of interstate electrical power. Such regulation should preserve the independence and responsibility of the states.

"Railways—We have determined upon a national policy of consolidation of the railways as a necessity of more stable and more economically operated transportation. Further legislation is necessary to facilitate such consolidation. In the public interest we should strengthen the railways that they may meet our future needs.

"Anti-trust laws—I recommend that the congress institute an inquiry into some aspects of the economic working of these laws. I do not favor repeal of the Sherman act. The prevention of monopolies is of most vital public importance. Competition is not only the basis of protection to the consumer but is the incentive to progress. However, the interpretation of these laws by the courts, the changes in business, especially in the economic effects upon those enterprises closely related to the use of the natural resources of the country, make such an inquiry advisable. The producers of these materials assert that certain unfortunate results of wasteful and destructive use of these natural resources, together with a destructive competition which impoverishes both operator and worker, cannot be remedied because of the prohibitive interpretation of the anti-trust laws. The well known condition of the bituminous coal industry is an illustration. The people have a vital interest in the conservation of their natural resources; in the prevention of wasteful practices; in conditions of destructive competition which may impoverish the producer and the wage earner; and they have an equal interest in maintaining adequate competition. I therefore suggest that an inquiry be directed especially to the effect of the workings of the anti-trust laws in these particular fields to determine if these evils can be remedied without sacrifice of the fundamental purpose of these laws.

REDUCE CAPITAL TAX

Urges Congress Study Gains Levy with This End in View.

"Capital gains tax—It is urged by many thoughtful citizens that the peculiar economic effect of the income tax on so-called capital gains at the present rate is to enhance speculative inflation and likewise impede business recovery. I believe this to be the case and I recommend that a study be made of the economic effects of this tax and of its relation to the general structure of our income tax law.

"Immigration—There is need for revision of our immigration laws upon a more limited and more selective basis, flexible to the needs of the country.

"Under conditions of current unemployment it is obvious that persons coming to the United States seeking work would likely become either a direct or indirect public charge. As a temporary measure the officers issuing visas to immigrants have been, in pursuance of the law, instructed to refuse visas to applicants likely to fall into this class. As a result the visas issued have decreased from an average of about 24,000 per month prior to restrictions to a rate of about 7,000 during the last month. These are largely preferred persons under the law. Visas from Mexico are about 250 per month, compared with about 4,000 previous to restrictions. The whole subject requires exhaustive reconsideration.

"Deportation of alien criminals—I urge the strengthening of our deportation laws so as to more fully rid ourselves of criminal aliens. Furthermore, thousands of persons have entered the country in violation of the immigration laws. The very method of their entry indicates their objectionable character, and our law abiding foreign born residents suffer in consequence. I recommend that the congress provide methods of strengthening the government to correct this abuse.

"Postoffice—Due to deferment of government building over many years, previous administrations had been compelled to enter upon types of leases for secondary facilities in large cities, some of which were objectionable as representing too high a return upon the value of the property. To prevent the occasion for further uneconomic leasing I recommend that the congress authorize the building by the government of its own facilities.

"Veterans—The nation has generously expanded its care for veterans. The consolidation of all veterans' activities into the veterans' administration has produced substantial administrative economies. The consolidation also brings emphasis to the inequalities in service and allowances. The whole subject is under study by the administrator, and I recommend it should also be examined by the committees of the congress.

"Social service—I urge further consideration by the congress of the recommendations I made a year ago looking to the development through temporary federal aid of adequate state and local services for the health of children and the further stamping out of communicable diseases, particularly in the rural sections. The advance of scientific discovery, methods, and social thought imposes a new vision in these matters. The drain upon the federal treasury is comparatively small. The results both economic and moral are of the utmost importance.

"General—It is my belief that after the passing of this depression, when we can examine it in retrospect, we shall need to consider a number of other questions as to what action may be taken by the government to remove possible governmental influences which make for instability and to better organize mitigation of the effect of depression. It is as yet too soon to constructively formulate such measures.

There are many administrative subjects, such as departmental reorganization, extension of the civil service, readjustment of the postal rates, etc., which at some appropriate time require the attention of the congress.

FOREIGN RELATIONS

London Treaty Big Step; To Submit World Court to the Senate.

"Our relations with foreign countries have been maintained upon a high basis of cordiality and good will.

"During the last year the London naval pact was completed, approved by the senate, and ratified by the governments concerned. By this treaty we have abolished competition in the building of warships, have established the basis of parity of the United States with the strongest of foreign powers, and have accomplished a substantial reduction in war vessels.

"During the year there has been an extended political unrest in the world. Asia continues in disturbed condition, and revolutions have taken place in Brazil, Argentina, Peru, and Bolivia. Despite the jeopardy to our citizens and their property which naturally arises in such circumstances, we have, with the coöperation of the governments concerned, been able to meet all such instances without friction.

New Regimes Recognized.

"We have resumed normal relations with the new governments of Brazil, Argentina, Peru, and Bolivia immediately upon evidence that they were able to give protection to our citizens and their property, and that they recognized their international obligations.

"A commission which was supported by the congress has completed its investigation and reported upon our future policies in respect to Haiti and proved of high value in securing the acceptance of these policies. An election has been held and a new government established. We have replaced our high commissioner by a minister and have begun the gradual withdrawal of our activities, with view to complete retirement at the expiration of the present treaty in 1935.

"A number of arbitration and conciliation treaties have been completed or negotiated during the year, and will be presented for approval by the senate.

"I shall, in a special message, lay before the senate the protocols covering the statutes of the world court which have been revised to accord with the sense of previous senate reservations."

SHOWS RISING POWER OF PYGMY WARDS IN CITY

Tiniest and Largest Each Has One Vote in Council

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

The lopsidedness of Chicago's fifty wards whereby 37 per cent of the population elects 52 per cent, a majority, of the aldermen, was thrown into high relief yesterday by a compilation prepared by Frederick Rex, municipal reference librarian, for the remapping committee. The Rex figures had to do with density of population and voting strength.

The most congested ward, the figures show, is the Twenty-fourth, Ald. Jacob M. Arvey's ward. This ward is less than a square mile in area, tucked away on the west side between California and Hamlin avenues, Roosevelt road and Ogden avenue. It has 52,043 population, packed in at the density rate of 54,724 persons to the square mile.

Same Voice as Largest Ward.

It has just as much voice in the city council as the Thirty-ninth ward up on the northwest side, which has the largest population, 150,392, and the largest registered vote, 50,975, of all the wards. The Thirty-ninth covers more than nine square miles, with 16,360 persons to the square mile. Six other wards have larger area.

The Forty-first ward, on the far northwest side, second largest in population, with 126,252, and second in registered voters with 48,405, covers 16¼ square miles, with 7,613 persons to the square mile.

Another comparison: The two largest wards — Thirty-ninth and Forty-first—with a combined population of 277,144 and a registration of 89,380, have no more voice in the city council than the First and Twentieth, which have a combined population of 65,308 and a registration of 28,436.

Residential Wards Penalized.

Thus the loop ward and the "bloody Twentieth" have about four times as much voice in the council as the rapidly growing northwest side, in ratio to population.

The Rex tabulation serves to emphasize the growing disfranchisement of the residential wards along the lake shore and the regions on the rim where population has grown fastest, and the increasing power of the pocket boroughs close in along the river. The figures indicates the following characteristics:

Pocket borough wards in general have greater congestion of population than the large populated wards. In the big wards a larger percentage of the population is registered as voters and the women voters are a larger percentage of the whole inhabitants.

But There Are Exceptions.

There are interesting exceptions. The First ward, for instance, the smallest of the fifty in population, has a larger percentage of its population on the registration books than any other ward. Out of 21,517 population, it has 16,093 now enrolled on the poll books, or more than one-half.

In the Twenty-seventh ward, just across the river on the west side, another ward with a heavy "floater" population, nearly half the residents are registered. The population is 2.2 times the enrollment.

In the Thirty-fourth, a west side ward a little more than a square mile in area, the enrollment of voters is smallest in respect to population. The ward contains 58,150 people, and it has 16,426 registered voters. The population is 3.75 times the poll book enrollment.

The percentage tables show that in the vest pocket wards with congested populations largely of foreign origin, the voting strength of the women generally speaking is lowest in volume.

49th Banner Ward for Women.

The banner ward for women voters is the Forty-ninth, up at the north end on the lake shore. In this ward more women than men are registered, there being 21,131 men and 21,231 women on the books. Nearly half the population is registered, the ward having only 2¼ times as many inhabitants as it has enrolled voters. The preponderance of the women on the books has been explained by politicians in years past as due to the presence of women office workers who live in the ward.

In the Forty-ninth the population is 4½ times the size of the women's registered vote—the smallest ratio in the city. In the Thirty-first, on the west of the river between Kinzie and Division streets, the ratio is highest, 11 1-3 inhabitants for each woman registered.

The compilation shows that with Chicago's area given as 210.6 square miles, the density of population is 16,025 to the square mile. It ranges from 54,724 to the square mile in the Twenty-fourth to 3,186 to the square mile in the Tenth in the Calumet region. The city's population is 4.57 times the male enrollment of voters and 6.38 times that of the women. On totals, 37½ per cent of Chicago's population is registered as voters, after the revision of Oct. 11.

Aurora Mayor Gives Data on Jobs to Hoover Board

Mayor Charles Greene of Aurora yesterday received a telegraphic request from Col. Arthur Woods, chairman of President Hoover's unemployment committee, for figures as to the number of men employed in November by Aurora and by contractors engaged in municipal work. Mayor Greene replied that about 400 men were at work. He also suggested that President Hoover recommend immediate release of plans for the new postoffice at Aurora to relieve the situation. The project calls for an expenditure of $397,000.

RUSSIA ACCUSES AMERICAN FIRMS OF PAYING GRAFT

$25,000 a Year Rakeoff Paid for Orders.

MOSCOW, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Out from soviet jails came three witnesses tonight to confirm the extensive sabotage activities of eight engineers on trial for their lives.

The three prisoners were brought into court under a heavy guard and a Red soldier with a loosened pistol holster stood nearby as they testified. Although somewhat pale from their confinement, the prisoners appeared well fed and showed no indications of harsh treatment on the part of the secret police to induce them to testify.

Give Details of Plot.

Further details of the extensive sabotage were given by the witnesses. Peter Krasovsky, a former engineer connected with the commissariat of railways, now serving a ten year sentence for counter revolutionary activities; Vladimir Sirotsinsky, a former member of the planning commission of the supreme economic council awaiting trial for similar activities and S. Michaelenko, a minor member of the industrial party, also await ing trial.

Earlier in the day the defendants themselves had again taken the stand and told of espionage work for officers of the French general staff and of graft collected by the engineers in connection with the plot to overthrow the government.

Identify Agents by Initials.

Information on the soviet's war industries, they said, was transmitted to France through three mysterious French agents in Moscow, identified only by the initials "K," "A," and "R."

As for graft, Sergei Kuprianov, one of the defendants, said the group with which he was associated got 50,000 rubles [$25,000] in one year as a rake off from foreign concerns in the purchase of cotton machinery. In the old days, he said, the engineers never got any graft, as the higherups collected it before it trickled down that far.

Much of the graft, he said, came from American concerns, and there was a system whereby White Russians abroad got 1 per cent and the anti-soviet engineers 4 per cent.

ODDIE INTRODUCES MEASURE BARRING ALL SOVIET PRODUCTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—A bill barring the entrance of soviet products into the United States was introduced in the senate today by Senator Tasker L. Oddie [Rep., Nev.].

The Nevada senator asserted that the "dumping of soviet lumber, pulpwood, wood pulp, matches, glue, coal, manganese ore, etc., is seriously restricting employment in these industries in this country." He asserted that exclusion of all soviet goods is necessary if American industry is to be protected from the forced labor products from Russia.

The Oddie bill is in line with the fight which the Nevada senator and other members of congress have been conducting for several months against the entry of Russian goods which allegedly have been "dumped" into the United States at prices below the cost of production in this country to the detriment of American producers.

The measure was referred to the senate finance committee which is expected to conduct hearings prior to either reporting it favorably to the senate or tabling it.

PLANES BEGIN CHICAGO-N. Y. ALL-AIR SERVICE

National Air Transport's tri-motored mail and passenger planes yesterday made their first flights over the new line which, for the first time in history, provides direct all-air passenger service between Chicago and New York.

Shortly before 10 a. m. yesterday the first east bound plane took off from the Municipal airport with a load of passengers. Last night it landed at Newark, N. J., the eastern terminus of the line, after scheduled stops at Cleveland and Toledo. The westbound plane arrived here last night at 7:30. The start of the new service was originally planned for Monday, but was postponed a day because of snowstorms over the Pennsylvania mountains.

The N. A. T. service provides a daily eight hour flight from both Chicago and New York, carrying passengers and mail in the same plane. The new line completes the last link in the all-air passenger service of the northern transcontinental route. Travelers may now make the entire trip from New York to San Francisco by air in approximately 30 hours. The western end of the line is operated by Boeing Air Transport.

FRENCH PLAN BIG DRIVE IN AFRICA TO NIP HOLY WAR

Moslems Fight Move to Christianize Them.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 2.—Pierre Renaudel, Socialist leader and reporter for the chamber's army committee, startled the chamber of deputies today when he disclosed that a Moslem holy war is on the point of breaking out in north Africa.

While the deputies gasped their surprise and alarm and the government supporters made vain efforts to hush him up, the Socialist revealed that hitherto unknown disorders are threatening France's vast African empire, and indicated that he had information that the army was planning immediate operations against the tribesmen on the biggest scale since the Riff war.

Throws Chamber Into Uproar.

The question of Africa came up during the debate on military credits, when War Minister Maginot asked the chamber to ratify $24,000,000 additional credits which were put through by decree as an emergency measure during the vacation, and which are intended to replenish war materials depleted by the Riffian and Syrian campaigns. M. Renaudel rose up while M. Maginot was speaking and announced that the Socialists would not vote for the credits.

"We are willing to vote credits to protect the French frontiers," he cried, "but we are afraid that this $24,000,000 worth of materials will go the same way as the stocks which they are intended to replace—in wars against tribesmen."

In the ensuing uproar, the Socialist leader went on to amplify his cryptic remark, saying that the various Catholic congresses held in north Africa on the occasion of the centenary of the conquest of Algeria, including the Eucharistic congress at Carthage, had alarmed the natives, who feared that a move was on foot to forcibly Christianize the country.

Quotes Confidential Reports.

On the basis of confidential reports to the army committee, to which, as reporter, he had access, M. Renaudel said that he knew serious disorders had broken out in Morocco this last summer preceding President Doumergue's visit and that the army had been hard put to quell the rebellion.

At this point several army officers pleaded with M. Renaudel not to reveal army secrets in a public session, but he went on after it was agreed that the bulk of his address would be omitted from the stenographic report of the meeting.

In order to make Morocco safe for President Doumergue, M. Renaudel declared, cleanup expeditions, unknown to the press, were carried on for several weeks. A number of skirmishes were fought, he said. But the work was carried on principally by aerial bombardments of native villages. President Doumergue's visit quieted the tribesmen for a while, he said, but trouble is threatening again and the army is contemplating a big drive against the unsubdued tribesmen in an effort to nip a holy war in the bud.

OLD TIME BARTENDER HANGS SELF; FAREWELL NOTE IS DRINKING SONG

"Then stand by your glasses steady
And drink to your comrades' eyes.
Quaff a cup to the dead already—

Governor Is Confident This Man Stuck to Job

Richmond, Va., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Gov. J. G. Pollard of Virginia received a letter asking for references for a job hunter who named Mr. Pollard as his last employer.

"I replied," the governor said, "that the man had not missed a day's work in two years."

LUMBER DEALERS OFFER CREDIT TO HOME BUILDERS

Lumber dealers in convention yesterday at the Congress hotel announced a plan of building homes on a 15 year monthly payment system. The plan was outlined by Arthur A. Hood of the Associated Leaders of Lumber and Fuel Dealers of America.

Arrangements have been made, he said, whereby all retail lumber dealers who belong to that organization may authorize credit of 75 per cent of the cost to build homes, the financing to be done by a Chicago company. Such a volume of business is expected that the financing bank will have to have at least $120,000,000 security, the speaker said. The lumber dealer is to guarantee the house in every detail. Mr. Hood stated, and it is hoped to stimulate the sale of lumber and create employment and make easy the acquiring of a home through small monthly payments.

The six captains, who had been on the "Siberia detail" in an old police building in North Halsted street, went to work yesterday on the assignments given to them Monday by Acting Police Commissioner Alcock. The captains are Richard Gill, John Stege, Charles L. Larkin, Alfred C. Christensen, John P. Ryan, and William Kennedy.

On taking command at the Cragin station, Capt. Stege went over all the complaints received there in the last three months. Then he closed several places disguised as cigar stores, in which he saw persons whom he recognized as gamblers. After that he visited all the soft drink parlors in the district to see that they are being run lawfully.

During Capt. Gill's first day on the job as Chicago avenue commander his police seized $17,000 worth of wines and whiskies in the A. R. Thompson warehouse at 312 East Illinois street. Sergt. Kratzmeyer commanded the raiding squad which arrested two men who were loading booze disguised as stationery on trucks. The owners of the warehouse said they had leased the space to the "C. E. Stationers Manufacturing company."

HOOVER AGREES TO MODERNIZE 2 OF 3 WARSHIPS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Expenditure of funds for the conversion of two second class battleships into first line fighting ships was approved by President Hoover today. The President declined, however, to approve the modernization of a third American battleship now outclassed in fighting strength by British and Japanese capital ships.

A bill authorizing the modernization of three battleships—the Mississippi Idaho and New Mexico—was approved by the house last session. The alterations include elevation of the turret guns to increase their range to 35,000 yards.

Although the White House approved the idea of modernizing three battleships when the bill was before the house, President Hoover recently reopened the whole subject and there were rumors that the modernization program which is opposed by pacifist groups was to be abandoned.

Agree to Modernize Two.

The President finally agreed to approve the expenditure of funds for two ships after several members of the house naval committee including Chairman Fred A. Britten [Rep., Ill.], and George P. Darrow [Rep., Pa.] had strongly urged administration approval of the modernization program.

Senator Frederick Hale [Rep., Me.] of the senate naval committee said today that every effort will be made to push a bill authorizing the ship modernization program through the senate within the next few days. Unless modernization funds can be provided early in the new year more than 2,000 men now engaged in alterations on two reconstructed battleships will have to be laid off.

No Action on General Program.

Although President Hoover approved a part of the navy's modernization program, he failed today to act on the navy's recommendations for authorizing a building program. The President, in his message to congress urged congressional approval of an authorization bill which the navy will introduce and the appropriation of funds to begin construction work on these ships in the 1932 fiscal year. The President made no mention, however, of whether he would approve building up to the tonnage limits of the London treaty.

The present program, as now understood by senate and house naval men, is for the administration to postpone action of a general London treaty naval program until the convening of the Seventy-second congress, a year hence.

Consolidation of the war and navy departments into a new department of national defense is the object of a bill introduced in the house today by Representative William Williamson [Rep., S. D.].

The convention will officially open tomorrow. About 1,200 delegates are expected to be present. The exhibition is open to the public.

Powers Finish Disarm Debate; Lay Plans for League Parley

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Dec. 2.—The league of nations' preparatory disarmament commission tonight completed the debate on the amendments to the twice read draft of the proposed convention for worldwide limitation of arms. Now all is fixed for a full dress international disarmament conference. It remains for the league council to set the date.

A long and spirited debate was provoked by Count von Bernstorff of Germany, who proposed a resolution that the council should fix the date for Nov. 5, 1931. He declared that public opinion demanded haste.

"Ten months," he said, "is enough time in which to prepare for this conference. If ten months is not enough then ten years will not be enough."

Lord Cecil Gets Peevish.

"I cannot permit Count von Bernstorff's assertion to pass. This is not the first time he has tried to occupy the position of being the only one here really in favor of disarmament. I am utterly unable to square this claim with his conduct here."

Count von Bernstorff rapped back. "I don't see why my proposal should be treated with so much heat. I mentioned public opinion because if public opinion were not demanding disarmament the governments would not either."

Count von Bernstorff's resolution was rejected by a vote of 14 to 4. The United States abstained from voting. It is not believed the conference will be called before 1932.

U. S. Balks on Airplane Figures.

American Ambassador Hugh Gibson declined today to commit his government to submit statistics and figures on privately owned and commercial airplanes in the United States for the purpose of including them in potential military forces.

He also retained the right for the police to use tear gas against gangsters during the discussion on chemical warfare, during which it was proposed to prohibit all gasses.

The big naval powers' maneuver in sliding the London and Washington treaty decisions into the present convention as a scale for application by other countries nearly slipped up when Gen. De Marinis of Italy said:

"We see no difficulty in according complete freedom for transfers from submarines to destroyers and light cruisers, but oppose any transfer of tonnage in the opposite direction."

Sweden and Spain refused to accept this and insisted that navies under 100,000 tons were entitled to transfer in any direction. Rene Massigli of France smoothed the matter over when he promised that at the general conference the little navy powers would be suitably placated.

Vote to Recall German Envoys.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 2.—The reichstag's committee on foreign relations today accepted a Fascist motion demanding that Germany recall its representatives from the Geneva preparatory disarmament conference because "most of the participants do not intend to fulfill their pledge to disarm." Government circles say that since the conference is almost over, Foreign Minister Curtius does not want to complicate its business by the withdrawal of the German delegation, and therefore will temporarily shelve the decision of the committee.

DEVINE IS SUED BY SALVORS FOR ROTARIAN JOB

Attorney Miles J. Devine, president of the Cook County Democracy club and owner of the boat Rotarian, which recently sank in the river at the Clark street bridge, was made defendant in a suit for $2,964.69 filed in the federal court yesterday on behalf of Blair & Martin, salvors, 19 East Congress street.

The complaint charges that Devine hired the salvors on Oct. 20 to start an investigation with a view of raising the boat and ascertaining the cause of its sinking. An initial payment of $500 was made, leaving $2,964.69 unpaid, it is alleged. Work was stopped on Nov. 11 when further payments were not forthcoming, the complaint states.

Attorney Devine said he hired the plaintiffs and asked them to inspect the sea cocks. He said he figured the salvors owed him some refund of the $500. The ancient craft, which had been tied up in the river without a city license, was used as a fish house by Walter J. Powers.

$1,250,000 NOW RAISED IN DRIVE TO AID JOBLESS

Women Report Progress in Clothing Campaign.

Gov. Emmerson's relief commission had gathered $1,250,000 last night in the drive to raise $5,000,000 to tide the jobless and poor over the cold season. This mark was reached with the aid of a $100,000 subscription by the Illinois Bell Telephone company and its employés to the public utilities division of the fund committee.

This enabled the division to meet its quota of $750,000 and go over with $20,000 to spare. For this it was praised by Chairman Philip R. Clarke and he gave additional thanks for other large subscriptions, including $61,900 from the First National bank, a corporate subscription of $50,000 from the International Harvester company, and $25,000 from the Foreman-State National bank.

Still a Long Way to Go.

"While progress is not being shown very clearly in some directions, we feel that the machinery is operating satisfactorily now for the first time since the campaign got under way," said Mr. Clarke. "Our total should roll up rapidly now, but there is still an enormous gap between where we are and where we hope to be—the $5,000,000 goal."

The group of women cooperating with Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, chairman of the women's division of the commission, continued their drive for clothes for the poor yesterday, reporting progress in the sale of special new clothes available at loop department stores. Society and Junior league girls are tending the counters where the material is on display and it was announced last night that $5,000 worth of new clothes had been sold in the first two days of the week's drive.

West Suburban Headquarters.

West suburban headquarters for the clothes campaign were established in the Oak Park village hall yesterday under the supervision of Mrs. Louis E. Yager. Her workers began collecting clothing from as far west as Joliet and Elgin, which will be sent to the loop warehouse of the commission and then distributed to the charity agencies after it has been cleaned and mended. The charities will distribute it to the needy.

Evanston opened its eleven day drive for $50,000 to relieve unemployment yesterday and was benefited by the total collections taken during the day on street cars and buses.

GOOD FELLOWS RALLY TO CALL OF CHRISTMAS

Baskets of Toys and Food Pledged to Poor.

Good Fellows responded yesterday to the call to play Santa Claus to the children of the poor this year, as they have done since 1909, as well as continue the new work of helping families through the temporary employment emergency.

"I've been a Good Fellow every Christmas eve since 1920 and I was afraid that your new family rehabilitation service was going to spoil my holiday this year," wrote a Hyde Park woman.

"My husband and I have adopted a family of seven, including five small children, until the father is able to find work, and we're enjoying this charity, but there's no pleasure that can take the place of carrying baskets of toys and good things to eat into the homes of poor children on Christmas eve. Please send me the names of five families with children whose stockings we can fill on Christmas eve."

The Names Will Be Mailed.

The names will be mailed to her from the Good Fellow headquarters in The Tribune offices at Dearborn and Madison streets. No one else will be given these names. She will be the only Santa Claus to visit these five homes.

"Enclosed is my check for $25 for your Good Fellow fund," read a letter from an Evanston man. "You can apply the money against the budget for necessities for one of the families you have adopted, or you can use the money to buy Christmas baskets of toys and so forth for children of the poor. I'll be in Indiana with my grandchildren on Christmas week, so I can't follow your suggestion that I deliver baskets personally."

The money will go into the fund to provide food, shelter, heat, and clothes for some family that would be without these necessities were it not for the Good Fellows. No money is being solicited for the Christmas basket distribution. The Santa Claus job is a personal service. You get the names of families and then it's up to you.

The Tribune Employés.

"What are The Tribune employés doing for charity?" asked a letter of a different tone. "I've read that The Tribune company is paying all costs of administrating the Good Fellow fund, but what about Tribune employés? You're encouraging fellow employés in other offices to adopt some needy family, but I haven't read a line saying your own employés are doing anything."

There hasn't been anything published heretofore about the donations of Tribune employés. Since it's requested, here it is—they are contributing $3,895 a month to cover the budgets of thirty-three large families through the winter. The donations were made without solicitations, written, spoken, or implied, from this newspaper's executives.

Irene McLaughlin Takes 2 Dog Owners to Court

Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin of Lake Forest yesterday obtained custody of two dogs for her "Orphans of the Storm" refuge at Deerfield when she haled their owners before Police Magistrate Fred Smith at Libertyville on warrants charging cruelty to animals. The defendants were William Rich, 40 years old, and Mrs. Charles Pawranos, 44 years old, both of Rondout. The warrants charged the dogs had been compelled to sleep outside the defendants' homes and appeared underfed.

Chicagoan Arrested for Theft from Postal Station

Djalmar Weyant, a Chicago house painter, was arrested in St. Louis yesterday by police and postal inspectors. He had a revolver and 115 money order blanks in his possession, according to dispatches. He was said to have confessed stealing the money order blanks in a drug store postal station at 3900 Sheridan road last Wednesday.

Gassy Stomach Pain Ends Quick

"I suffered for months from indigestion and gas on the stomach," says C. Bedford of Detroit, Mich. "I got relief from the very start by taking ACIDINE. I could not eat without being troubled with gas, pain and dizziness. Since taking ACIDINE each day, I feel entirely better and have had no pains, at all."

Almost everyone who takes ACIDINE raves about it. More than two million packages have been sold. It's absolutely amazing the way this new prescription succeeds when other known remedies fail.

ACIDINE is the only known remedy which contains Japtase, that in laboratory tests, digests 800 times its weight of certain heavy, starchy foods which cause trouble. It neutralizes burning acids, soothes irritated stomach linings, stops gassy headaches, sleeplessness and nervousness. No other known remedy contains this combination to end acid stomach. ACIDINE also fortifies you against colds by reducing acidity.

Get ACIDINE today at Walgreen's. Watch how quick acid indigestion, burning stomach, belching, pain, heartburn, dizziness, fullness, short breath vanish. Eat, drink all you want. Maker refunds money if not delighted.

MORE SKILLED WORKERS MAKE PLEAS FOR JOBS

Sally Hunting Work for Varied Types.

More and more skilled laborers and members of the white collar office worker class are applying to Sally Joy Brown of The Tribune for help in finding jobs. These applicants, who never have applied to charities for aid, and who are fighting to remain self-supporting, present one of the most serious of the unemployment problems, Sally Joy Brown said.

Miss Brown is turning over jobs offered through The Tribune to the Illinois Free Employment service, 116 North Dearborn street.

Plumbers, mechanics, carpenters, stenographers, men and women office clerks, and salespeople were numerous among yesterday's applicants. All of them were referred to the employment service.

Writes Plea for Work.

A letter received by Sally Joy Brown from H. W. on the stationery of a department store restroom read in part as follows:

"I am writing in behalf of my husband, who has been unemployed for several months. He could do work at home if he had a typewriter. If one of your readers has one to offer I would appreciate it very much."

F. D., who said he had done restaurant work, began his letter:

"I am writing to you for help. Am 19 years old, strong, and willing to do any kind of work. My only trouble is that I'm lame, due to a severe illness when I was a youngster. I have tried everywhere for work."

At the conclusion of his letter he added a postscript: "I am a high school graduate, also."

Miss C. D. V., 20 years old, wrote that she lost her job as clerk in a bakery several months ago when the bakery lost business. She was the sole support of her family, as a younger brother also was out of work. Her mother is 66 years old, she said. She would like to get work as check girl or a salesgirl, she said, but is "willing to do anything."

Asks "Any Kind of Job."

O. A. T., father of two boys in school, aged 7 and 11, wrote that he had registered among the unemployed at the Ogden school. His children are underfed and his wife is ill, he said. He continued:

THE MESSAGE.

While all expressions of official optimism are subject to discount in the minds of the cynical and the depressed, the President's survey of the economic situation probably will have the assent of disinterested opinion. His estimate of the number of unemployed will seem to incline to underestimate, but conclusive statistics are not available and opinions vary greatly according to the mental state or private circumstances of the estimator. It is to be hoped better means of gauging accurately the extent of unemployment will be developed and put into permanent operation. Reliable and comprehensive information upon unemployment is useful not only in periods of extreme depression but also in normal times. Technological unemployment—that is, the unemployment which is created by the introduction of machinery which throws men and women out of work temporarily—presents an important problem of economic and social adjustment, and generally the causes and character and the extent of unemployment deserve serious study and relief at all times.

Meanwhile, we think, the President's confidence in the fundamental factors of our recovery is justified, whatever the individual opinion of the rate of that recovery may be. The fundamentals of American prosperity remain what they were at the high tide of 1929, and it is only because they are ignored or undervalued that there exists that "unwarranted degree of fear and apprehension" which the President rightly deprecates. It is true he ascribes them rather to conditions which lie outside the United States, but, while these conditions—disturbances, instability, and depression in other countries—must be considered in any candid consideration of our own prospects, and to that extent affect the confidence essential to our recuperation, we ought not to exaggerate their importance to us or their gravity. As the President points out, the fundamental strength of the nation's life is unimpaired, and this fact is enough in itself to justify confidence and courage. As THE TRIBUNE has pointed out repeatedly, it is those who clearly see this and act with energy and resourcefulness upon its assurance that will reap the richest reward in the coming period of restoration. It was the greatest financier of his day, the late J. P. Morgan, who said that no man could afford to sell the United States short, and the saying should be taken to heart by a good many Americans who will be wondering before very long why they didn't recall it sooner.

The President's request for a special fund for construction, to be carefully safeguarded and directed to permanently useful public work, probably will be granted by congress, as it certainly will have general public support. It cannot bring immediate relief, as he explains, but it will assist in the gradual process of recovery. In the meantime, existing agencies, both public and private and in all parts of the country, are at work with unprecedented energy to mitigate existing conditions. It would be a very gratifying result of our present adversity if out of all these activities were developed a permanent machinery for more promptly dealing with the conditions which business recessions produce.

MR. WRIGLEY'S CLOCK.

At twelve-thirty Mr. Wrigley's clock said it was twenty-five of five, and there may have been any number of people who wished that were so, if it were 4:35 p. m., but it wasn't. Many people are forever wishing it were later than it is until it is too late. The impatience of most folk in the matter of time, so sparingly allotted to each individual, does not square with the universal reluctance to come to the end of it. Mr. Wrigley's clock, when most whimsical, is not so vagarious as that.

There are three things that no citizen is obliged to do. One of them is running opera. Mr. Wrigley does the other two—operating a public clock and a professional ball team. This is an ambition for punishment, notably unselfish. Other men have run civic clocks and other men have run ball teams, but few other men have tried to keep both going. With opera the people can take it or leave it. They seldom feel like throwing a tener at the head of the guarantors' list or heaving a contralto at the promoter. The eminent citizen who may be led off in chains by his wife thinks that somehow or other he is himself to blame. He doesn't hold it against Mr. Insull. Although nothing compels a citizen to produce opera, there are no penalties for doing so. That is only half true for the citizen who undertakes to run a public clock and a ball team. There's no compulsion, but there are penalties.

Mr. Wrigley is as good as any man could be at clocks and ball teams, but no man alive can certainly get two runs when he needs them or make a clock invariably say six when it should, but when it wants to say a quarter after three. The citizenship which gets the clock for nothing and the ball team at very moderate cost dispenses with all feeling of obligation the moment either clock or team goes wrong. Both must keep on clicking just right or the patron who offers them is an enemy of the people.

Meanwhile Mr. Wrigley's clock says it's ten minutes to seven, without revealing whether it's evening or morning. If it promotes an intelligent skepticism it may be all for the best.

P. S.—It's half-past two.

THE SENATE AND THE RIGHTS OF THE PEOPLE.

The senate vote on the resolution against seating the senator elect from Pennsylvania is welcome evidence that that august body has begun to realize the gravity of its recent departures from fundamental principles of our constitutional system. That the senate is authorized to overrule the deliberate choice of representative expressed by a sovereign state is a doctrine that is not only revolutionary but contrary to the repeatedly expressed will of the people. That it should be imposed upon the nation by a small group of senators who have shown no regard for constitutional principles, but, on the contrary, at least in conspicuous instances, are known to be persistently hostile to the American political and social order, would be an astonishing defeat of representative government and an alarming revelation of conditions in the United States senate.

The American people do not propose to be robbed of their right of representation and the senate has done well to show that it no longer consents to be an accomplice in that crime. But it should not stop at this point. The whole proceedings of the Nye committee should be investigated and its insolent invasions of private right, its usurpation of power and its unjustifiable theory of senatorial authority should be explicitly and emphatically repudiated.

THE EXILED RUSSIAN HOPES.

The Russian nobility exiled in Paris made a Sunday of it, as related by Edmond Taylor of THE TRIBUNE news service, in paying homage to the Grand Duke Cyril and his wife, the Grand Duchess Victoria. Cyril, to the exiles, is the czar. The family had come from Brittany for a day in Paris and the noblesse, hearing of it, left their taxicabs idle for the day, came out of the kitchens and the porters' coops, and reassembled in the graveyard mists of the old court to kiss the hand. While there is life the expatriates, earning their sustenance at anything they can find to do in France, must have hope.

Europe in its dynastic experiences is not unacquainted with the story of exiled loyalists. Prince Charlie has been often over the water, and not often as content as the ex-kaiser seems to be sawing wood in Holland. The older probability was that there would be a return of the legitimists. The newer probability casts doubt on that. To the special court which ordered off the head of Charles I. it may have seemed incredible that the Stuarts would ever get back. Presbyterian and Nonconformist dissensions brought them back inevitably and their incurable tendency to impolitic acts threw them out for duration. The French revolutionists seemed to have done with the Bourbons definitely and finally, but they survived Robespierre and Napoleon and came back riding the cannon of the enemies of their country. They also were incurables and now continue as exotic phenomena in exile with a fantastic support in the zealot wing of French politics.

The modern instances are not so good for the return of any monarchical family which has been dislodged by internal explosion or by foreign pressure, although Europe has a natural addiction to the crown formula. Sturdy as republican Germany has appeared with the storm of communism on the left and that of Fascism on the right, it would not be astonishing if it turned to a form of constitutional monarchy modeled after the British. American instincts are so genuinely republican that they cannot really understand the hold of the monarchy upon the British people, but the attachment is there and apparently durable.

If monarchy has such a firm establishment in the institutions of so pretentiously democratic a people as the British its sentimental value for peoples of the continent, not at all pretentiously democratic, can be understood. Russian royalty and nobility are within live memory as wholly indifferent to all considerations of the average human good. The autocracy which dispatched this aristocracy to eternity or exile has imitated royalist conduct in inhumanity, but it is possible that the dull masses believe that the light of deliverance is on beyond. They never had the privilege of such a hope in the czaristic system.

Editorial of the Day

RACKETEERING.

[New York Times.]

From the earliest times there have been men and potentates and gangs who levied tribute upon peaceful industry. Caravans passing through regions of Africa or Asia had to pay tolls to lurking bandits. In later years the Barbary pirates were famous racketeers. The derivation of the word tariff from Tarifa recalls the fact that merchants had to purchase immunity for their sea borne commerce from the gangsters located on that tip of Spain. Thus there is a good precedent for regarding the protective tariff today, as many are inclined to do, as a kind of racketeering levy on honest business. The modern way, however, is to do this through legal and governmental measures rather than by the concealed and sinister activities of what Mr. Coolidge calls a "supergovernment undertaking to grant privileges and immunities, usually for a payment of money, under threat of penalties to be suffered if the demands are refused."

This is the aspect of the mischief today which makes it appear so loathsome and intolerable. It is a kind of underworld but powerful tyranny to which many otherwise proud and liberty loving Americans feel that they are forced to submit. Partly they do it, no doubt, from the gain which they think will accrue to them through protection from interference with their business and from dangerous competition. But they are also moved in many cases, it is certain, by dread of vengeance which will be executed upon them if they decline to yield to the solicitations or commands of the gangster. This is the insufferable part of the whole business. By means of an organization wholly unknown to the law, except as it is manifestly criminal, and by methods abhorrent to every instinct of justice, men are banded together to exact and enforce tribute from occupations and industries which ought to be allowed to go their own way in peace.

How to Keep Well By Dr. W. A. Evans

COMBATING T. B.

THE best opinion now is that there is little danger that a consumptive will infect his associates unless he is coughing and expectorating tubercle bacilli. During the world war the army surgeons followed the plan of diagnosing consumption on the results of examining the chest and the shadows on X-ray pictures. A soldier, having been diagnosed as having tuberculosis, was sent to a hospital or invalided home, partly to protect his comrades against infection and partly to save him from a breakdown.

It is the opinion now that such soldiers did not endanger their comrades unless their sputum contained tubercle bacilli. In all probability, nearly all of the soldiers invalided for tuberculosis had had the disease, although Dr. Thayer thought that in many the diagnosis went somewhat further than the facts justified. When the stethoscope and the X-ray plate indicated the presence of tuberculosis it is altogether probable that there had been infection. The fault lay in this.

The examination did not always prove that the infection was active. Some cases of old, healed tuberculosis were included in the group. So far as the invalided men were concerned it was just as well that they were spared the strenuosity of army life. But, so far as endangering their comrades was concerned, the possibility is out of the picture, according to present day opinion.

For practical purposes quarantine and isolation measures can begin to operate when bacilli are found in the sputum and consumptives, prior to that time, can associate with other people without endangering them. Diagnosis by sputum examination is proper, so far as community protection is concerned. Other means of diagnosis are valuable from the standpoint of the individual. There is some possibility that tubercle bacilli in pus from a cold abscess may spread the disease. But that danger is remote and is of no practical importance. Ordinary care of such discharges, including protection against flies, meets all practical needs.

The tendency of the times is towards greater protection of children from association with active tuberculosis, and greater protection against infected foods, but greater freedom in other directions.

PAROTID GLAND.

Mrs. C. W. McC. writes: My boy, 7 years old, gets a swelling on his neck just under the ear and when at its worst the swelling is also in his cheek. He runs a temperature and it is very painful, though it does not interfere with his swallowing. When he was three his tonsils were removed. He usually has these spells of swelling three times a year, but never in summer. The last doctor we had called it mumps. That was last spring, but he had it again just recently. It lasts from four days to a week and then gets better. However, the swelling doesn't go completely away for a month or six weeks. What is this and is there anything that can be done to prevent it? He is in perfect health otherwise.

REPLY.

The location is that of the parotid gland. I can understand why the doctor called it mumps, but with your experience you are a better diagnostician than he. Why this child should have repeated swelling of the parotid I do not know. Can no cause be found?

BABY CONSUMPTION.

Mrs. J. E. C. writes:

1. I would like to know if my daughter, who was born with baby consumption, has outgrown it. She is 18 years old now.

2. Is there a place where I could have her examined free of charge, as I am very poor?

REPLY.

1. Probably she has, but she is at the age where resistance is low for the second time.

2. Your health department will examine her or tell you where it can be done.

PAYING OPERATION COSTS.

Chicago, Nov. 26.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I intend to put in an automatic electric pump to supplant the present water pump in a building consisting of store and flat which I lease to a tenant. Have I the right to compel the tenant to pay the cost of operating the electric pump, or is it up to me to have a meter put in for the pump and pay the cost of operation?

O. J. S.

You are not entitled to increase the tenant's obligation during his tenancy, but at the time of signing a new lease you could make it a term of such lease that the tenant was to pay for the current for the pump. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

SCHOOL CLERKS.

Chicago, Nov. 28.—[Friend of the People.]—How many school clerks are employed and what number was called last? Are all of the clerks who passed the examination last year to be called for a position and how are they placing them? I passed the examination, but have not been called as yet. Understand they are not calling by numbers in routine, but just pulling them here and there from the list. Will every one of the nine hundred be called before the list is up and will they keep them on the list until placed? J. B. S.

Approximately 515 school clerks were certified from the list to fill all vacancies. In making requisition the civil service law gives the department head the right to specify sex required. In view of this the men and women appearing on the list are separated and when request is made for a number of men or women, certification is then made from the desired list strictly according to average. Our records show the above name appears No. 4 on the male list. When this number of men are requested by the board of education he will be certified. Unable to advise how many persons will be certified from this list before it is canceled.

JAMES S. OSBORNE,
Secretary, Civil Service Commission.

MARRIAGE AFTER DIVORCE.

Chicago, Nov. 26.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Can a divorced person remarry while the lawyer is holding the decree? The judge granted the divorce, but the lawyer is holding the decree until the full amount of his fee is paid. Must the person wait to marry until the divorce fees are paid and the decree is in his possession? I. P.

If a written decree has been signed by the judge, then remarriage is permissible. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

ANYHOW, IT'S A GRAND IDEA.

"It would be well," writes Irwig somewhat snootily, "if THE TRIBUNE would present all of its employés with Bibles at Christmas so that you would not again attribute St. Paul's, 'Use a little wine for thy stomach's sake' to Timothy." All right, all right. "Use a little wine for thy stomach's sake" (1 Timothy, 5, 23) was said to Timothy and not by him. And what St. Paul said was, "Drink no longer water, but use a little wine for thy stomach's sake and thine often infirmities." Well, well. "Drink no longer water, but use a little wine for thy stomach's sake and thine often infirmities." Said St. Paul. To Timothy. In 1 Timothy, 5, 23. We've got a Bible, but, Irwig, why don't you send a lot of Bibles to the drys? And mark 1 Timothy, 5, 23: "Drink no longer water but use a little wine for thy stomach's sake and thine often infirmities." (Compare 1 Timothy, 5, 23 with Amendment 18, American Constitution; Volstead—Laws of Enforcement, ½, 1; and Jones' Act, 5, 10.)

FLAME SONG FOR BRIZ.

We were the children of laughter
When flames were high, when wine
Was poured into crystal goblets
To reflect the fire-shine.

We held the ends of the silver cord
That's woven through desire,
The while the dancing shadows
Played their games before the fire.

When only the glowing embers remained,
And the copper kettle shone red,
We were like story-time children
Who drowsily stumble to bed.

When softly the dawn in purple shoes
Comes mincing through wine-heavy space,
There's only the copper kettle that knows
That we kissed by the fireplace!

PUTTING the presidential message on the radio just before noon maybe is a better way of getting it to the people than by printing it in the newspapers. It's easier to take that way, and by putting it on at noon the one hundred and ten per cents can't tune out and get Amos 'n' Andy or a good jazz band. If they try tuning out at that time all they would catch would be, "Take six eggs for this recipe, pluck the feathers off them, and peel them thoroughly, etc., etc." Ah, anything but that.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 3, 1914.

BERLIN.—With only one dissenting vote, that of Herr Liebknecht, Socialist, the reichstag voted a new war credit of one billion two hundred and fifty million dollars.

OTHER WAR NEWS.—The Germans turned on the Russians in Poland, checked their advance, and resumed their offensive on a new front. They claim to have taken 80,000 unwounded prisoners in the recent maneuvers. Belgrade, the capital of Servia, was occupied by the Austrians after the Servian army had evacuated the city. The allies are ready to take the offensive on the west front in Flanders and France. There is every indication that another big battle is imminent.

CHICAGO.—The city of Chicago was the host at a big "coming out" party, and 7,000 of the city's people danced with the host. It was the city's first municipal ball, and the leg shaking was just as it used to be when father was a boy. Mayor and Mrs. Harrison led the grand march and women whose names appear in social registers rubbed shoulders with shopgirls.

LONDON.—Gen. Christian De Wet, famous general of the Boer war, has been captured, a Pretoria dispatch says. At the outbreak of the present war he offered a corps of South African scouts to Lord Kitchener. Later, however, he protested against the action of the Union of South Africa in fighting the Germans and took the field against the British.

DECEMBER 3, 1900.

BERLIN.—Paul Kruger, president of the Transvaal, was given a most pointed intimation that his presence in Berlin was not desired and his plans have been suddenly changed. Count Tschirky Boegendorf, German minister to Luxemburg, was sent to Cologne to convey to Mr. Kruger the regret of Emperor William that his plans will not permit his majesty to receive him at this time. It is reported that because of the anti-British demonstration at Liege Mr. Kruger has been requested to avoid Belgian territory on his journey to Holland.

CHICAGO.—The Most Rev. Patrick A. Feehan, archbishop of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Chicago since Sept. 10, 1880, will retire from the active management of his office at the close of the present year. Early in January a coadjutor bishop, with the right of succession, will be consecrated and will relieve the incumbent of the burden of his ecclesiastical duties. It is accepted as true that the Rev. Father P. J. Muldoon is the priest upon whom the new honor will be bestowed Archbishop Feehan is 71 years old.

MEXICO CITY.—The festivities connected with the sixth inauguration of President Diaz as president of the republic of Mexico terminated in a grand ball which was unparalleled in the history of the country for its splendor.

DECEMBER 3, 1880.

NEW YORK.—The John Wycliffe semi-millennial celebration by the American Bible society was held at the Academy of Music, the Hon Joshua L. Chamberlain, ex-governor of Maine and president of Bowdoin college, presiding. Among prominent men on the platform were President McCosh of Princeton college; President D. C. Gilman, Johns Hopkins college, Baltimore; Father Gavazzi; Bishop Hurst; the Rev. Dr. Erskine White; the Rev. Dr. Henry L. Field, and the Rev. E. P. Thwing. The chairman spoke on "John Wycliffe and the First English Bible."

CHICAGO.—The alarm of fire from box 133 at 8:50 o'clock yesterday evening was false.

PARIS.—Laisant has challenged Vicomte St. Vincente to a duel for printing a letter accusing Laisant of cowardice during the Franco-Prussian war, which was read by Gen. De Cissey's counsel during the recent libel suit.

CHICAGO.—Five of the ten "shut-off men" in the city water department have been discharged, there being nothing for them to do, the election being over.

THE TAXPAYER BLINDFOLDED.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—A high priced printer, an economical county board, and a prompt board of review have euchered the taxpayers out of their legal right to compare neighborhood valuations. The county board rejects the printer's bid and there is not time for new bids, hence no tax lists, and the board of review will not allow a taxpayer to learn even his own valuation without presenting his 1928 tax receipt.

Of course, the printer, the county board, and the board of review are not in collusion at all, but their combined action blindfolds the taxpayers, denies them the right to compare their valuations with others, and forces them to sign on the dotted line.

The tax lists are a legal part of our tax system. They should be published and distributed according to law or the board of review should not convene and the taxes should not be collected.

THE TAX LISTS.

River Forest, Ill., Dec. 1.—As a taxpayer I would like to know why the county board refuses to publish the tax lists. So far we have heard nothing but alibis from Mr. Cermak, who, by the way, claims he is saving money for us by waiting since July for the lowest bid. Perhaps if he waits long enough we can get them printed free. In the meantime the taxpayers want the list published so they can compare their taxes with those of their neighbors. It appears some of the officials want to delay the publishing as long as possible.

DEAD BIRDS IN THE SKOKIE.

Evanston, Ill., Nov. 11.—Glen Buck reports, on Oct. 22, last, that large numbers of dead song birds, warblers and wood thrush, were picked up in the Skokie marshes at that time. Cause of death was attributed to poisoning "by formaldehyde and oil mixtures to kill mosquito larvae." This fall the matter seems to have become serious. He appeals for some method for saving our birds for economic reasons.

We are in full sympathy with him, but are skeptical as to the cause he gives for the death of our feathered friends. In the first place, the campaign against the mosquito is waged in the spring and summer. The agents used would become dissipated or so attenuated by September or October as to be harmless to birds. The cause I believe, is sudden and unusual fall in temperature while these birds are migrating south for the winter. About four weeks ago we had four successive days when the temperature fell four to six degrees below freezing in this district.

Last year a dispatch from Maquoketa, Ia., on Sept. 5, said: "Dead warblers by the thousands littered the streets here today as a result of the sudden cold spell. The birds were migrating south for the winter when they ran into the low temperature." This shows the remedy is beyond human power.

ALBERT H. BURR, M. D.

JAWN FOR MAYOR.

Chicago, Nov. 29.—I also have a man in mind who, up to the present time, has illustrated daily that he knows more about politics and has a keener insight of what Chicago needs than any other man who will run for mayor. That gentleman is John T. McCutcheon, the eminent cartoonist-philosopher of THE CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE.

JULIUS GORDON.

MR. PIRIE.

Chicago, Nov. 29.—The next mayor of Chicago should be a man of unquestioned business ability, character and honesty: an able man, an administrator, with a good knowledge of finance and financial problems. He should be at the present time a commanding, influential and successful business man. He should be a strong man, a courageous, fearless fighter, with a full knowledge of the conditions confronting him; how to overcome difficulties, and the general rottenness of the present administration, and how to bring order out of the existing chaos, and how to properly restore the prestige of Chicago.

Such a man is Mr. G. L. Pirie of Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co.

JOHN BUDGE.

MR. IGOE.

Chicago, Nov. 28.—In scanning over the list of mayoral possibilities, the name of Michael L. Igoe looms out like the Rock of Gibraltar. His leadership, his ability and courage stamp him as the most outstanding candidate that the Democratic party could present.

REUBEN R. HELFER.

THE OPEN FOOTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—In view of the unemployment situation, and as a means to raise money for charity why not stage a game at Soldiers' field between the Chicago Bear football team or Green Bay and Notre Dame, or if the Big Ten would sanction such an arrangement, the Northwestern Wildcats?

This would serve a double purpose: Raise money for charity, and settle the much discussed question of the superiority of pro football over collegiate.

My suggestion would be $5 general admission, with a top price of $10 for box seats. Give each team $5,000 for expenses, and the balance to charity.

I herewith apply for 2 box seats for such a game, should a plan like this go through. PETER WHITT.

CORRECTING MR. STRAWN.

Chicago, Nov. 23.—Silas H. Strawn made a slight mistake when, in addressing the Boston Chamber of Commerce, he said the great problem that now confronts this country is to gear down our productive machinery so that it will synchronize with our consumptive capacity.

The great problem is to gear up our consumptive capacity so that it will synchronize with our productive machinery. HARRY HANSEN.

Politicians Call Election a Cermak Victory.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Thomas J. Bowler's election as president of the Chicago Sanitary district yesterday was hailed everywhere as a victory for County Chairman Cermak in his effort to control the next Democratic mayoral nomination.

Before the showdown there had been a four to four deadlock among the Democrats over the drainage board presidency ever since the election of Nov. 4 which gave them five new trusteeships to add to their three holdover memberships. Cermak broke this by lining up the one holdover Republican, Howard W. Elmore, to vote with his quartet. Then the other four, wishing to avoid needless hostility, came over and made it unanimous for Bowler, Cermak's choice.

First Pre-primary Victory.

Ordinarily the victory would have been seen in Cermak's gaining control of the board's pay rolls, contracts, and purchases, but in this instance that control was not at stake. Whichever side had won, it was said, the Democratic organization would have been boss. The triumph, the wiseacres said, was really in Cermak's winning the biggest skirmish scheduled before the February primary.

During the many conferences of the last month the man spoken of as the "logical candidate" for the presidency was Trustee Ross A. Woodhull. He has served two years as chairman of the finance committee and therefore was urged as better qualified than Bowler, a newcomer. Cermak, it was said, agreed that the qualification of experience was a valuable one, but, despite an agreement that all the spoils should be organization property, he resisted the Woodhull movement because he said he detected in it an attack on his leadership as chairman of the county central committee.

Cermak's Position Told.

In the final conference, shortly before the organization meeting of the board, he asserted that the forces which were lined up with Ald. John S. Clark in the committee control maneuvers last year and which are said to favor Clark for the mayoralty had become active in the Woodhull movement, thereby forcing the chairman to consider it an anti-Cermak project.

Supporters of Woodhull denied they were hostile to the chairman in any way, but Cermak forced the situation by winning the vote of the Republican, Elmore, whom he helped elect in a deal with Deneen two years ago.

A clash was avoided, the unrippled surface harmony was unbroken, and observers of all political faiths agreed that Cermak's position in reference to picking the next mayoralty nominee was stronger than ever. If he had won in an open row, it was said, the defeated forces would have formed the nucleus for other forces who have their own ideas on the mayoralty.

The ceremonies of the installation of the five new Democratic members of the board — Bowler, Thomas F. Byrne, Dennis A. Horan, all of whom are former aldermen, and J. L. Friedman and Paul V. Collanni—were like the other Democratic jubilations of the last week, only more so, more flowers, more crowd and more speechmaking, because the drainage district was the biggest of the local prizes they won. Among those who spoke were Cermak, Ald. Clark, County Clerk Sweitzer, and M. S. E. Szymczak, clerk of the Superior court.

Committee Chairmen Chosen.

The same conference which picked Bowler for president also adopted a slate for the committee chairmanships which was approved without dissent. Woodhull retains his chairmanship of the finance committee. Trustee Byrne will undertake the distribution of jobs as chairman of the committee on employment, and Collanni becomes head of the engineering committee which ranks as third in importance.

The Democratic visitors to the board room, were disappointed when inquiry disclosed that the Republicans hold only about 300 jobs now accessible to Democrats under the spoils system, and it is understood that some of these will be left in Elmore's hands because of his vote which broke the deadlock.

The question of the selection of those who will fill the prize patronage places—those of clerk, attorney, purchasing agent, and real estate manager—are to be taken up in a conference today.

WILLIAMS, CANAL CASE JUDGE, OFF CRIMINAL BENCH

Goes Unannounced to Civil Branch.

Judge Charles A. Williams, whose son, Willard Williams, was disclosed as being one of the sanitary district pay rollers during the time Timothy J. Crowe held sway at the district as president, has left the Criminal court building for work in the civil branch, it was learned yesterday.

The judge, in leaving the Criminal court, gave no indication as to whether he has changed his attitude on First Assistant State's Attorney John E. Northup's objection to him as trial judge in the indictment of Crowe and others in one of the sanitary district cases.

Judge Burke Takes Court.

Judge Joseph Burke, one of the newly elected judges, appeared at the Criminal court building yesterday and took over the court call of Judge Williams. The latter has not indicated whether he will allow the sanitary district case to go along with his other cases to Judge Burke, or whether he will return on Dec. 15 and hear the motion to quash the sanitary district indictment, as he announced on Monday. Judge Williams set the date to hear the motion and made the announcement after the prosecutor had made the disclosures about the judge's son being a district pay roller and collecting salary without doing work.

Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court said that he had no information as to Judge Williams' plans other than that he requested no more court calls be made for him. He said that Judge Williams had not communicated with him about the sanitary district case.

Prosecutor Issues Statement.

Prosecutor Northup said that he would file within a few days a petition asking Judge McGoorty to take the case from Judge Williams and assign it to some "disinterested judge." The prosecutor yesterday issued the following written statement:

"We have been looking up the law in the matter and nothing is clearer since Judge Williams' son was one of the unnamed co-conspirators in the indictment, that Judge Williams would have an interest in the outcome of the trial. His interest is such that if he were called on the trial as a witness it might be shown as affecting his credibility. I assume that no one interested in the fair and impartial administration of the law would want to see such a situation arise."

Governor to Talk Tonight at Highland Park Meeting

Gov. Emmerson will speak tonight at a meeting in Highland Park called in compliment to Brig. Gen. Manus McCloskey, new commanding officer at Fort Sheridan. The meeting is sponsored by the Eighth district council of the American Legion and representatives of every post in the district, as well as mayors of north shore cities, are expected to attend.

FELLOW JUDGES HONOR OLSON AS HE LEAVES BENCH

Express Sorrow at Parting.

Resolutions bespeaking the appreciation of the judges of the Municipal court for the service given by Chief Justice Harry Olson during the last 24 years were presented to him last night in a gold frame. The judges who until last Saturday constituted the Municipal court were bidding him farewell at a dinner in the University club, and six others of their membership—all Republicans, like Judge Olson—were retiring t oprivate life.

Their regrets at the parting were interspersed with optimistic remarks and pleasantries. But all expressed their sorrow at the separation from their "chief." The retiring bailiff Bernard W. Snow, who also is Republican county chairman, and their outgoing clerk, James A. Kearns, were present and listened to the compliments and the good wishes of the assembled court.

Snow's Comment on Vote.

"The recent election was no reflection on those who were defeated," Chairman Snow observed. "The incoming officials are perhaps no better or no worse than the outgoing, but the people had an opportunity of expending their energy, and elections are a delightful feature of American life.

"I wish for Judge Olson a life as happy and useful as it has been in all the years he has given to public service."

"I enjoy the bumps of life as well as the victories," Judge Olson responded. "My life is an example of what can happen to an American boy left fatherless. I tended sheep as a boy and then I rose to become the head of the largest court in the world. I don't want any sympathy because I am now about to become engaged in a work that may yet bring to Chicago the greatest psychopathic laboratory in the world.

"But," he asked with a smile, "if a recount returns me to the court do I have to give back this wonderful gift?"

Gifts for Judge and Wife.

In addition to the framed resolutions the judges presented him a set of studs and buttons and there was a necklace for Mrs. Olson. At the conclusion of the gathering there was read a telegram from Anton J. Cermak, chairman of the Democratic county committee, leader of the forces which defeated Judge Olson.

"I wish I could be present to tell of the wonderful work you accomplished as chief justice," Cermak wired.

Members of parliament received something of a shock today when they noticed that their salary checks bore the mythical date "Nov. 31." They were reassured, however, that the warrants would be honored on presentation.

LEGGE AND FOES BOTH HAVE THEIR SAY ON FARM ACT

Opposing Views Given at 2 Meetings Here.

While Alexander Legge, chairman of the federal farm board, was urging marketing officials to support the agricultural marketing act in one meeting, a group of independent farmer elevator owners were attacking the federal marketing system and were asking for an amendment to the act in another meeting held yesterday in Chicago.

In his address before the 12th annual convention of the National Association of Marketing Officials, Chairman Legge said:

"There is plenty of room for improvement through cooperation of producers when it costs more to get a small package of fruit from the railroad car in Chicago to the consumer's table than the entire cost of producing, packing and hauling it over a distance of 2,000 miles to town. The main job is for each group and agency to discover its proper relation to the entire program and join whole heartedly in cooperating for the welfare of all."

Mr. Legge informed the marketing officials that in his opinion progress has been made in recent months in clarifying the relationship between various agencies and that the prospects seem "brighter for closer cooperation than ever before."

An Appeal to Congress.

Congress will be asked to amend the marketing act and force the federal farm board to make loans on grain held by independent farmers' elevators according to a resolution adopted yesterday in the closing session of central states elevator operators, the independent group, meeting at the same time that Mr. Legge was addressing the marketing group. Four thousand elevators are represented by the conference, it was stated.

The resolution charges that the farm relief measures, as applied in the present emergency, "have resulted in the establishment of mere merchandising agencies which have utterly failed to accomplish any benefit to agriculture or business."

"This conference," says the resolution, "urgently recommends such action by our national government as will in some measure at least assist the people of the agricultural districts to meet their present needs.

"We demand such an amendment to our agricultural marketing act as will make it mandatory upon the federal farm board to make loans on grain to any group of farmers' elevators operating within the state handling a minimum of 45,000,000 bushels of grain annually without a requirement by the farm board that the grain shipped from members of such regional shall be pooled when sold, provided that the loans be protected by satisfactory security."

Plan Finance Company.

In another resolution it was recommended that the state farmers' elevator associations proceed to form cooperative organizations among the elevators of their states to place them in a position to make suitable business connection in any markets available to them.

Authority to form a finance corporation to handle loans to small elevators was voted during the meeting. The finance corporation is planned to make advances on grain stored in elevators as well as to make long time loans on physical properties of the independent companies.

Canadian Cabinet Approves Premier's Attack on Britain

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 2.—Premier Richard B. Bennett's onslaught in London yesterday upon J. H. Thomas, dominions secretary in the MacDonald government, for his "humbug" speech and Mr. Bennett's lashing of the British cabinet for its failure to denounce Mr. Thomas' criticism of Canada's empire tariff preference proffer, was launched after Mr. Bennett had telephoned his cabinet colleagues at Ottawa for a summary of Canadian reaction to the imperial conference events, it was learned today.

Premier Bennett's cabinet colleagues are privately expressing exultation and complete concord in Mr. Bennett's denunciation of the British cabinet and his warning that Canada may take "the other means at hand" for improving her economic position in the world. Publicly, however, they have not a word to say. The capital, however, is seething with the excitement engendered by an unprecedented blast of criticism against a London government by a dominion's prime minister.

Parley Causes Friction.

Empire friction has emanated from the imperial conference, which was to have pointed the way to empire economic unity. That much is easily apparent to political observers at the dominion capital who have watched the reactions to Mr. Bennett's overseas proposals and their turndown—Mr. Bennett referred to it as "contemptuous rejection" of closer empire trade.

While the Canadian Liberal leader, MacKenzie King, adheres to his policy of silence, his followers, notably Gordon Waldron, are analyzing the position of Premier Bennett and his Canadian Conservative party as an alliance with British conservatism for the destruction of the Labor government.

Certain it is, however, that for the first time in empire history, Canada is engulfed in the widened waves of mother country politics, and, where formerly nothing but trade good will existed, there is now arising wonder and controversy over whether Canada should continue her policy of British trade preferences or, as Mr. Bennett intimated, "take the other means at hand."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 2.—A condemnation of the Labor government's attitude toward the dominion prime ministers' preference proposals at the imperial conference was recorded in the house of lords tonight by a vote of 74 to 10. The resolution declared that the government had let down the people of England and the dominions by not responding to the tariff preference proposals which they knew the dominion prime ministers wished to make and to be discussed at the conference. Lord Hailsham described Dominions Secretary Thomas' reference to Prime Minister Bennett's proposals as "humbug" as "an offensive and wholly unjustifiable phrase."

QUACKLESS DUCK AND ROBOT HEN MEET AT SHOW

International Exhibit of Poultry Opens Today.

Some 4,000 live exhibits of fowls, foxes, mink, and rabbits were being uncrated, penned, and caged at the Coliseum last night preparatory to the opening this morning of the poultry exposition which brings prize winners to an international competition. Open daily from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m., the show continues through Sunday.

Many of the oddities of the feathered world, along with the finest stock of the various strains of poultry, are among the exhibits. A number of foreign entries is included. There are also 300 blue, white, silver, and black foxes, 200 mink, and 500 rabbits.

Many View Robot Hen.

The early crowds of exhibitors and attendants gathered at one booth yesterday afternoon in front of a mammoth mechanical hen, a part of the department of agriculture exhibit, under the direction of H. L. Shrader, poultry specialist of the department.

This creature of wheels, wires, and bellows displayed a cross section of a hen which, when operated, traces food through the blood stream and demonstrated the workings of the "egg factory." Tiny mechanical men perform these functions in the various body compartments.

While these robots are making the yolk, adding the white, and covering the combination with the shell of the egg, the hen delivers a lecture, with the aid of a phonograph record, describing the process.

Displayed for the first time at the world poultry congress in London this summer, the contrivance drew the attention of countless Britishers, Mr. Shrader said. A royal visitor, the duke of York, stood astonished while the mechanism performed and at the end of the display remarked, "Most extraordinary fowl!"

Birds to Do Their Stuff.

Among the actual entries is a droll goose from Washington, Ia., which parades in full evening wear, silk hat and all, and proud Japanese roosters with tails more than a yard in length, which will strut daily across the "court of honor," a decorated platform where the entries in each class will be judged.

Smaller Japanese chickens, called "silkies," have a long silky skin covering unlike feathers. The duck class shows a "quackless" breed adapted for suburban culture which, even in great distress, will not or cannot utter a sound beyond a low hissing similar to the warning of a snake.

Gov. Emmerson has promised to be present at 10 o'clock this morning for the opening of the exposition.

42,000 GOATS REPRESENTED IN GATHERING HERE

Forty-two thousand goats were represented yesterday at the Hotel Stevens when members of the American Milk Goat Record association gathered under the direction of Charles A Stevens of Chicago, president. Charles F. Johnson of Lincoln, Neb., sounded the keynote of the session when he said:

"Goat's milk doesn't curdle in the stomach as does a cow's. It can be digested in 20 minutes, whereas it takes two hours for a cow's milk. It is becoming more and more popular."

INDIANA FARMER NAMED CORN KING AT STOCK SHOW

BY PAUL POTTER.

New kings of agricultural showdom were crowned yesterday at the International Live Stock exposition. The naming of farmers whose live stock, grain, and hay outclassed all others marked the defeat of many champions whose victories year after year had begun to seem a foregone conclusion.

The new world corn king, named by six judges yesterday, is Herbert C. Watson, 30 year old Indiana farmer, whose 10 ears of yellow dent corn led a list of winners from Iowa and Missouri east to Maryland. A graduate of Purdue university, Watson grows 45 acres of corn on a farm of 152 acres near Tipton. He previously has been victor in Indiana by obtaining a yield of 102.7 bushels of corn from an acre.

Hoosier Corn Also Second.

Indiana also won the reserve championship corn laurels with the naming of Lowell Moffitt's ten ears as second best in the show. Moffitt lives at Arlington. Both Watson and Moffitt entered the old "show type" corn in competition with the newer "utility type" being popularized in Illinois and Iowa. Indiana has produced 9 of the 13 corn kings.

Another coronation of the day, witnessed by the largest crowd the International has enjoyed, was that of J. F. McKenny, King City, Mo., banker and breeder, whose Aberdeen Angus steer, "Jimmy," was made grand champion over hundreds of other cattle. Walter Biggar, Scotch judge who made the selection, declared the showings the best of his six years of judging here.

Breeders hailed the new champion as the dawn of a new day in pure bred live stock showmanship. For, they declared, this is the first grand champion steer in recent years that has been named with the certain knowledge that it had not been subject to "plastic surgery" or artificial pampering to remove defects.

New Rule Encourages Breeding.

The disclosure was made yesterday that farmers had enrolled in record numbers at the International this year only after they had been assured that tricky showmanship had been barred. Manager B. H. Heide referred to the new rule established this year which made it a fraud when breeders used "any artificial means of removing or remedying the physical defects or conformation," such as "cutting ties or lifting and filling under the skin."

It develops that showmen have for years been subcutaneously injecting oil and paraffin to build up sagging or drooping spots on the animals.

Even several state university and college animals who have been winners in previous shows, when slaughtered, disclosed the skillful touch of a knife or the needle. Last year's grand champion steer, shown by Elliott Brown, the Iowa farm boy, who also led yesterday's champion to the ring, was disclosed to have been artificially treated.

Mr. McKenny, whose herdsman is an uncle of Elliott Brown, entered his 13 month old steer as his first showing in any international.

The national health contest of the 4-H clubs resulted in a number of high scores for the boys and girls competing. The health contest is only one feature of their program. Among those obtaining a score of 98.5 or more were:

Mildred Nouffer, Miami county, Kansas; Mildred Hart, Mackinac county, Michigan; Marian Strauss, Adams county, Ill.; Dora Lee Bryant, Escanaba county, Florida; Liva L. Woods, Vernon county, Mo.; Carolyn Boyle, Delaware county, Ind.; Alice Peterson, La Crosse county, Wis.; John Elchorn, Poweshiek county, Iowa; Meredith McClain, Marinette county, Wis., and Donald Wilson of Lyon county, Kansas.

Chicago is giving the future farmers of the nation a good time, with sightseeing trips, meals and recreation planned for each day. Last night they held their national rally and banquet at the Sherman hotel, with George E. Farrell of the United States department of agriculture, which is fostering the movement, as honorary chairman, and Harold Harper, Indiana club delegate, as acting toastmaster.

Clubs Hold Style Show.

That the 4-H clubs develop style as well as health and produce was demonstrated at the banquet when the annual awards were made at a style review. Forty girls had competed in this contest, in four classes, with the sweepstakes prize going to Viola Mach, a freshman at the South Dakota State College of Agriculture. She won a three weeks trip to Paris, under the chaperonage of her club leader, with a three piece tailored ensemble made of green basket weave wool. She is a blonde and had built a suit of green and tan, with blouse, hose, shoes and purse to match, at a cost of $22.25. The Paris trip is given by the Chicago Mail Order company.

The semi-tailored silk class was won by Lucille Slusher of Chickasha, Okla., the informal party dress class by Wilda Mae Nickols of Wheeling, W. Va., and the cotton school dress class by Bertie Click of Mount Sidney, Va. Gold watches and this trip to Chicago were the prizes for three in each class.

The girls were smartly dressed, well poised and "well placed," according to Miss Barbara Van Heulen of Michigan State college, the judge in the style revue.

URGES BOOSTING OF WORLD TRADE TO END SLUMP

American prosperity depends more fully on world prosperity than many Americans are willing to recognize and the way out of depression involves measures that will encourage rather than hinder international trade.

This is the substance of the considered opinions of Herbert Brookes, retiring commissioner general for Australia in the United States, who is in Chicago, stopping over on his way to the Pacific coast, whence he will sail for Australia before Christmas.

"I can speak more freely as a retiring official than could one still acting as representative of a government," he said. "I believe that both the United States and Australia are greatly to blame for the present world depression. Both of us have promoted the spirit of isolation. Australia as a result has lost valuable markets for her products and the United States is now feeling the pinch of lessened foreign demand."

Concentration of gold, particularly in the United States and France, and its "hiding away," rather than putting it in circulation, is regarded by Mr Brookes as perhaps the most important factor leading to low commodity prices everywhere. Insistence on the payment of debts in gold has brought this concentration, he said.

Tariffs also have been a drag against the return of prosperity, Mr. Brookes said. He cited that placed against Australian wool by this country, an ad valorem assessment of 100 per cent.

GIRL MISSING; NOTED DIVORCE CASE RECALLED

An appeal to police last night by Mrs. Josephine Nolan for aid in finding a missing 15 year old daughter, revived echoes of the sensational court fight in which John J. Nolan, "millionaire bootlegger," won a divorce in March, 1929. Mrs. Nolan had been deprived of the decision in an earlier trial because the jury neglected to write "Yes" after the question "Shall Mrs. Josephine Nolan be granted a divorce?" although they found Nolan guilty of cruelty.

Mrs. Nolan's revelations resulted in the filing of government liens totaling $1,551,000 for unpaid income taxes.

Mrs. Nolan last night told Chief of Detectives Norton that her daughter Marcella disappeared Thanksgiving day. She contended that police question Mme. Theresa Bell, 59 years old, a spiritualist reader of 1155 North Clark street, who was a witness for Nolan in the divorce trials.

Mme. Bell convinced police that she was not involved in the disappearance but provoked laughs when she volunteered to demonstrate her powers and told Deputy Chief of Detectives Lawrence Rafferty that he was 40 years old and single and that there was a "fine looking lady after him." Rafferty is 51 years old and the father of 11 children.

THREE ROB CIGAR SHOP.

Forged to Get Cash for Speculation.

New York, Dec. 2.—[Special.]—The story of how a pretty girl, assistant cashier of a country bank, embezzled $42,650, invested it in stocks with heavy gains and was then wiped out by the market crash of last October was told today in the court of Federal Commmissioner Frances A. O'Neill.

The revelation came with the arraignment of Constance K. Brown, twenty-six, of Chappaqua, Westchester county, who was, until last July, assistant to Herman Kohner, cashier of the Chappaqua National bank.

At that time, knowing discovery to be inevitable, she confessed by letter and naively inquired if she would lose her job.

Will Make Restitution.

Miss Brown, snappy-looking, exquisitely gowned, and quite self-possessed in court, had given herself up voluntarily after a warrant had been issued for her arrest. An agreement had been reached by which he uncle, Orlando Kegelman, a realtor of Mamaronck, will make full restitution.

Wealthy New Yorkers have summer homes in the vicinity of Chappaqua and keeping records of their dealings, through the bank, with Wall street stock brokerage houses, inspired in Miss Brown an interest in stock speculation.

How She Worked Scheme.

She evolved a scheme for raising cash. Selecting the names of depositors who had large, inactive accounts, she forged their names to checks payable to herself. These checks she forwarded to brokerage houses with which she had opened accounts.

When the checks came back to the Chappaqua bank through the New York clearing house, she destroyed them and falsified the books in such a way that they apparently balanced.

Everything was lovely until the market began to sag early last fall. The demands upon her were too strong to be met.

CHINESE CO-ED, CAUGHT IN MAN'S CLOTHING, FREED

Rita Moy, 19 year old daughter of Frank Moy, "mayor of Chinatown," and a student at the University of Chicago, was freed yesterday when she was arraigned in Grand Crossing court on a disorderly conduct charge.

She was arrested in a man's clothing on Monday night while descending the fire escape of the Hotel Evans, 6103 Evans avenue, with Miss May Oliver, 20 years old, an actress, who was charged with attempting to defraud an innkeeper of $15.05.

The manager of the hotel appeared in court and told Judge W. R. Helander "everything is settled" and asked dismissal of the cases, which the court granted after ordering him to pay the $6 costs.

LANDLORDS FACE ARREST AS RENTS STAY UP IN ITALY

More Wage Cuts Decreed in Economy Drive.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Dec. 2.—Landlords in Italy are being accused of holding up the big price reduction parade. Rents, so far, haven't come down, and the attitude of the landlords has caused uneasiness in the homes of the Fascists, who were forced to accept the 8, 10 and 12 per cent wage reductions. They are now waiting for a corresponding reduction in living costs.

The Italian press tonight, in trying to soothe the anxious population, announced just what steps are being taken to bring down the rents.

Landlords Are Warned.

The Fascist Federation of Property Owners, which took the original decision in behalf of its membership to reduce the rents, has sent out warnings to all landlords who have not complied with the order. They have been told if rents are not cut at once the authorities will be notified.

In the case of the grocers of Sicily, who answered the price cuts by cancelling orders placed with the wholesalers, several arrests were made.

"The owners of new buildings in Italy are to benefit by enormous tax rebates to encourage building," explained one indignant Fascist. "Owners of other buildings, some built generations ago, have been collecting money, either they or their families, for generations. There is a limit. In some ways Fascism is very close to socialism."

More Salaries Are Cut.

Further steps to effect a reduction in the cost of living to scale with the value of the lira was taken today when the national confederations of commerce and agriculture decided to reduce salaries of their employés from five to ten per cent. Those who are receiving not more than $15.69 a month and those who are working only three days a week, will not be affected.

The same provision was made in the industrial wage cut, so as to exempt the workers of the Fiat auto plants, who are working on a three day a week schedule.

The city of Florence has set an example for the rest of the nation in the war on "H. C. of L." with the announcement that no expense accounts for banquets, receptions and drinking parties will henceforth be honored.

The economists who are genuinely impressed by the success of the big shrinkage in living costs decreed by Premier Mussolini, expect the real benefit to accrue from improvement in foreign trade.

WIDOW OF RAIL CHIEF GETS JOB ON HIS RAILROAD

Named Assistant to New President.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 2.—(AP)—A personal interest in the railroad of which her late husband was president figured in the acceptance of a position as assistant to the president of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad by Mrs. Charles N. Whitehead, she said tonight.

Mrs. Whitehead, probably the first woman to take the title and responsibility of a major railroad executive, was appointed by M. H. Cahill, president of the road, to direct its service and organization from a woman's viewpoint. She is in her early forties.

"After a number of years spent in traveling about the Katy system with my husband," Mrs. Whitehead said, "I found my interest in his work and the railroad had become a major influence in my life.

"My appointment as assistant to the president thrilled me, of course, and I look forward with eagerness to taking a place in the management of the railroad. Women are taking an increasingly large part in the management of other kinds of business and I see no reason why one shouldn't become a railroad executive if the opportunity is offered.

"My work will deal largely with the problems of the women patrons. Responsibility for the comfort of women travelers, the dining car service, station comforts, courteous treatment, the appointments of Pullman cars will rest on me.

"We also have many women in our organization as stenographers, secretaries, ticket agents and telegraph and telephone operators. Their welfare will also come under my department."

Judge Slick Says Dry Law Clogs Docket; To Ask Help

Declaring that dockets are clogged with prohibition cases, making it impossible to give proper attention to the increasing number of civil and criminal cases, Judge Thomas W. Slick of the northern Indiana division of the United States Circuit court announced last night in Hammond that a new federal judgeship for Indiana would be sought at once. Judge Slick now sits at Hammond, South Bend and Fort Wayne.

OVERCOME BY MOTOR FUMES.

James Cloud, 19 years old, son of W. E. Cloud, owner of an express company, was overcome by motor fumes yesterday while warming the motors of two trucks in a garage at 4341 Emerald avenue. He was revived by police and firemen.

MEETING CALLED TO PLAN MERGING OF TAX AGENCIES

Six professors, representing three universities, and a number of other experts on taxation matters will meet in the city council chambers tonight to consider plans for consolidating the taxing agencies in the metropolitan area. The meeting was called by Ald. John A. Massen [48th], chairman of a subcommittee of the commfttee on efficiency, economy, and rehabilitation.

"There are 408 tax spending bodies in Cook county which spend in the aggregate approximately $350,000,000 a year," said Ald. Massen. "This system is responsible for the wasting of millions of dollars through the overlapping of activities."

Among those invited to the meeting are Profs. Simeon E. Leland, Charles E. Merriam, and August Vollmer of the University of Chicago, and George O. Fairweather, assistant business manager of the university; Profs. Augustus R. Hatton and Herbert D. Simpson of Northwestern university; Prof. Peter T. Swanish of Loyola university; Harris S. Keeler of the bureau of public efficiency, and Douglas Sutherland of the Civic federation.

Find Fraternity House Loot in Porter's Home

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 2.—(AP)—A search was started tonight for Harrison Owen, 31, Negro porter at the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity house, after police had discovered more than $1,000 worth of alleged loot from the chapter house in his home.

BULLETS FLY IN SOFIA; KILL CHIEF OF MACEDONIANS

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Dec. 2.—Another political murder here today marked another stage in the long feud between the Protogeroff and the Michailoff sections of the Macedonian revolutionary committee. Naum Tomalewski, leader of the Protogeroff section, was assassinated by two members of the Michailoff group.

Tomalewski, who knew he had been sentenced to death by the Michailoffists, had refused to leave his house for several days. This afternoon he ventured for a short walk in his garden with his mother. He had just reached the house door when the shots rang out. Tomalewski dropped dead with one bullet through his brain and another through his heart.

Tomalewski was one of a long series of murdered Protogeroffists, the list being headed by Gen. Protogeroff himself. The feud dates back to 1924, when the party split over what was its objective. The Protogeroffists wanted the Macedonian district to be created a state in either Bulgaria, Greece, or Jugo-Slavia. The Michailoffists demanded complete autonomy. The feud has resulted in more than 300 assassinations in several European centers in the last couple of years.

AIRWOMAN PLANS TO FINISH FLIGHT TO MIAMI TODAY

Miami, Fla., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, Australian airwoman, and Capt. W. N. Lancaster, her flying partner, expect to fly to Miami from Andros island tomorrow with the plane in which she said she made a forced landing on Andros island Friday, John Liggett III, of Pittsburgh said tonight.

Mrs. Keith-Miller arrived in Nassau by fishing boat yesterday. Lancaster and Liggett, one of the backers of a flight she was expecting to make from Pittsburgh to Havana and return, flew in a rescue plane from Miami to Nassau and Andros island today. They picked up Mrs. Keith-Miller at the former place.

Kurt Voelter of Miami, who flew to Nassau and return today in the relief plane, brought back with him copies of a statement he said was given him by Mrs. Keith-Miller for publication. In part it said:

"I am most unhappy about myself. As an experienced flyer I feel ashamed to think I failed to reach my objective. Those who suggest that I might for publicity purposes do such a thing are despicable."

Gast, 'Untin' Bowler Pilot, Will Wed Actress Today

Robert H. Gast, world war flyer and pilot of the 'Untin' Bowler on its attempted flight to Berlin, and Miss Dorothy Severns, Chicago actress, yesterday obtained a marriage license at the county clerk's office. The marriage will take place this morning, Gast said, and tomorrow the couple will fly to Miami on their honeymoon. Gast, whose home is in Louisville, Ky., is pilot of the amphibion plane of John D. Hertz, former taxicab magnate. Miss Severns is the daughter of O. W. Severns, 200 Delaware place.

FOUR HUNTERS DIE, EIGHT HURT WHEN FLAMES TRAP THEM

East Otis, Mass., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Four hunters were burned to death and eight others injured as fire destroyed an isolated cabin on the rim of Larkin Pond early today.

Apparently, they were trapped in their sleep and had no chance of escape. The injured, all occupants of the second floor, leaped from windows, scantily clad, while the temperature hovered just above zero.

The dead were Otto Rittner and Joseph Genni, both of New Britain, Conn., and Thomas Hill and Daniel Reilly, both of Shelton, Conn.

As the flames spread, boxes of cartridges were discharged, awakening the sleepers on the upper floor.

3 Children Burn to Death.

Whitesville, W. Va., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Three children, the eldest 3 years old, were burned to death here today in a fire that destroyed their home. The children were left alone in the house while the mother went to a store.

BANDIT KIDNAPS TWO POSSEMEN; TAKES THEIR CAR

Hunnewell, Kas., Dec. 2.—(AP)—A. L. Miller and Walter Edward, possemen, kidnaped yesterday by a bank robber they were seeking, were at home tonight, showing no ill effects from their 12 hours of duty as chauffeur and footman for the robber.

Miller, a bank cashier, and Edward, a druggist, were released early today several miles from Lehigh, Kas. Their captor, who robbed the First National bank of Braman, Okla., yesterday of $2,500, then drove away in their car.

While they were prisoners Miller and Edward estimated they drove more than 400 miles through south central Kansas. They took turns at the wheel, the robber telling them when he thought it was time to change drivers.

The bandits returned Edwards' overcoat he had been wearing and gave the men $6 to pay their expenses home.

He had a wound in the nose, the men said, the result of shots fired by the vigilantes at Braman.

Both possemen blame their capture on the fact the robber was alone. They said first reports were two men robbed the bank and their suspicions were not aroused by the one man until it was too late to do anything. They were captured as they guarded a road.

Two Mexicans Slain in U. S. Border Battle

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Border fighting flared again tonight on Cordova island, the "No Man's land" between El Paso and Mexico, when two unidentified Mexicans, members of a party of eight men attempting to trap United States immigration border patrolmen, fell dead under the fire of the border patrol. The patrolmen had been following two of the band, suspecting them of being aliens. Suddenly rifles were discharged from a thicket surrounding the island, which is skirted by an old channel of the Rio Grande. Dropping back on American soil, the patrolmen returned the fire.

Creston H. Ketchum, 55 years old, a demonstrator at the Fair store, was fatally crushed late last night by an Evanston express at the Loyola elevated station. He was taken to the Rogers Park hospital, where he died.

HAWKS AND SHAMROCKS LOSE BY 2-1 SCORES

Penalties—Couture and Smith.

MONTREAL, Que., Dec. 2.—(AP)—The Chicago Blackhawks' National Hockey league winning streak was abruptly halted here tonight when the Montreal Maroon sharpshooters netted two goals to Chicago's one.

CHUCK GARDINER.

Although the Hawks, with Gardiner at his best, put up an almost impregnable defense, the Maroons sifted through it in the second and third periods, Hooley Smith getting the first goal on a pass from Stewart and Johnny Gallagher, defense man, the second on a blazing solo rush and a shot from right wing.

The Hawks went ahead in the first period when, although a man short, Tyarbour and Mush March split the Maroon defense and March scored.

First Defeat for Hawks.

Chicago previously had won five games and tied one. The victory tonight was the Maroons' third straight and reestablished them in the esteem of their followers after their disastrous start, when they dropped four straight games.

Tonight's game was amazingly fast. Chicago had eleven forwards dressed and the Maroons ten. Juggling their players with constant changes, both coaches kept the speed at full pitch. The Maroons withdrew the Conacher-Wilcox defense in the second period, old Buck Boucher teaming with Bill Phillips as one rear guard and Gallagher and McVicar making up the other.

Wentworth took a penalty in the first minute of play, but clever puck tagging by the Hawks kept Gardiner from danger until his return. Somers was then sent out for tripping Stewart. He flicked the puck disgustedly at the referee and his penalty was raised to a major.

March Scores for Hawks.

Although short handed, Ty Arbour and Mush March cleverly split the Maroon defense and drove in for a easy shot that Walsh was unable to handle, Marsh scoring. For the next three minutes the Blackhawks were penned in their own territory by the Maroon youngsters, Haynes and the Roches, but held on brilliantly until they were at full strength.

Ingram, Cook and Miller then gave a great exhibition of back checking, keeping the Maroon forwards continually outside the Chicago defense area and making several dangerous shots themselves.

The game was slow while the teams were short, but when they filled again Gardiner brought down the house with his save from Neb Stewart and Babe Siebert, who broke through the defense. Gardiner slid out eight feet to smother the puck.

Smith Ties Score.

Neb Stewart netted the puck by driving it in with his skate and the goal judge turned on the red light, but Referee Hewitson overruled the score. The Maroons had a one man advantage at the time, and were still one man to the good when Smith scored from right wing, after Stewart had made the play.

Gottselig started off the last period by just missing the corner of the net on Ripley's pass from behind the goal. Stewart, Siebert and Bill Phillips blazed the puck in Chicago's goal area and slammed five hard shots at Gardiner, any of which might have beaten an ordinary goalie, but Chuck was ready for them.

Johnny Gallagher snared a loose puck at his own blue line and drove it his way straight up the side, swerving in after circling the defense, and scored. It was a great play by the lone year's amateur defense man. The Hawks swept back three abreast, only to have Ripley shoot an inch wide.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Chicago Shamrocks last night took their first licking on Chicago ice, but, like King Levinsky, the fish and fisticuffs man, they were immeasurably more popular in defeat than they had been in victory. They were conquered by the Minneapolis Millers, whom they had twice defeated in the Minneapolis rink. The score was: Minneapolis, 2; Chicago, 1.

GORDON BRYDSON.

The lethargy that hovered over quite a large fraction of the customers in the two previous American league games here was chased when it was perceived that the Shamrocks were facing worthy foes.

There are no men on the Millers who have large stomachs and short breaths. The boys from Minneapolis announced before the game that they were equal to the job of showing the first real competition of the Shamrock home stay and they made good in a rather large way.

Starke Plays Great Game.

The promoters of the new venture, who had become a little morose over the calm which attended victories over Tulsa and the poorly conditioned St. Louis club, were beaming after last night's game. Though the Green and White had been slid in the snow and ice, the boys in the boxoffice had heard a lot of real hollering for the first time, and, if we're a good guesser, it was happy music indeed.

Joe Starke, visiting goalie, played an inspired game. The Shamrocks made shot after shot that seemed certain of a resting place in the net but each time the puck bounced off Mr. Starke's stick or some portion of his anatomy. There were others in the Miller cast who did their bit to raise the Chicago estimate of American league hockey as skated in 1930.

The Miller attack was no better if as good as that staged by Brydson, McFadyen, and Mackenzie but the difference in the goal tending spelled the difference in the outcome.

Millers Take Early Lead.

While Timmins was unable to stop the two rather long shots which scored for Minneapolis, he had his pleasing moments, especially in the last few minutes of the game when the Shamrocks, playing a five man offensive, let the puck get back into their own territory. Before they could cover, two deliberate and utterly unchecked efforts were kicked away by the Shamrock goalie.

The close of the first period found the Shamrocks in arrear, 1 to 0, little Bill De Paul having accomplished a marker 6 minutes and 33 seconds after the start of the contest. While Starke had only five stops to Timmins' ten, all the Miller goalie's saves were daisies, whereas Timmins was called upon to block long shots that sent plenty of warning ahead.

The count became 1 to 1 sixteen seconds after the opening of the third period, when the Brydson-McFadyen combination functioned admirably, Brydson making the score.

Starke had just made a sensational stop to thwart a McFadyen-Brydson attack when De Paul recovered the puck and carried it down into Chicago territory, where Riley took it and shot the goal that proved to be the victory effort. This success was accomplished in 9:31.

WILDCATS START TO STALK BIG 10 BASKET CROWN

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Between now and Jan. 10, when Northwestern's basketball team opens the conference race with Michigan on the Patten gymnasium floor, Coach Arthur Lonborg hopes to develop a combination which will duplicate the championship earned this fall by the football squad. Lonborg's hopes are justified by the six lettermen remaining from last year's team and by the vagaries of the schedule.

Perhaps the schedule will be Northwestern's greatest advantage. At least Wisconsin, Purdue, and Indiana, which apparently never have anything less than first division teams, and generally can be found battling near the top, will not be Wildcat opponents this winter. Big Ten basketball schedules rotate, each university playing six others each season. This winter Northwestern's opponents will be Michigan, Illinois, Ohio State, Chicago, Minnesota, and Iowa.

Riel, Hails Forwards.

Northwestern lettermen seeking permanent positions are Capt. Bert Riel and Bob Hails, forwards; Bob Lockhart, Frank Marshall, Bob McCarnes, and Dallas Marvil, guards. Marvil, regular tackle on the championship football team, has not reported for basketball, although he follows practice from the side lines each afternoon.

Five other squad members from last season also are members of Lonborg's varsity. They are Frank Forss, Bob Kershaw, Conrad Lippert, Bus Smith, and John Whelan. Forss played prep ball at De Paul academy while Lippert learned his basketball at Lane Tech. Johnny Whelan is one of the best forwards on the squad.

Northwestern's greatest necessity, obviously, is a center to replace Rus Bergherm, who graduated last spring. Rut Walter, forward, and Merrill Bundy, a guard, were the other losses by graduation.

Farber Guard Prospect.

Saul Farber, who captained Marshall High school's heavyweight team in 1927, is a prominent sophomore guard prospect. So is Joe Schwartz of Crane, once an opponent of Farber's in high school days.

Bob Lockhart and Frank Marshall are clever ball handlers and when the other men step up their pace to match this pair, Northwestern will have a floor game which should produce plenty of shots at the basket. Lockhart, however, is suffering from a knee injury which kept him out of last night's scrimmage and which may prevent his appearance in the opening practice game Monday night with Bradley Tech of Peoria.

Whelan Gets in Drill.

Whelan replaced Riel on the first five last night and Moonshower, a 6 foot sophomore from Rochester, Ind., had Lockhart's assignment. McCarnes, Rieff, and Marshall were the other first stringers. The second five was composed of Farber, Smith, Foster, Lippert, and Schwartz.

Northwestern has the height necessary for following up its shots and also for retrieving the ball from the opponents' back board after their attempts.

Dec. 8—Bradley at Northwestern.
Dec. 12—Notre Dame at South Bend.
Dec. 20—Carleton at Northwestern.
Dec. 31—Alabama at Northwestern.
Jan. 3—Notre Dame at Northwestern.
The Big Ten schedule follows:
Jan. 10—Michigan at Northwestern.
Jan. 12—Illinois at Champaign.
Jan. 19—Michigan at Ann Arbor.
Jan. 24—Ohio State at Northwestern.
Feb. 7—Chicago at Northwestern.
Feb. 9—Minnesota at Northwestern.
Feb. 14—Chicago at Chicago.
Feb. 16—Illinois at Northwestern.
Feb. 21—Iowa at Iowa City.
Feb. 23—Minnesota at Minneapolis.
Feb. 28—Ohio at Columbus.
March 2—Iowa at Northwestern.

CUBS BID $50,000 FOR BOTTOMLEY; CARDS PONDER IT

Paul Waner, Lindstrom on Block.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Dec. 2.—Trade smoke began to curl up out of the chimney today as the big league magnates assembled to steal the thunder from the minor leaguers, who are here to have their own little annual convention.

The smoke promises action, either here or in New York next week, where a few outstanding performers in the National league are to be transferred. Just what the American league will do along similar lines has not been learned.

Waner, Lindstrom Mentioned.

What some of the National league clubs propose to do and probably will do concerns at least a couple of men who thus far haven't been mentioned in connection with midwinter transactions. One of them is Paul Waner, one of the league's real hitters, who is reported persona non grata with the Pirates. Another is Freddy Lindstrom, who since the world series of 1924 has been holding down third base for the Giants. Two others sure to change their baseball flannels are Jim Bottomley, the Cardinals' first baseman, and Red Lucas, the iron man of the Cincinnati pitching staff.

The future of Bottomley depends entirely on how well his present owners can be charmed by a bank roll. The Chicago Cubs already have flashed theirs and are reported to be sitting back waiting for it to take effect. The story, which is not a rumor, is that the Cubs, refusing to give any of their own regulars for the St. Louis player, have made a bid of $50,000 in cash. The St. Louis officials are supposed to be holding off on the possibility that, instead of money, one of the other clubs in the league might give a player whom the Cardinals could use to advantage in exchange for Bottomley.

Cards Want Cuyler.

It is reported that the St. Louis club, determined to banish Bottomley as it banished other stars, originally tried to trade talent with the Cubs. Cuyler and Teachout were suggested as men whom the Cardinal chiefs would accept for Bottomley and Pitcher Flint Rhem. The Cubs' bosses refused to take the suggestion seriously. Then English was proposed for Bottomley. This, too, was shouted down by the Chicagoans. Then the offer of cash was made by the Cubs and it will stand until positively rejected.

Rogers Hornsby, the Cub manager, who arrived here this evening along with President William Veeck and Second Vice President John Seys, refused to admit any negotiations involving Bottomley were under way. He did admit, however, that he thought Bottomley would add considerable power to the Cubs' attack and that he wouldn't object to having him around to compete with Charley Grimm for the regular first sack job. Hornsby still has considerable respect for Grimm's ability. Otherwise Der Kaptink would be offered in the exchange. Of course that might happen if St. Louis eventually frowns on cold cash.

Cubs Might Bid for Lucas.

Two other clubs originally were interested in Bottomley, but they are reported to have dropped out of the bidding. One was the Pirates. The other was the Cincinnati Reds, who now think they have fortified first base by the purchase of Heath from the Coast league. These two clubs almost got into a three cornered deal, with St. Louis on the other end. This swap would have moved Paul Waner from Pittsburgh and Lucas from Cincinnati. The scheme might be resurrected at New York next week. The Cubs would be willing to take a hand in such a transaction if they were assured of getting Lucas without drawing on their present strength.

If neither St. Louis nor Cincinnati takes P. Waner there is no way of telling where the ex-coast leaguer might land. Neither is there any in-

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 2.—Estimating the average per capita consumption of alcoholic beverages, exclusive of beer, at one pint, which I believe to be a conservative figure, and estimating the average football attendance at one million on a big week-end, I arrive at the conclusion that the beneficial effects of football on those who play the game are more than offset by the deleterious effects on others.

There are those who will deny that the average per capita consumption amounts to as much as a pint, but there will also be others who will deny that it works out at anything less than a case. In fact, I would guarantee to produce more than one enthusiast on the long side of the estimate who would promise to drink all liquor less than an average of one case per head.

A Pint Seems Moderate Guess.

However, it is idle to consider the opinions of extremists and as I am what is known as a moderate in this matter, I will admit that my own guess, one pint, is about right. It is to be conceded, of course, that some few eccentrics will not drink any stimulants at all during a football week-end, but counter-balancing these lows in the record, there will be the great achievements of others who will drink one or more cases, each, between Friday and Monday, four or five times every season, while they last.

The more sophisticated stimulants will bear a wide variety of labels, most of them reading Old Something or Other, and the bottlenecks will be sealed with ingenious caps and revenue stamps manufactured by the Sicilian boys in New York and Chicago. But, in the total of one million pints, there will be a large quantity of sincere, unpretentious Georgia moon or mule in Mason jars, a large element of Texas sheep-dip, some boll-weevil spray from Mississippi, some Kansas jake, and some radiatior fluid, this latter from Iowa where it is regarded as the wine of the country. If these million pints were poured together in a heterogenous mixture in an open reservoir, the fumes would destroy all the vegetation within a ten mile radius, and all the cows of the region would give sidecars, stingers, and old fashioned for the next five years.

The Mason Jar Makes for Speed.

The frank preference of the Georgia boy for his Mason jar, rather than the neck and shoulder bottle was once explained to me by one such who had come up from Atlanta to watch the Army play Illinois at Champaign.

"Down our way," said he, "we don't aim to fool around sipping our liquor. When we aim to do us some drinkin', we aim to get action and the onliest way to get the mostest action quickest is to get you a wide-mouth jar so you can dip into it up to your gills."

Time was in my experience when election nights and New Year's eves were the only occasions on the calendar which were really set aside for serious and unrestrained drinking, but that was then and the present is now. My last study of the drinking habits of a city population on an election night and also on New Year's eve, disclosed to me the decline of a tradition, but my observation of the football customer during the week-ends of autumn of the recent season, reveals the rise of a new one. To be sure, drinks were drunk, and drinkers also,

Stribling Grows a Scowl and Becomes a Fierce Fellow

BY FRENCH LANE.

The Striblings from Georgia who, with Tuffy Griffith of Iowa, entertain at the Stadium on the night of Dec. 12, are quite conspicuous about the busy loop these lively Christmas shopping days.

PA STRIBLING.

W. L. Stribling Sr., W. L. Jr., the heavyweight boxer who is rushing along toward a world championship; W. L. Stribling III., a cotton topped kid of 4, and Ma Stribling are easy to interview at any time, any place. They'll stop in the center of a milling throng at State and Madison during the rush hour and talk for publication. But what they say is trivial in comparison with the new scowl Willie Stribling the fighter has acquired.

Acquired It in England.

This fresh scowl starts at the corner of Willie's square chin, reaches up past his closely set black eyes, extends on through his narrow forehead and fades away into his bushy black hair. It isn't a scowl of short duration. It lasts hour after hour. Willie probably goes to sleep with it, for it is a scowl that would put to shame the Dempsey scowl when the famous old mauler of yesterday was knocking his foes in all directions.

Last night while the Striblings were at dinner Pa and Ma explained that Willie picked up the scowl in England not many months ago at the time he fought Phil Scott, the noted Britisher who sleeps soundest where the resin is thickest.

"He never scowled before that fight," says Ma Stribling. "Willie was a happy, smiling boy from old Georgia when he told me good-by at the pier as he sailed for England for the fight. He came back with a scowl which may make him a champion, but I don't care much about it. He looks too furious."

Even His Diet's English.

Then Pa Stribling had something to say. "Willie began to scowl in the first round of the fight with Scott," he said. "When he knocked Feinting Phil down four times in the first round and Phil refused to stay down the scowl came over him and it has never disappeared."

Willie Stribling the fighter had just finished quite a large ration of beef and tea, a training menu he picked up in England. He tried to smile through his scowl as Ma and Pa Stribling talked on and on. But it was just a fair smile. The scowl was much better.

If Tuffy Griffith is to become alarmed at a scowl he hasn't much chance with this scowling Cracker from Georgia. But it usually has taken a punch in the chin to drive Griffith back on his heels or to the canvas.

While Willie Stribling was having his beef and tea, Pa Stribling was asked why Willie has been considered a defensive, uninteresting fighter in many of his contests.

How He Got That Way.

"I think I'm to blame for that," said pa. "We Striblings were out on the leaky roof vaudeville circuit at about the time Willie was 5 years of age. He showed great cleverness at boxing and, in order to sell our act for a few more dollars, we advertised that Willie would fight any boy of his weight and age in any town, agree not to hurt his opponent and if any of the local boys could knock Willie down a prize of $10 awaited them.

"This went along for half a dozen years. Willie was never knocked down. He never hurt an opponent. Willie was taught to keep out of danger. One night in Marion, Ind., seventeen boys, one after another, charged at Willie and not one of them hit him.

"It has taken many years for him to get away from his first tricks of fighting on the defense. Maybe the scowl came at about the time he discovered he had to hammer down his foes as well as keep out of range of their hard punches."

The Chicago District Golf association, in its annual meeting last night at the Mid-Day club, voted to extend membership territory to a maximum limit of 200 miles from Chicago. The exact area in which clubs may apply for membership was referred to the executive committee for definition.

Clubs from central Illinois, western Indiana, southern Michigan, and Wisconsin now will be eligible to compete in the district events. It is estimated the new clubs will double the entry lists of the major contests.

Officers of the association were re-elected for the coming year. They are George W. Blossom Jr., president; Guy M. Peters, vice president; John H. Merrell, treasurer, and Joseph G. Davis, secretary.

Oak Park, Mission Hills, Casa del Mar, Medinah, Knollwood, Sunset Ridge, North Shore, and Olympia Fields offered the use of their courses for tournaments of the coming year. Awards will be made later.

Robert M. Cutting, vice president of the United States Golf association, predicted an interesting tournament year. The retirement of Bobby Jones will see the pick of the pros battling for the vacant crown, Mr. Cutting said, and the new ball undoubtedly will bring changes in the style of the better players.

BOWEN QUINTETS HAND LINDBLOM DOUBLE DEFEAT

Bowen's basketball teams opened their season yesterday with a double victory over Lindblom on the former's court, the heavies winning, 22 to 12, while the lights took a 26 to 17 decision. Orr for Bowen and Hamilton for Lindblom were the heavyweight stars. Sloan scored eleven points for the Bowen lights, while Carlson dropped in four baskets for the losers.

St. Mel administered a double defeat to Austin in a practice pair on the Catholic leaguers' floor. Shubert led the St. Mel heavies to a 24 to 14 victory, while Crowley stood out in the lights' 21 to 18 win with six points. Rosenfelt, Araman and Orlowsky featured for the losers.

Wendel Phillips' City league champions, led by Capt. Agis Bray with seven baskets and three free throws, defeated Tuley, 36 to 7, but the Tuley lights evened it with a 26 to 21 victory over the home lights. Lakin featured with four baskets.

St. Philip heavies invaded Englewood's floor for a 22 to 17 victory while the Englewood lights took a 26 to 20 game to divide the program.

BY BOB BECKER.

Illinois sportsmen and land owners have a piece of work ahead of them this winter if enough Bob Whites are going to be brought through the winter to provide seed stock for the 1931 crop of birds. Since we put the question, "Where are all the quail this fall?" a couple of weeks ago, we have had a number of letters from farmers and sportsmen downstate and all stress these two points:

1. The birds simply are "not" this year, due to a marked shortage in coveys.

J. E. Kerr of Hoopeston, Ill., concurs with the findings of other Illinois hunters who have reported few birds this fall. He writes:

"A friend and I were at Salem, Ill., for two days and in that time we found just two small coveys behind dogs of proven ability. Many other hunters who have hunted that territory for years related similar experiences. I hunted the same place last year and the quail were so numerous that the limit could be easily killed in three hours without a dog."

Mr. Kerr believes that it "will take hard work on the part of the conservation department, the sportsmen, and the land owners if we are to have many quail next season. The birds must be fed through the winter and everybody must cooperate."

M. E. Hanson of Rossville, Ill., blames the foxes for cleaning out the quail (as well as rabbits) in his territory. He says that he saw quite a few quail, prairie chickens, and pheasants this summer, but there are not many around now.

Boston, Mass., Dec. 2.—(UP)—The Boston Bruins jumped into second place in the American division of the National Hockey league tonight by upsetting the Toronto Maple Leafs, 3 to 2.

The speedy visitors deserved the victory, but Tiny Thompson, Boston goalie, ruined all but two of the Toronto dashes, most of which were led by King Clancy.

as far back as the memory of the oldest football fan does not reach, but the new drinking customs of the football season distinguish the so-happy events of the autumn with a special significance.

Wets Are Wetter Now Than Then.

I see drunker drunks and more of them nowadays in the hotels, in the trains, on the streets, and on the football arenas than I ever saw on Broadway when Al Smith was being reelected governor or one year was merging into another at midnight, and the sense of the attendance seems to be that a football game is no dice unless it be seen as an r' oholic blur.

Not so much in the actual arenas, however, as in the hotel corridors and suites and along the sidewalks are the evidence of the new tradition to be observed. The night before a big game finds the celebrants demonstrating forward passes to persons unknown, but no less acceptable socially, for that. There is much random visiting from suite to suite, much exchange drinking, and great confusion.

A few seasons ago the management of a Los Angeles hotel expressed impatience with the adherents of a football team which had been victorious in a big game that day, because these persons had dropped not only their empties out the high windows, but some very substantial articles of furniture, as well. At the time this implication of rude disorder on the part of a football attendance was regarded as something of a scandal, but I don't believe any hotel manager of any experience at all with football crowds would complain of similar routine pranks today.

It's Becoming National Custom.

The drinking customs of the football season are not local to any section of the country, but are national customs now, and while I would not undertake to say that the undergraduates take part in these festivities neither would I assert they don't. In fact, there is an odd, limp, oblivious state of helplessness which seems to be the special style of the undergraduate when he has been squinting too earnestly at his liquor and I feel almost sure that some of the Monday hangovers from the week-end football festivities are carried into the college classes.

This is something that ought to be put a stop to, as the letters to the London Times so often say, lest the nation one of these autumn days comes down with an epidemic of drunkard's liver, to say nothing of the expense of a million pints a week at an estimated average of $5 a pint.

A Cash Saving On Your Automobile Insurance Policy

Last year this return amounted to $711,332.11. Many members save enough to pay their annual tire bills. The Inter Insurance Exchange always has returned 20% of the amount paid the "exchange" for insurance coverage.

In addition to the cash saving to subscribers, other features will appeal to you. For example, most insurance policies exclude coverage on tires and accessories; yet it is far more likely that a thief will steal your spare tire than that your car will be stolen. The "exchange" does cover accessories and at no additional cost.

The "valued form" policy is still another feature that accounts for the growth of the "exchange." In the event of total loss, you are paid the face value of your policy, the amount upon which you have paid insurance.

The "exchange" settles claims quickly and satisfactorily. Claims are not referred to a distant "higher up." Home office service, and other features explain why insurance sales in 1929 amounted to approximately four million dollars. The policy issued covers you anywhere in the United States or Canada.

A few of the services available to members are:

Free mechanical first aid and towing service at any hour of the day or night.

Travel service, which provides you with maps, logs and the most complete and up to the minute advice on road conditions.

Bail bond service, which guarantees your appearance in traffic violation cases, where a bond not in excess of $100 is demanded.

Accident prevention work, which seeks to cut accidents, especially among school children, by means of safety posters and by fostering school boy patrols.

Home district service, which attends to special conditions around your home, such as seeing to it that refuse is promptly removed.

Sixty-four branches: 34 downstate; 30 in Cook county.

There is a branch in your neighborhood.

Does your child catch Cold easily?

Children who catch cold easily, who have sore throat or tonsilitis, are usually in a weakened, run-down condition.

Because they do not secure from their food the vitamins necessary for growth, they become weak, thin and pale, they cannot hold their own at school or play, they tire easily and do not have the strength to resist disease.

If your child is facing the winter in a half-sick, run-down condition, start with Father John's Medicine at once. Countless mothers have proved its merit. 184 hospitals and institutions use it regularly.

Father John's Medicine is a combination of cod liver oil with other valuable ingredients that brings to your child the vitamins so necessary for growth and strength. Because of its scientific preparation it is easily assimilated by even the most delicate stomach. Children thrive on it amazingly.

You will be surprised how your child will pick right up. Pale cheeks glow with health and strength. Hollows fill out. Weight is added. Bones become strong, muscles hard. The child becomes vigorous and healthy.

Father John's Medicine is a simple food medicine that contains neither drugs nor alcohol. It could not harm even an infant. Just ask your druggist.

FORMER AURORA BOY, NOW TROJAN, WORKS LIKE ONE

Apsit to Have Busy Day Against Notre Dame.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—An Illinois boy who played football at West Aurora High school may hold the key to victory for Southern California in Saturday's football game here with Notre Dame.

Marger [Mig] Apsit, who started his athletic career at Aurora, and who now lives with a sister in Glendale, Cal., will carry a heavy responsibility against the invading Irish. Apsit plays left half back on the Trojan team. The player in the position on the Southern California eleven never carries the ball, but interferes, blocks, smashes opposing interference, and is supposed to scent passing and running plays aimed at the left end of the Trojan line.

Scored Twice on Passes.

Apsit's role offensive work in three games at this post has been to catch forward passes. Notre Dame rooters may remember him as a lad who was good at it, for he caught two, both good for touchdowns, against Rockne's teams in past games.

Apsit's responsibility Saturday will be heavier than it ever was. He will be playing secondary defense behind a third string left end, and whatever mistakes originate from the third string end's inexperience or inefficiency Apsit must be prepared to correct in a fraction of a second.

Southern California's first and second string left ends have been eliminated by serious injuries in the last two games. Howard Wilcox sustained a brain concussion and cerebral blood clot in the Nov. 15 game with Hawaii.

Sparling Wrenches Knee.

Wilcox's understudy, Ray Sparling, was carried to a hospital in the first quarter of Thanksgiving day's struggle against University of Washington. He still carries his wrenched knee in a plaster cast.

The left end position now devolves upon Howard Joslin, 170 pound third stringer, who replaced Sparling last Thursday. After Joslin went in Apsit stayed as close to the sub end through the remainder of the game, with whispered conferences, encouraging slaps, and the benefit of his nearby presence as a best man stays to a harried bridegroom.

Apsit's job will be the same against Notre Dame. He will buttress the inexperienced left end, as well as handle the duties of his own exacting job.

He Can Handle Both Jobs.

But Apsit, a blonde 180 pounder, 5 feet 11 inches tall, whose features bear an unusual resemblance to President Hoover's, is physically and mentally capable of carrying the added duties of assistant left end if any Trojan regular is. As a matter of fact, several coaches of Southern California's far west rivals chose Apsit for their nominee as the most valuable Trojan player.

In the Washington game Apsit coasted along within a couple of arm-lengths of Jimmy Phelan's far spread right end, protecting against forward passes, until certain that no passes were coming that way.

This had to be remarkable intuition because Washington tried 35 forward passes against Southern California. Then, when he decided there was no pass coming to his end, Apsit had speed enough to turn and dash into the mass of Washington interference heading toward the Trojans' left end, where end or tackle was already taken out.

He'll Be Sure to Get Work.

He undoubtedly will be put to the test, for such a field general as Frank Cavideo will not allow a third string end to go untried with passes and running plays.

Southern California held no scrimmage this afternoon. Jones and his first two assistants, Aubrey Devine and Cliff Herd, who scouted Notre Dame in recent games, went through Rockne formations with their men. They spent practically all their time with the line men.

The drill was private, but it is common knowledge here, without betraying any Southern California coaching secrets, to say that Metzger, Notre Dame's 158 pound guard, is one of the spots which will be hit for expected gains. Jones has a couple of new power play formations and some new passing plays, all specially devised for Notre Dame.

Cubs Offer Cardinals $50,000 for Bottomley

dication of what kind of a spot John McGraw, the Giant manager, expects to find for Lindstrom. The Giants could use Waner, but would have to think up an offer involving some fellow other than Lindstrom because the Pirates already possess a pretty good third baseman in Pie Traynor. McGraw has a habit of shipping his fading stars to Boston so there is a chance that Lindstrom might be sent in that direction, possibly for a pitcher.

Cubs After Whitney.

Manager Hornsby, while inclined toward secrecy about the possibilities of getting Bottomley, admitted this evening that he had no hopes of getting Third Sacker Whitney from the Phillies. At one time recently the acquisition of the lad looked probable, but something rose up to prevent the purchase. However, if Bottomley is obtained and he proves he can hit as he did for several years with the Cardinals, Hornsby will be perfectly satisfied to go along with Lester Bell on third base. He thinks Bottomley would offset any weakness Bell might develop.

Bell is to be taken to the Catalina island training camp with the pitchers and catchers. Hornsby thinks that the extra week of work for the veteran will eliminate the possibility of a dead arm such as kept the ex-Cardinal and ex-Brave out of action most of last season. Another training item on which Hornsby has decided is a program of one workout a day. Under Joe McCarthy the boys worked in the morning, shed their uniforms for lunch and put them back on in the afternoon. And the regular pitchers who took life easy when McCarthy was boss are going to be asked to throw regularly in the daily spring camp batting practice.

Moore to Help Stephenson.

Another thing touched on by Hornsby was the playing of Riggs Stephenson in left field. Stevie has been mentioned as one of those likely to be moved out. In Rogers' present scheme Stevie is billed to play in about two thirds of the 154 scheduled games. Allowance is being made for the Alabama veteran's infirmities which kept him out of action part time last season. The man counted on to fill in when Stevie is resting is Johnny Moore, recalled from the Los Angeles club. This would indicate that either Dan Taylor or Cliff Heathcote, last year's utility outfielders will spend next summer in the minors.

MAY REOPEN DRAFT ISSUE

MONTREAL, Que., Dec. 2.—(AP)—The five non-draft minor baseball leagues today offered to reopen the whole draft question with the majors if the latter withdraw within 15 days their threats to sever business relations with the five circuits.

The action of the five minor leagues was taken at a conference of the International league, American association, and Pacific Coast league, class AA organizations, and the class A Western league. The fifth non-draft league, the class B Illinois-Iowa-Indiana league, was not represented at the conference, but was ready to go along with the others.

Next Move Up to Major.

The majors, which are attempting to make the draft principle universal by applying it to all minor leagues, recently issued an ultimatum to the effect that if the five non-draft leagues failed to accept the draft they would lose the advantage of business dealings with the American and National leagues. It is this ultimatum that the non-draft organizations ask the majors to dithdraw before they will make any effort to adjust existing differences.

If and when the majors withdraw their threat, the nondraft leagues will appoint a committee of twelve, three from each of the AA circuits, two from the Western and one from the Three Eye, to meet with a committee from the majors for the purpose of coming to some agreement on the draft, if possible.

302,089 SEE ILLINOIS PLAY FOOTBALL RIVALS

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Although football attendance at the University of Illinois home games slumped this season, the total attendance at Illini games was not far behind last year. Approximate figures announced by C. E. Bowen, business manager, give a total attendance of 302,089 as compared with 321,357 last year. Illinois' share of receipts at home and abroad is estimated at $291,637, as contrasted with $339,880 in 1929. However, the 1929 home season was unusual, with both Michigan and Army drawing big home crowds.

This figure for receipts is gross, as expenses are not deducted. All future profits are pledged to the construction of an artificial ice skating rink to cost $325,000. The 1930 figures follow:

At Illinois—Iowa State, 32,718 (including school children); Butler, 8,371; Northwestern, 52,000; Purdue, 25,000; Ohio State, 16,000.

Cubs Give Up Reading Club; Order It Sold

Reading, Pa., Dec. 20.—(AP)—The Chicago National league baseball club definitely threw up the Reading franchise in the International league tonight. William L. Veeck, president of the Cubs, announced Chicago's withdrawal from Reading in a letter to E. J. Poole, president of the local club. Veeck said the Cubs were withdrawing because of their inability to give Reading the kind of club this city deserves. He said the Chicago team could not operate two class AA clubs, and, as it is closely allied with the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast league, decided to throw up the Reading franchise.

Veeck asked Poole to negotiate sale of the club. Seventeen players on the reserve list will go to the purchaser. Chicago bought the franchise from William Ashton of Baltimore.

BRUINS TO PLAY ROCHESTER PROS HERE TONIGHT

Rochester's Centrals and the Chicago Bruins resume their series in the American Professional Basketball league at the Chicago Stadium tonight. Picked teams from Carson-Pirie-Scott and the Hub will play for the mercantile championship of State street in a previous game.

Nat Hickey, Bruin forward and chief scorer, will return to the game, following a three day respite necessitated by an injury sustained during practice just before the last meeting with the Centrals last Saturday night. Hickey turned his ankle and was unable to play against Cleveland Sunday, even though he stuck it out Saturday long enough to defeat the Centrals by a point in overtime.

Football Teams to Play Indoor Game Saturday

The 124th field artillery football team will meet the Selz-Southman eleven in the new 124th field artillery armory, 5200 Cottage Grove avenue, Saturday night. This will be the first athletic program that has ever been held in the armory. Arrangements have been made to seat 6,000.

Following the football game there will be a polo match between the 124th field artillery team and Ohio State university.

FOOTBALL PROFITS.

PURDUE'S necessity of curtailing competition in nonpaying sports because football receipts did not come up to expectations may well give a new line of thought to those who imagine all college athletic treasuries are bulging as a result of football profits.

The public is accustomed to reading of enormous crowds at gridiron combats. That is true for leading schools with winning teams whose fields are accessible to districts of large population. With a majority of American colleges, however, it is a budget battle to provide enough funds for the customary athletic activities.

In a recent discussion of this subject we sat in with two of the best informed men in the country concerning college sport and its financing. Their estimate was that not more than 25 out of 1,000 institutions above high school rank make enough money to pay running expenses of their intercollegiate and intramural departments together with their physical education program and interest on their indebtedness.

Among the colleges and universities included in the twenty-five were Northwestern, Michigan, Ohio State, Wisconsin, Illinois, Nebraska, Notre Dame, Dartmouth, Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Army, Navy, New York U., Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh, and Carnegie, University of Southern California, California, Stanford, and Washington.

In a recent study of financial budgets in sixty American colleges, figures revealed that in none of these institutions were athletic receipts adequate to pay the entire cost of the physical education and athletic programs.

The Wake never has begrudged colleges their gridiron receipts. We have thought the price of admission, even when as high as $5 per seat, was reasonable compared with theatrical or opera attractions, and more than reasonable compared with pugilism.

If intramural athletics are desirable, which appears the consensus even of those opposed to the so-called "overemphasis" of collegiate struggles, then funds must be found to pay the freight. Those funds either must come from football profits, assessments, direct or indirect, from the students, or college money needed for other purposes.

Instances where football profits are misused are so rare they may be dismissed as negligible. They are applied to further athletic and recreation programs or for sport buildings and equipment for the general undergraduate body.

ROCKNE CANCELS CHARITY GAME IN N. Y. WITH GIANTS

But Walker Expects Four Horsemen to Play.

New York, Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Knute Rockne, Notre Dame coach, will not be able to be present when the Notre Dame Four Horsemen team meets the New York Giants professional team here Dec. 14 for charity, but the game will be played, Mayor Jimmy Walker announced this afternoon following a conference with his unemployment committee and newspapermen.

The mayor made the positive statement in spite of the fact that he had not yet communicated with Rockne. He said the committee of sports writers would send a telegram to Coach Rockne on the train which is taking him and the Notre Dame team to Los Angeles for the game with Southern California and that Rockne would call the mayor by telephone.

The mayor said he was certain he could make the necessary arrangements in this telephone conversation to bring the Four Horsemen team here without Rockne.

The conference was called because of a telegram the mayor had received this morning from Rockne calling off the game. The telegram said: "Game will have to be called off. Doctor's orders. Regards."

TWO DEATHS MAY MAKE MONMOUTH DROP FOOTBALL

Monmouth, Ill., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Monmouth college may abandon football as an intercollegiate sport as a result of the death of two of the prominent members of the team this year, according to reports circulated here today.

Stanley McConnell, half back, died Sunday from a broken neck received in the Thanksgiving day game with Knox, when he fell on the frozen ground when tackled. Bob Sharpe, center, died after an infection resulting from an injury in the Lake Forest game.

McConnell's funeral was held in the college auditorium today. Sentiment both in the city and in college circles is said to favor abolition of the sport or if not that at least moving the schedule ahead so games will not be played on frozen ground.

MORE FRIENDLY BUYING HELPS GRAIN VALUES

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A more friendly feeling toward the buying side of grains prevailed on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday. While this was most apparent in coarse grains, efforts to buy wheat futures disclosed a lack of pressure on the major grain and the close was ⅝@1¼c higher. Trade in the aggregate was light, with strength coming mainly from sympathy with corn, and the firmness in Liverpool and Winnipeg, both of which were up rather sharply, especially the Canadian market. Old December here finished at 76¼c; March, 78⅝c; May, 80¼c, and July, 75¼@75½c.

Reports of frost in southern Argentina, where the new wheat crop is in a condition to be badly damaged, had some effect on Liverpool, which closed ½@1d higher. Winnipeg was easy early, but firmed up later on scattered buying, and closed 1⅛@1⅜c higher. Buenos Aires were unchanged.

Argentine Wheat Surplus.

How much wheat Argentina will have for export this season is still a mystery. Recent private estimates have suggested a total of around 165,000,000 bu, while Broomhall's agent made it 200,000,000 bu. In commenting on the latter figure Nat C. Murray of Clement-Curtis called attention to the fact that on Nov. 6, 1929, Broomhall's agent estimated the surplus at 164,000,000 bu, and on Dec. 4, 1929, lowered it to 148,000,000 bu, although American crop experts in the meantime had reduced their estimates on the crop materially. The actual clearances from Argentina so far this season have been around 85,000,000 bu, or about half of what the leading European authorities' agent had anticipated.

Millers are commencing to pay more attention to probable requirement of cash wheat and bought 117,000 bu from Chicago handlers yesterday. Foreigners were said to be actively bidding for Manitobas, although sales of the latter in all positions were finally placed at only 250,000 bu.

Broader Trade in Corn.

Corn market shows evidence of a material broadening in the trade. While there was free profit taking and also selling against offers, prices moved up in rather impressive style and the close was 2⅛@2½c higher, with old May selling at 82½c at the extreme, a new high on the present movement, and 4⅝c above the low of last week. Old December finished at 77⅜@78c; March, 80⅜c; May, 82¼@82½c, and July, 83¾@83½c.

Reports of a better cash demand, with indications of a very light movement to terminal markets from parts of Iowa, where feeders are taking the corn as fast as it is offered, and the limited arrivals at terminal markets combined to stimulate buying. Sentiment as a whole was more bullish than for some time, and commission houses generally advocated the buying side, especially on recessions. President Hoover's message called attention to the fact that the corn crop this year was around 700,000,000 bushels than the average. As a result of the advance in futures the country sold 95,000 bu to arrive.

Oats Get Attention.

Oats are coming in for more attention. There was fairly persistent buying of the May delivery during the day, which the pit element attributed to adding to a long line by a leading local professional. There was no material pressure on the market and the deliveries on December futures have been sufficient to take care of the greater part of the local contract stock. Closing trades were at net gains of 1⅛@1½c, with December 36c and May 38⅝c.

Short covering was on in December rye, which found offerings small, and at the top the nearby month showed 6½c above Saturday's finish and sold within 1⅝c of the May.

CASH-GRAIN NEWS

Around 250,000 bu Manitoba wheat was sold for export on overnight offers from Winnipeg and there was some business put through from the Atlantic seaboard, but on the whole the foreign demand was rather quiet.

Local handlers sold 117,000 bu wheat, 75,000 bu corn, and 70,000 bu oats to the domestic trade, with 50,000 bu corn and 5,000 bu oats sold to go to store. Purchases of 95,000 bu corn were made to arrive. Deliveries on December contracts aggregated 263,000 bu wheat, 80,000 bu corn, 83,000 bu oats, and 25,000 bu rye.

Despite the best milling demand for cash wheat in some time, there was no change in the local spot basis. No. 1 red was 5@6c over, No. 2 red 4@5c over, No. 1 hard and No. 1 northern 2@2¼c over, No. 2 hard 1⅝@2c over, and No. 2 northern 1½@2c over December.

Official receipts of grain at Chicago Tuesday: Wheat, 8 cars; corn, 57 cars; oats, 15 cars; rye, 1 car; barley, 7 cars.

BUTTER AND EGGS

Butter futures recovered rapidly from an early break on the Chicago mercantile exchanges yesterday, gaining fractionally over the previous close. Egg futures were weak, opening lower and fluctuating within a narrow range. The close was unchanged to ⅛c higher. A favorable report in eggs failed to bring in substantial buying and the market drifted, closing ½@⅝c lower. Sales: Butter, 154 cars; eggs, 104 cars. Receipts: Butter, 8,228 tubs; eggs, 3,272 cases. Deliveries: Butter, 42 cars; eggs, none. Prices follow:

FIND EVIDENCE THAT BUSINESS IS NOT SO POOR

Volume Larger than Many Realize.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Despite all the complaints of slack business this year, there yet are various bits of evidence to show that the actual volume of trade has been larger than generally realized. And it wouldn't require much of a pickup to bring business back to the piping times of 1929 and 1928.

Two announcements appearing yesterday serve to prove the point. The weekly report of the American Railway association placed revenue freight loadings for the week ended Nov. 22 at 779,757 cars, which marked a decline of 49,494 from the preceding week and of 169,959 from the corresponding week in 1929. The comparisons indicate a current but seasonal slackening in trade and business considerably under the restricted level of a year ago.

Off Only 13 Per Cent.

But a better prospective of this year's business is gained by looking at the cumulative figures. Considering the movement of freight as one of the best indices of trade, the total movement for this year up to Nov. 22 was 42,401,483 cars, or a decline of less than 13 per cent from the same period last year and a decrease of less than 10 per cent from the same period in 1928, which was not marred by any stock market collapse or general depression.

Again, Montgomery Ward & Co., Chicago mail order and chain store concern, issued its monthly report on sales. It showed November sales totaling $22,401,426, a decline of $7,449,877, or 24.96 per cent, from November, 1929. This large decline was ascribed to abnormally mild weather, but another influence was the fact that merchandise prices are lower than a year ago.

However, sales of Montgomery Ward for this year to Dec. 1 have totaled $243,647,441, a decline of $12,083,864, or 4.73 per cent, from the same period last year. As this percentage decline in dollar sales is less than the average decline in commodity prices, it follows that the company has probably done actually a larger volume of business than last year.

Simultaneously with President Hoover's views of oil conservation in his message to congress yesterday came evidence that efforts in the industry to remedy overproduction continue to bear fruit. The daily average gross crude oil output last week was 2,265,900 barrels, a decline of 15,950 barrels a day from the preceding week, according to the American Petroleum institute. Sizable declines occurred in the California and eastern and some of the Texas fields.

Rumor Steel Price Boosts.

While not producing any definite good news, the steel industry was agog with renewed rumors that large producers are planning an advance in quotations for the first quarter of 1931. There have been several recent forecasts that leaders in the industry have sufficient confidence in the better prospects over the next few months to consider raising prices on bars, shapes, and plates.

Reflecting the deflation of stock market prices and speculative credit, the New York Stock exchange yesterday reported that collateral loans of its members stood at $2,162,249,002 last Saturday. This was the lowest total ever reported and marked a decline of $393,875,085 during November, while the current total is little more than half the figure of $4,016,598,769 on Nov. 30, 1929.

The New York Federal Reserve bank in its monthly review estimated the total volume of reported loans on securities for the whole country at about $10,500,000,000, compared with nearly $17,000,000,000 a year ago. This marks a shrinkage of around 40 per cent in the use of credit for speculation or the carrying of securities.

Boyle Hits at Government Interference in Marketing

BY SCRUTATOR.

Immediate amendment of the agricultural marketing act to take the government out of markets as buyer, seller or speculator, and the return of the half billion dollar revolving fund of the federal farm board to the treasury were declared necessary by James E. Boyle, professor of rural economy at Cornell university, yesterday. His remarks were made at a luncheon of the American Association of Creamery Butter Manufacturers.

It required the Canadian wheat pool six years to ruin the Canadian farmer and it will take the federal farm board only two or three years to ruin the American farmer if its present policies are continued, Prof. Boyle asserted.

Cites Other Failures.

"The farm board, working through its own coporations, is trying to influence prices by withdrawing the surplus in wheat and cotton from the markets and holding it for later sale. This is in reality the same program tried so unsuccessfully in British rubber and Brazilian coffee. Prices were raised at first, but the final effects were these: An increase in price fluctuations, an increase in surplus, and a crashing fall in price.

"Rubber was pushed from twenty cents to $1.20 a pound recently it sold at 8 cents, the low of all time. Coffee was boosted from 10 cents to 32 cents; it is now at 8 cents a pound. It is an economic law that artificial price control of farm products where there is a surplus is practically certain to increase this surplus and bring lower prices. The remedy is worse than the disease. Wheat and cotton are now having the same fate as rubber and coffee. When the board pegged cotton first it was 18 cents, now it is 8 cents. When it pegged wheat in 1929 it was $1.25, now it is 70 cents."

Is Futures Market Advocate.

Prof. Boyle, well known as an advocate of open futures markets as efficient distribution agencies, asserted that the presence of the government with unlimited funds in the markets had driven out individuals who ordinarily were willing buyers. One Minneapolis firm, he said, had lost 75 per cent of its customers. Limitation of the number of possible purchasers, he said, would result logically in lower prices.

President Hoover, the professor declared, as secretary of commerce, had protested against the British control of rubber, but is now subscribing to the same British principle transplanted to American soil.

In his opinion, the presence of the farm board as a money factor in the markets will encourage the production of surpluses, and carry-overs will become greater than can be handled Carrying charges alone are costing the government $36,000 a day on wheat, he added, while 120 million dollars of government money has been lent at interest rates ranging from 1 to 2 per cent and is being used by one set of competitors to drive other sets of competitors out of business.

Views on Farm Board.

As an instance he cited a farmers' coöperative in New York state which had lost $140,000 last year trying to hedge its grain purchases in the "government dominated markets."

The farm board, Prof. Boyle said, would be a valuable addition to present facilities if deprived of its speculative activities. It could collect and disseminate information, promote coöperation of farmers with bankers and dealers in commodities, and let prices take care of themselves.

"As no government ever has succeeded in controlling prices of agricultural products, the farm board should be relieved of an impossible task," he averred.

The butter manufacturer elected J. M. Harding, Omaha, president; B. M. Ruse, Duluth, vice president; T. A. Borman, Chicago, treasurer, and W. F. Jensen, Chicago, secretary.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 2.—The majority of Wall street men had not had time tonight to digest the contents of President Hoover's message to congress and weigh its significance, but a few salient points caught the interest of the financial community and evoked widespread favorable comment. These were the President's references to the Sherman anti-trust law, railroad consolidation, public utility regulation, and the income tax on capital gains.

In all cases the point of view expressed by Mr. Hoover found favor with financial leaders. The opinion has been gathering force in Wall street lately that the anti-trust laws need revision. The President's recommendation that congress institute an inquiry into the workings of these laws was therefore welcomed.

There is no desire on the part of leading industrialists and financiers, according to a leading banker, to see the laws changed so as to eliminate competition, but they believe that something should be done to enable business men to undertake constructive steps to prevent wasteful and destructive competition.

The tax on capital gains has long been regarded in Wall street as having a tendency to enhance speculation and prevent the natural liquidation of investments. Mr. Hoover's recommendation that a study of the economic effects of the tax be made was greeted as a timely and constructive move on the part of the government.

Western Railroads Request Upward Revision of Rates

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Western railway executives contended today that the entire transportation problems of that district should be gone into by the interstate commerce commission and a policy of upward revision of freight rates adopted.

In a letter to the commission the Association of Western Railway Executives asked that the effective date for putting into effect reduced grain rates, already ordered, be postponed for the period of the depression and for not less than one year from next Jan. 1.

They asked the commission to adopt a general policy of revising rates upward, instead of downward, investigate rail, motor, and water transportation, and oil and gas pipe lines, and recommend to congress legislation for regulation of motor vehicle and pipe line transportation.

Seek Profit Basis.

Revision of water freight rates from a flat 20 per cent under rail rates to a "basis that would enable private water carriers to operate at a profit" was requested, as was immediate revision of long haul freight rates upward.

Elimination of overhead rates and continuation of the present combination based on Chicago and related western gateways, was also asked.

Asserting that net operating revenues of lines in western classification territory had declined $112,382,733 during the first nine months of this year, the executives said they had later reports indicating further losses of $20,000,000 yearly. It was to try to offset these losses and make a fair return on their properties that they said they were asking the commission to act.

The executives indicated in a letter that only the business depression prevented them from asking an immediate upward revision of all western rates. They expressed a "sincere desire to ameliorate the difficult problems now confronting the commission, the railroads, and the general public to the end that there shall be no impairment of railroad service in the western district."

"Our suggestions made herein cannot be regarded as a panacea," said the letter, but are "simply a beginning."

Postpone Conferences.

New York, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Resumption of the conferences by representatives of eastern trunk line railroads seeking solution of the controversy over consolidations, scheduled for today, was said in Wall street to have been indefinitely postponed. Rumors yesterday were that an agreement was near.

It was understood that the postponement was due to the refusal of one of the larger systems to continue the negotiations. Representatives of the New York Central, Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio and the Van Sweringen group have participated in the parleys.

The differences between the eastern trunk line roads have been one of the chief obstacles encountered by the Interstate Commerce commission in furthering its plan for nationwide mergers into a small number of systems. The original plans embodied a proposal for four systems in the east, but the grouping met with some opposition and L. F. Loree, head of the Delaware and Hudson proposed a fifth trunk system. He acquired control of the Lehigh Valley and Wabash and later transferred control to the two roads to the Pennsylvania. The latest Interstate Commerce commission plan proposes a fifth system based on the Wabash.

BY FRED HARVEY.

New York, Dec. 2.—Prices worked slightly higher in the course of another extremely quiet day on the stock exchange.

The President's message made a favorable impression and doubtless was responsible for some of the activity on the buying side. At any rate, it was noticeable that the market began to perk up generally as the hour approached for the message's delivery and that its publication was followed by another spurt, particularly in the rails, which stand to benefit from the recommendations for necessary legislation to permit working out of transportation mergers.

There were hard headed traders about, however, to remind themselves and others concerned that presidential recommendations, no matter how constructive, are not always synonymous with congressional action and that a long, dreary winter of debate as a preliminary to anything calculated to really help business in its hour of great need is not without the range of possibility. Wherefore, the cautious ones argued, bullish enthusiasm had best be kept within bounds for a spell yet.

Many Share This View.

Evidently there were many to share this view of the situation for the day's turnover footed up to only 1,579,620 shares, less than a Saturday half season average in "normal" times.

Although gains of as much as 4 and 5 points were recorded in spots, the day's advance was not a very impressive affair her in scope or in point of activity generated by the upward tendency of the list. Rather the outstanding feature again seemed to be the complete absence of selling pressure of any consequence. The market was not called upon to absorb any important selling at any stage and, with traders accepting the lack of pressure as indicative of technical strength, the disposition was to try for a profit on the side of the advance.

GOV'T HAS DEFICIT OF $299,428,000 AT END OF FIRST FIVE MONTHS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—(AP)—The government finished the first five months of the 1931 fiscal year on last Sunday with a deficit of $299,428,000, approximately $91,000,000 more than the deficit for the same period a year ago.

The treasury's daily statement today showed the government had collected $1,137,115,000 in the five months and had spent $1,436,543,000. Both receipts and expenditures were less than for the same period of the previous year:

On the other hand, general expenditures for the five months totaled $976,749,941, an increase of $60,000,000 over the same period a year ago. Total ordinary expenditures amounted to $1,371,454,076 this year, as compared to $1,297,878,961 last year.

DECISION IS DUE BEFORE JAN. 1 ON PACKERS' CASE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Edgar Watkins, attorney for the American Wholesale Grocers' association, and William C. Breed, attorney for the National Wholesale Grocers' associations, intervenors in the case, occupied most of the time today. Mr. Watkins asserted that the decree was entered to prevent a long feared monopoly in the packing industry and maintained that that fear still existed.

Mr. Breed said that should the packers be allowed to retail, and should they establish 25,000 stores, that they would displace an equal number of independent dealers, and asked the court what was to become of them.

PARIS, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Relations between the Bank of France and the Federal Reserve bank of New York have become very close as a result of the visit of George L. Harrison, governor of the latter institution, to Paris, a high official of the Bank of France said today.

The official said that the business relations established concern the conditions under which loans will be made and where. He emphasized that as the two banks hold the largest amounts of gold in the world their interests are identical and their collaboration is therefore important.

CHICAGO STOCKS REACT KINDLY TO HOOVER MESSAGE

Moderate Headway Made by Many Issues.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The reaction of the speculative community to the President's message was a kindly one if the action of the stock market in the final stages yesterday can be interpreted as an expression of opinion by that group.

Prices on the Chicago exchange willingly followed the upward trend set by New York stocks. Market observers were inclined to attach significance to the market's behavior immediately following the presidential remarks. Certainly yesterday's demonstration was much more considerate than has been the case on similar occasions in the recent past.

Trading was carried on here at a slightly faster pace. Conspicuous strength was shown by a few issues, and one or two sore spots were uncovered, but the rank and file of the list made moderate headway on the up side.

Widest Price Ranges.

The widest price ranges in the list were in Gardner-Denver and Castle corporation. The former tumbled 5½ points in recognition of the reduction in dividends voted by directors on Monday. Castle spurted 4¼ points on a comparatively light turnover.

Other issues sponsored by the Burnham group, including National Standard and Nebilitt-Sparks, made creditable gains. Middle West Utilities closed unchanged after selling both above and below Monday's final quotations of 20¾.

The bulk of the sales in Continental Chicago and Chicago corporation common, both of which were unusually active, represented what was apparently trading for tax purposes. One block of 6,500 shares of Continental changed hands, while one transaction in Chicago corporation involved 10,000 shares. In each sale the approximate value of the stock transferred was $55,000.

Plan Dividend Boost.

Iron Fireman Manufacturing company stockholders have been notified that directors plan to increase the dividend on the common stock to $1.60 annually. The first payment under the new rate will be made in March. At present the stock is paying 25 cents quarterly. An extra of 50 cents was declared early this year.

The "rights" on Consumers company common stock expire Dec. 20 and will not be extended. At present the stock is selling below the price at which the new shares were offered to stockholders. To comply with legal requirements it was necessary for the company to offer the new shares to stockholders before attempting to dispose of them elsewhere. If stockholders do not exercise their option, which seems likely, the issue may be sold to other buyers for a price not less than that offered stockholders, or $5 a share.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH BUSINESS

Cook county, in which Chicago is situated, leads every county in the United States in the consumption of raw material used in manufactured products, according to the Illinois Manufacturing association. This was established in a survey by Edward R. Dewey, chief of the industrial section of the bureau of census. The value of material used in manufactured products in Cook county in 1929 was $2,048,071,339, according to the findings of the survey. Next to Cook county was New York with a total of $1,860,978,816, Wayne county, Michigan, was third with a total of $1,246,711,481 and Philadelphia was fourth with $980,776,106.

A belief that the textile industry has reached its low point and that general business activity will not show any serious cyclical declines below the October levels is expressed in the Textile Economist, publication of the research division of Tubize Chatillon corporation. "In general," it says, "the spirit of extreme pessimism which appeared as a result of the failure of business to revive this fall is turning to cautious optimism."

A. C. Marshall, vice president and general manager of the Detroit Edison company, said that at least $13,000,000 will be spent for new construction work next year.

The Wheeling Steel corporation has resumed operations in full at its Creek Mill plant, which has been working half time for ten weeks.

Two encouraging factors stand out in current trading in the country's machinery and machine tool markets, the American Machinist reports, adding that November sales totals were, by and large, equal to October levels and inquiries today are such as to inspire more confidence and hope.

Commercial failures in November totaled 2,031, a decrease of 4.6 per cent from the 2,124 reported in October, but an increase of 13 per cent over the number reported for November last year, R. G. Dun & Co. reports. It was the ninth month this year that failures numbered more than 2,000, only August and September falling below that figure.

Construction contracts of all types awarded during November in the metropolitan area of New York totaled $56,702,200, F. W. Dodge corporation reports. The figures compare with awards of $80,053,000 in October and $150,658,900 in November last year. The total for the first eleven months this year was $876,401,400, compared with $1,135,761,900 in the corresponding period of 1929.

Deposits of capital stock of the Diamond Match company under the reorganization plan are understood to be within about 960 shares of the required 97 per cent, set by the management as the figure necessary to make the plan operative. The time for deposit of stock has been extended to Dec. 8.

Directors of Hayes Body corporation have approved a plan for acquisition of Central Ohio Steel Products company through an exchange of securities. Stockholders of the steel company will receive 6 per cent convertible 10 year debenture bonds of Hayes Body in exchange for their holdings.

November shipments of pig iron in the Chicago territory were slightly above October, according to Pickands, Brown & Co., but December shipments, owing to usual seasonal decline, will probably fall below both November and October. Inquiries for the first quarter delivery are reported much heavier and sales are currently running at the largest volume of any time this year.

In a letter to stockholders the City Ice and Fuel company states that in view of satisfactory current earnings it is expected that the customary quarterly dividend of 90 cents a share will be continued in 1931 on the common stock. It also is stated that the indicated earnings per common share for the year ending Dec. 31, 1930, will equal the $4.69 a share earned in 1929.

The chamber of deputies at Mexico City, Mexico, yesterday approved the petition of President Ortiz Rubio for extraordinary powers to deal with financial matters. The senate already had approved the measure. The debt committee of the chamber of deputies today rendered a report recommending that $20,000,000 be set aside in next year's budget for payment of debts, although it is stipulated that any payments under the De Ocalamont agreement must await ratification of the agreement by the Mexican congress.

L. W. Baldwin, president of the Missouri Pacific railroad, said that conditions throughout the Mississippi valley, the west, and southwest territories served by the lines justify a greater degree of optimism than October gross earnings figures of the lines indicate. He said new industries located along the lines in October have an estimated promised business of 3,065 cars annually. Heavy rains have held back the loading of citrus and perishable vegetables, he said, and added that an increase of approximately 5,000 carloads is anticipated for the shipping season, which is just beginning in the lower valley.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—(AP)—A slightly easier tone developed in raw sugar today, due primarily to the setback in futures and prices showed reactions of about 1-32 of a cent. Early steadiness in raw futures was followed by sharp reactions under increased liquidation and Cuban selling, with the market closing 3 to 7 points net lower. The decline was due to the larger European beet sugar crop estimate, and to a report that Germany, with a large exportable surplus, may create some unexpected difficulty at the conference abroad and thus delay or perhaps even prevent the formation of any world-wide stabilization plan. Approximate sales, 45,350 tons. Closing prices follow:

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Cotton goods were in moderate demand today, with some gray cloth prices easier in second hands. New carpet season opened with prices from 10 to 30 per cent down and with many values closely approximating pre-war levels. Buying is good. Rayon producers anticipate an early agreement looking toward a further contraction of output. Wool goods were stimulated somewhat by cool weather, Silk was easier here.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 10,000 cattle, 29,000 hogs, and 12,000 sheep.

Competition for live stock was unusually brisk yesterday and all classes closed on the upgrade at the highest point of the day. Cattle showed strength directly after the opening, while lambs recovered Monday's loss. Hogs reacted sharply after a lower opening.

A deluge of shipping orders swept hog prices back to the high point of Monday, after a 10@20c lower opening. Outsiders bought more than 15,000 hogs, the largest number since early last March. Small packers and city butchers scrambled for stock on the early break, bringing larger houses on the market in midsession with the highest bids of the day. Only 5,000 were left at the close, including some held off the late market on the strength of the broad eastern demand for stock.

Gains at far eastern hog markets added zest to the trade. The general average price, due to the early break, moved down 5c to $8.10, while the extreme top was unchanged at $8.40, paid late in the day.

December Hogs Recover Loss.

Monday's decline in the market for December contracts increased orders for this month's hogs and sales yesterday were 10@15c above the opening of the week. December mediums opened at $8.10 and closed at $8.15, which was also paid for light weights for this month's delivery. March light at $8.90 showed 10c loss.

On the "to arrive" market mediums were offered for today's delivery at $8.25 and light weights were bid $8.10.

An increase of nearly 40 per cent in cattle receipts at the 20 leading markets during the first two days of this week failed to further weaken the position of the market yesterday. Good to choice steers ruled stronger. Choice 913 lb yearling steers topped the price list at $13.65, while $13.60 was paid for 1,137 lb. averages and $13.50 for 1,259 lb. steers.

Broader eastern demand did much to offset the increase in offerings and an advance in the wholesale market for beef increased the buying power of local packers. Cows and heifers sold mostly steady. Calves were steady to strong. Stockers and feeders, however, ruled weak to 25c lower.

Lambs Bring $8.75.

Lambs recovered most of Monday's loss and finished within 10c of the highest point in recent weeks. Choice native and fed western lambs sold to city butchers at $8.75, while $8.50 was paid by all interests soon after the opening. Offerings were below normal for Tuesday, the total at 9,000 comparing with 15,052 a week earlier and with 15,775 a year ago.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 10,000 cattle, 29,000 hogs, and 12,000 sheep, against 12,806 cattle, 20,160 hogs, and 13,333 sheep on the previous Wednesday and 14,587 cattle, 30,488 hogs, and 14,927 sheep a year ago.

MEAT STOCKS INCREASE

Stocks of meats at leading packing centers at the end of October were 149,448,000 lbs, compared with 129,672,000 lbs a month ago, an increase of 19,776,000 lbs in November compared with a decrease for the same time last year of 12,777,000 lbs. A year ago stocks were 187,000,000 lbs. Lard stocks are 11,302,000 lbs, a decrease for the month of 8,015,000 lbs, compared with a loss of 35,709,000 lbs for the same time last year, it being the largest reduction for the period in recent years. Stocks a year ago were 37,941,000 lbs.

Traders were given a surprise, both in the monthly showing of stocks and the action of the market. Foreign shorts were active buyers of December, bidding it up from $9.87½ to $10.35, with the close on a reaction to $10.22½, a net gain of 55c. Other months advanced 15 to 17½c. Liverpool lard was 6d lower on spots and 3d higher on December and other months unchanged. Export clearances were 702,000 lbs of lard, and 10,000 lbs of bacon. Cash trade was quiet. Hog prices were 10 to 20c lower early, but closed firm with the loss regained. Receipts at western markets were heavier than a week ago, but less than last year. Prices follow:

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 10,000 cattle, 29,000 hogs, and 12,000 sheep.	100	35	35	35	+ ⅛
Competition for live stock was unusually brisk yesterday and all classes closed on the upgrade at the highest point of the day. Cattle showed strength directly after the opening, while lambs recovered Monday's loss. Hogs reacted sharply after a lower opening.	600	8⅜	8	8⅜	....
A deluge of shipping orders swept hog prices back to the high point of Monday, after a 10@20c lower opening. Outsiders bought more than 15,000 hogs, the largest number since early last March. Small packers and city butchers scrambled for stock on the early break, bringing larger houses on the market in midsession with the highest bids of the day. Only 5,000 were left at the close, including some held off the late market on the strength of the broad eastern demand for stock.	200	5	5	5	....
December Hogs Recover Loss.	100	31¾	31¼	31½	— ⅛
Monday's decline in the market for December contracts increased orders for this month's hogs and sales yesterday were 10@15c above the opening of the week. December mediums opened at $8.10 and closed at $8.15, which was also paid for light weights for this month's delivery. March light at $8.90 showed 10c loss.	100	1	1	1	....
On the "to arrive" market mediums were offered for today's delivery at $8.25 and light weights were bid $8.10.	100	2½	2½	2½	....
An increase of nearly 40 per cent in cattle receipts at the 20 leading markets during the first two days of this week failed to further weaken the position of the market yesterday. Good to choice steers ruled stronger. Choice 913 lb yearling steers topped the price list at $13.65, while $13.60 was paid for 1,137 lb. averages and $13.50 for 1,259 lb. steers.	C
Broader eastern demand did much to offset the increase in offerings and an advance in the wholesale market for beef increased the buying power of local packers. Cows and heifers sold mostly steady. Calves were steady to strong. Stockers and feeders, however, ruled weak to 25c lower.	200	16⅝	16⅝	16⅝	....
Lambs recovered most of Monday's loss and finished within 10c of the highest point in recent weeks. Choice native and fed western lambs sold to city butchers at $8.75, while $8.50 was paid by all interests soon after the opening. Offerings were below normal for Tuesday, the total at 9,000 comparing with 15,052 a week earlier and with 15,775 a year ago.	700	7⅜	7¼	7⅜	....

SYNOPSIS.

Richard Chandos and his wife Leonie, former grand duchess of Reichtenburg, are visited at their estate near Littal, in Austria, by George Hanbury. A telegram arrives from Marya Salm, countess of Dresden, an expected guest, stating that she dare not come. Prince Paul, ruler of Reichtenburg, had hoped to marry Leonie and was incensed at her marriage to Chandos. Fearing for Marya's safety because of her friendship for Leonie, Chandos and Hanbury, with their servants Bell and Rowley, depart for Virgil, capitol city of Reichtenburg, where Marya resides. Because of the enmity of the prince they must enter the country in stealth. They drive to the frontier and leave Rowley with the car at a farm and proceed by foot. They befriend a peasant named Hamon who, in gratitude, leads them over the border by a secret path under a waterfall. In the town of Vardar they board a freight train for Virgil and hide in a motor car, which they discover is consigned to Prince Paul. Not able to leave the train before arriving in the station yards at Virgil, they are saved by the wit of Hanbury, who tells the officials that they are in charge of the car by royal command to deliver it to the palace. Hanbury drops Chandos and Bell at the home of Marya and drives on to deliver the car. Chandos secretly arouses Marya, who tells him she sent no message and that she plans to drive to Austria that night. Hanbury returns safely from the palace. The three men hide in the garden. They realize the telegram was a ruse to lure them within the power of the prince. Marya receives a phone call from the palace, telling her that the prince will call on her for tea. While the men are resting the prince enters the garden with a wolfhound. The dog finds their hiding place.

INSTALLMENT IX.
A PRINCE IN DISTRESS

The dog perplexed and bewildered, slunk to my feet. When I put down a hand he licked me and wagged his tail.

"This is treason," he said. "If you touch me——"

"Don't be a fool," I said shortly. "You know why I'm here. To take Mme. Dresden to Littal."

"Then why didn't you come openly?"

"How d'you know I didn't?" I said.

"Don't talk to me," he raved, and added a filthy oath. "You've the damned insolence to come here——"

"You brought me," said I, "by a lie. You suppressed Mme. Dresden's wire and sent another instead. Your service is so putrid that you didn't even know I'd arrived, but you knew I would come—if not today, tomorrow, provided only that you kept Mme. Dresden here. So you did her the dishonor of inviting yourself to tea."

This blunt indictment shook him, as well it might, and when I had done he was biting his nails like fury, for lack, I suppose, of words.

There was a moment's silence. Then he broke out.

"I will not set down his outburst which for abuse and incoherence would have disgraced a groom that was in his cups, but he offered no sort of denial to what I had said.

When he had done, I spoke.

"I tell you I have come to take Mme. Dresden to Littal. Will you give orders that we are to be suffered to pass? Now—on the telephone, to Elsa."

"'Suffered to pass'? We don't deal like that with traitors. We——"

My temper was getting frayed, and I cut the man short.

"No, but she is," he cried, pointing to Mme. Dresden. "She's my subject. And I find you here in her garden, when I visit her unattended and——"

"Do you charge that lady with treason?" said George quietly. "Because if you do, I'll give you the best of reasons for charging me with assault."

"Go on," said George sharply. "Do you charge her with treason, or no?"

"Then beg her pardon," said George. "Turn round and beg her pardon for daring to make a suggestion which you knew to be false."

Then he turned to the countess and bowed.

"I—I apologize," he said thickly, speaking between his teeth.

"Lip service," said George. "And here's danger. What do we do?"

As if in answer, the prince made as though to go by.

"Not yet," said George shortly. He slid a hand into his pocket. "Stand where you are."

"By God," said the prince hoarsely, and went very gray.

"Neither move, nor cry out," said George coolly. "Don't say I didn't warn you. Bill, I asked you a question. What do we do?"

"We go," said I. "In five minutes, with any luck."

With that I went to the countess and spoke in an undertone.

"There's no help for it," I said. "Send Carol to summon his chauffeur and, if he has one with him, the footman as well. Send them down here. Say he's hurt his foot or something, and he wants them to carry him out. Then yourself get ready to go. Hat and coat and just your things for the night. The instant you're ready come to the terrace steps."

"And he?"

"I am desperately afraid, Richard. Is there no other way?"

"I can see none," said I. "In the moment he found us here, the fat was burnt. If we cannot get some sort of start we're all of us done."

"Very well," said she, and hastened towards the house.

Now the last thing we wanted was trouble, that is to say, resistance, however slight. To be sure we were all three armed, but while a pistol is always an argument, it loses its force when a man is afraid to fire.

That the prince would give no trouble, I knew very well, for the man was an arrant coward and would have yielded an empire rather than risk his skin; but though I had little doubt that we could hold up his men, I feared that if they saw his distress, the instinct of bounden duty would compel them to put up a fight.

As I turned to call Bell from his perch I thought of the tree . . .

I know his royal highness demurred, but, if I ever listened, I cannot recall what he said. We were pressed for time and I fear we were none too gentle, but once George and I had hoisted him up the trunk, he saw the wisdom of taking Bell's outstretched hand.

An instant later he was lodged in a mighty fork, some twelve feet above the ground, and though with a little discretion he could have scrambled down, I think that he had no stomach for that sort of exercise, for he never moved a muscle, but clung to a branch with his face clapped against the bark, as though in peril of being washed off by some wave, declaring that he was slipping and that we should have his blood upon our heads.

As Bell slithered down to the ground——

"I advise you," said George, looking up, "to make no noise."

With his words, the two servants appeared and, Carol directing them, came clattering down the steps and running across the lawn.

"Good," said George. "You and Bell get out of sight and leave it to me."

When the men were close to the bushes, he cried out, "This way," and once they were under cover he stepped from behind a tree trunk and held them up.

Their surprise was ludicrous, and they looked from the pistol to each other as though they were dreaming some dream.

"Put up your hands," said George.

They did so dazedly.

"Now whether I hurt you," said George, "will depend upon you. But I want your coats. Bell, take them off. And their hats."

Good morning!

The mellowing influence of approaching Christmas is in the air, and exhibitors are wooing to their screens pictures that the entire family may enjoy. Under the "family party" classification comes "Man to Man."

This is a father and son story that occasionally scrapes beneath the surface and brings a tear. Both leading rôles are played with such simplicity, honesty and naturalness by Grant Mitchell and Phillips Holmes, respectively, that the characters seem to be living before you. Supporting players do their jobs in workmanlike and convincing fashion. Direction, lines, photography and sound satisfy. When you've said all that for a picture, you've said a lot, it seems to me.

The opening scenes show Michael, the boy, at college. He's a crack sprinter and so popular that it is expected he will be elected class president on the morrow. On the eve of election the news leaks out that his father, known as "Barber John," is a convict. Another day finds Michael on his way back to the little southern town whence he came. The careless cruelty of his classmates has made him an alien.

He is cordially welcomed by his father's old friends, who assure him that he should be proud and not ashamed of his dad, who has been doing time for eighteen long years.

"The man he killed SHOULD have been put out of the way. We'd 'a' done it ourselves!" say they.

But the sensitive Michael can't be happy. He's acquired a complex. He feels that everybody is sneering behind his back. When his father is released on parole he greets him with restraint, and life isn't easy for either "Barber John" or the boy. A bank robbery brings fever, complications, and, finally, great good health to the situation.

After the film gets under way it moves at an engrossing clip, taking you right into that little southern town and making you a participant in its activities. You feel as if you personally know all the folks, and when a mild mystery element develops you're as het up as pretty Emily over reaching the correct solution.

All in all, "Man to Man" makes good seeing.

Mr. Edward Horton will soon be known as Mr. False Position. The pictures are forever insisting that he be somebody he isn't.

He's been hailed as a horseman when he scarcely knows what a horse looks like. He's been sent up in the air in planes and cheered as an ace when to look out of a third story window makes him sick at his tummy. In "Once a Gentleman" you discover him as a perfect butler who finds himself in the unique position of being entertained as a certain Col. Carmichael, by bosom friends of his employer, and house guest of one of them—Bannister. Bannister's pretty housekeeper and bibulous son do much to make that visit one not to be forgotten, let me tell you!

The picture is nicely produced from all angles and the acting throughout is adept. You will be especially impressed by the work of the star, whose performance is smooth as silk, that of Emerson Treacy, as Bannister's unreliable offspring, and Mr. King Baggot's characterization of Oliver's employer. You remember King Baggot, matinée idol of the pioneer movies? [Looks and acts a bit like Putney Haight.] Lois Wilson is sweet—as usual.

The story at times has a hollow ring, but, the audience at the Rialto, of which I was one, enjoyed "Once a Gentleman."

COLLEGES RUN FOR ATHLETES, CLIMBERS, SENATOR LEWIS SAYS

Princeton, N. J., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—American colleges were called mere "nursing houses for athletes and society blooms" by Senator Elect J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois in an interview appearing in today's Daily Princetonian.

Senator Lewis predicts that if present trends continue the private university eventually will be abandoned for state institutional education "limited to the teaching of life's essentials."

Senator Lewis is a graduate of the University of Virginia and says his criticism applies to American colleges as a whole and that his alma mater is not excepted.

"Our large universities in America," he said, "are under indictment from the mass of American citizenship as institutions which care to do as little as possible for the education of the students, and everything for sports and amusements.

"It is generally accepted today that universities are simply the training grounds for muscular athletes, or the nursing houses for society blooms who hope for hothouse development through such agencies as Greek letter societies and glee clubs.

"The university of today is known more for its half backs and society full fronts than for renown to any student for classic knowledge, proficiency in medicine or engineering, or, indeed, for the needed information on statecraft, national government, constitutional liberty, or human justice."

Senn High to Present Play Two Evenings

"The Royal Family" will be presented by the dramatic department of Senn High school on Thursday and Friday evenings at the school auditorium. Miss Melita Skillen is directing the players in the semi-annual production, and Miss Nell Devine is in charge of the workers' division which attends to scenic and costuming effects.

Hutchins' New Plans to Begin in Next Year

Won't Upset Programs of Present Students.

Addressing 2,000 students in Mandel hall, President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago explained yesterday the fundamentals of the new educational plan which is to displace the present one at the university. Dean Chauncey Boucher of the college of arts, literature and sciences also discussed the plan.

Dr. Hutchins announced in his talk that it is hoped to start the new educational system at the 1931 fall term. Students enrolled under the present system will not be affected, he said. His explanation of the system was in answer to questions appearing in the Daily Maroon, student publication.

In commenting on the possible date for the opening of the new educational system, President Hutchins said students now enrolled would complete their studies under the present system. This statement brought a spirited round of applause from the assembled students. He next discussed the question of requirements.

No changes in the requirements for admission or the number of students admitted were contemplated, he said. In reply to another interrogation inquiring whether students under the new plan would be permitted to wander about for long periods without participating in tests, he said:

"As for his academic life, we do not propose to allow the student in the college to be homeless or an orphan. He will probably attend classes, write papers, take quizzes, and be given advice. Instructors will be required to report at the end of each quarter on a student's progress."

Eventually, comprehensive examinations will be the sole criterion of educational accomplishments for all nonprofessional degrees awarded by the university, Mr. Hutchins declared. As to extra curricula activities, those, he said, should not be affected for they are student matters that should continue so long as interest in them exists.

Barrymores Return to U. S. from 6,000 Mile Cruise

San Pedro, Cal., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—John Barrymore, his wife, Dolores Costello, and their 7½ month old baby, Dolores Ethel, disembarked today after a 6,000 mile cruise. Barrymore said he almost has recovered from jungle fever. He added that the baby was a fine sailor.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Another American artist put in a bid for public favor last night when Emma Redell, soprano, made her Civic Opera company debut as Elisabeth in "Tannhaeuser," and as the curtain fell on the second act the demeanor of the audience showed that she was getting it in full measure.

Miss Redell is the possessor of a voice that, while being neither the most powerful nor the most brilliant in the world, is of agreeable quality and symmetrical breadth up and down its range. The internal evidence of the rôle shows that Wagner must have had an evenly developed voice in mind when he wrote the music, wherefore she was a good choice for it.

Theodore Strack returned to the company for the first time this season in the part of Tannhaeuser and sang it considerably better than he was wont to do last year. It may be true that the duet in the second act between him and Miss Redell registered as the comfortable tepidity of kindly feeling rather than the scalding heat of passionate fervor, but it was ably and honestly sung and memories thereof are kindly.

A third change brought Edouard Habich into the cast, and he in the minor part of Biterolf succeeded in making a definite characterization.

The first part of the evening was devoted to a visit to Orchestra hall, where Walter Gieseking, a pianist of large frame who excels in delicate effects, was engaged in giving a recital after an absence of some time from Chicago. The Bach partita in B flat was played with marvels of grace and daintiness; the Beethoven C minor sonata, opus III, sang exquisitely where song was in order but did not quite come up to expectations where majestic grandeur was demanded. The rest of his program was varied, a group of Brahms and Chopin followed by another by Marx, Szymanowski, Debussy, and Ravel, but these could not be heard.

Urges Doctors Co-operate in Fighting Skin Cancers

"If the cases would all present themselves and if it were made easier for physicians to exchange information on the subject, practically one hundred per cent of all skin cancer cases could be cured," he said.

"Eighty-five to ninety-five per cent of all cases that present themselves to the radiologist are cured either by X-ray, radium or electro-surgery. People generally, even doctors, do not realize the vast amount of knowledge on cancer of the skin accumulated in the last 25 to 35 years."

THE STAGE

THE Theater Guild will stage "In the Meantime," by Claire and Paul Sifton, at the Blackstone theater Monday evening, Dec. 29, as the third play in its Chicago subscription season. This production will come here before it has been seen in New York. It is having its first performance in Baltimore this week, with engagements in Washington and Pittsburgh to follow.

The authors are newspaper folk, Mr. Sifton being on the Sunday staff of the New York World. Their play is called a melodrama of ideas. It takes place on the eve of a woman's execution for murder and shows how the ramifications of the case involve the family of the foreman of the jury that pronounced her guilty.

The cast includes Glenn Anders, last seen in Chicago as the doctor in "Strange Interlude"; Linda Watkins, Frederick Perry, Josephine Hill, Harriet McGibbon, Maud Allen, Harold Vermilyea, and Robert Strange. Philip Moeller attended to the stage direction and the settings were designed by Woodman Thompson.

"As You Desire Me," by Luigi Pirandello, had its first acting in Philadelphia last Monday night with Judith Anderson in the leading rôle. This play will follow "Michael and Mary" at the Harris theater four weeks hence under the auspices of the Dramatic League of Chicago. . . . "Purity," with Florence Reed as its star, opened in Boston the same evening under the auspices of the Professional Players, which is the eastern equivalent of the Dramatic League label. It is of French origin; its author bears the name of Réné Wachthausen.

The end of the long New York run of "Strictly Dishonorable" is in sight. This amazingly successful little comedy will close its engagement at the Avon theater Jan. 3 with a record of 557 performances on Broadway. After five weeks on the subway circuit, the company will be sent to London, to open March 3.

Gregory Ratoff has dropped out of the cast of "Three Little Girls," at the Great Northern, and is planning another venture as impresario. He has Gina Malo, of "Sons o' Guns," under contract to make her American debut as a dramatic actress in Chicago next March. A comedy from Paris by M. Noziere will be her vehicle. Mlle. Malo, who was originally a Miss Flynn of Cincinnati, but who has become thoroughly Gallicized, played the leading woman's rôle in the Paris production of "Broadway," and will not be at a loss in a rôle that has no song cues.

A three act comedy by James Weber Linn, professor of English at the University of Chicago, will have its first performances next Friday and Saturday nights. It will be staged by the University Dramatic association in the Reynolds club theater. A third performance will be given Saturday, Dec. 5. C. C.

ANTWERP, Belgium, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Prof. Albert Einstein and Frau Einstein left here at noon aboard the liner Belgenland for the United States. There they will visit with friends.

"I hope this trip will make him feel better," the scientist's wife said. "He looks so pale. He never takes enough rest. I'm glad he decided to take this holiday."

Somebody told Prof. Einstein that there was a radiophone aboard the ship so that he might talk with friends on either side of the ocean whenever he felt like it.

"I hope," said he, "these journalists are not going to call me up in the middle of the ocean and ask me how I slept the night before."

Society Dinner Gives $70,620 for Children

Home and Aid Society Will Benefit.

A total of $70,620 was raised last night for the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society at the dinner party given by Henry H. Porter at his home, 1520 State parkway.

The amount was far in excess of the most hopeful estimates of the fund committee. Its members had put the figure at around $50,000. The response of the guests was a source of deep gratification to Mr. Porter and his friends.

The subscription pace was set by Mr. Porter himself with a check for $10,000. One for the same amount was written by Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, who with Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed and Mrs. Waller Borden assisted Mr. Porter as hosts and hostesses.

Other subscriptions ranged from $5,000 to $3,000, $2,000 and $1,000. There were many of the latter.

Thanks were delivered by many of the guests, but the feature speaker of the evening was Judge Mary Bartelme, who told of the good the society had accomplished in relation to her work with the juvenile court.

Mrs. Waller Borden wore a black velvet with diamante trimming; Princess Cantacuzene was in gold cloth; Mrs. Barrett Wendell in a bright red satin gown trimmed in brown fur; Mrs. Chauncey McCormick in red velvet; Mrs. Rosecrans Baldwin in periwinkle blue and Mrs. Nevins Johnson in white chiffon.

A particularly interesting number on the entertainment program was the dancing by Miss Ines de Soriano, daughter of the Marquis and Marquise d'Ivanrey.

So the work of President Hoover's recent White House child welfare conference will not end in mere resolutions and committee reports, various Chicago agencies are to join forces for action.

That decision was reached yesterday by the Chicago delegates who attended the White House conference. They met in the Palmer house, as arranged by Health Commissioner Kegel and Supt. Bogan of the public schools.

Mr. Bogan declared that much of the valuable work of the national conference of child experts will be lost to Chicago, unless definite effort is made. On his motion Dr. Kegel was authorized to appoint a welfare workers' committee on coördination to formulate action. Dr. Kegel will name the committee today. Kegel declared that 61 of every 1,000 babies in Chicago die in the first year and that of those 31 die in the first two weeks. That, he said, indicated the health of the mother was faulty.

Health and dental examinations at regular intervals for all school children were urged. It was pointed out that only six per cent of Chicago's school children are receiving such care.

MICHIGAN CO-EDS INSIST THEY ACT LIKE HUMAN BEINGS

Ann Arbor, Mich., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—University of Michigan co-eds do not behave like human beings, students here voted tonight after a debate between the men's and women's campus debating societies. The vote was influenced by the fact that more men than co-eds were present to vote.

Women ended their argumnts by making a dash for the men's team, rumpling their hair, and petting them until they fled from the platform. They did it to prove that they are subject to human stimuli, they said.

Both sides agreed that men like co-eds and don't understand them and that co-eds are gold diggers.

Girls Level Headed About Matrimony, but Why Complain?

BY DORIS BLAKE.

The subject is always good for an argument, other controversial themes running low. "John M." adds a personal history testimonial to the greater sentiment of which man is capable. In woman's choice of mate, she may have her heart on the man, all right, but she keeps a weather eye out for dollars, too. And in the twinkling of her "weather eye" she may readily shift her affections, if more security is assured, says John!

Men, John M. contends, are not so disposed where their hearts are affected. The heart dictates—not the head. If the girl is penniless, man can endow her with such rich attributes that she's rich enough for him. But women—they compute figures, dollars and cents, in their busy little brains, as they give back the adoring one's kiss.

One's impulse is to suggest, under the circumstances of complaint, that it is a good thing one of the sexes keeps it head. For money has to be reckoned into a matrimonial bargain, since the idea of two living as cheaply as one has been so thoroughly exploded.

However, there are countless women not running true to form, if John's charge holds good. Their hearts and nothing but land them in the sea of matrimony. From appearances, in some cases, their hearts and nothing but keep them tied to their respective choices. And that would seem to exonerate some of the sex.

With illusions about love subsisting on cheese and biscuit fare scouted by the generation that wants its facts about life and the continuation of love based on realism, who wonder if the girl does measure the bank roll, or the lack of it? What wonder if she uses her head to compute items of rent, groceries and child bearing fees?

It's an old urge in woman to view the martimonial prospect as a provider, an urge hard to down, though she may voice independence. And woman, too, on the whole, knows a great deal more about the financial needs of a home than a man does. Perhaps there is a reason for her being endowed with a sixth sense, a money one, if she has it.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Why Risk Friendship?

"Dear Miss Blake: My girl friend broke up with her beau about three months ago, but before he left the city he asked me to write him a letter some time. I haven't seen my friend for a few weeks now, and I'm wondering if it would be fair to her to write to her one-time boy friend. Or would you suggest that he write to me first? My thoughts of the young man are only friendly.

"UNDECIDED JEANNE."

You're not particularly interested in him, I take it, so why run the risk of creating any ill feeling between your chum and yourself?

May Be a Hint.

"Dear Miss Blake: If the girl I love sends me a pink rose, what does that mean? BLUE EYES."

Perhaps it's a hint. Young ladies are usually the recipients of flowers—not the donors.

Bright Sayings of the Children

Little Norman was asking about his relatives. His mother told him who his "in-laws" were, and Norman said, "If they were in Chicago they would be outlaws." J. I. M.

Emily Hamill Busy Attending Various Parties

BY THALIA

Miss Emily Hamill, daughter of the Robert W. Hamills of Hinsdale, has been having quite a gay time during the last few weeks since she returned from the east at the time her engagement to Fifield Workum of New York City was announced. She has been making up for her several years of work in the theater. Tomorrow she goes to New York City. There will be more parties for her there during her 10 day stay with her brother and sister-in-law, the Robert L. Hamills, of Cedarhurst, L. I. Mrs. Fifield Workum, her fiancé's mother, is giving a large tea for her on Saturday, the 13th, and there are other parties which she will learn about on her arrival. When she returns the wedding date and other details about her marriage will have been settled. The wedding is to take place in February.

Otis Chatfield-Taylor, another Chicagoan who has penetrated far into the fascinating mazes of Broadway dramatics, is to make a long delayed Chicago visit during the holiday time. Mr. Chatfield-Taylor has been engaged in various aspects of the production and playwrighting field and has recently been working on "Laughing Boy," which David Belasco was to stage. The producer is said to be awaiting a more favorable season. Otis Chatfield-Taylor is to arrive about Christmas time and will be with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Chatfield-Taylor, in Lake Forest for a week or so. The Wayne Chatfield-Taylors stay out in the country during the winter months and have an apartment at the Ambassador for the nights they want to stay in for parties or the theater.

Society's interest in Princess Alexandra Victoria of Schleswig-Holstein, who has been busily fêted since her arrival here last week, was further demonstrated yesterday afternoon by the throng of men and women who went to O'Brien's Art galleries to meet her and to view her pictures. Receiving with the princess, who wore a black crêpe frock trimmed in pink and a wide brimmed black hat, were her hostesses at the tea, Mrs. George Rasmussen and Mrs. Edward A. Leight, the latter in a vivid green velvet tunic dress and black tricorn hat.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. Haskell, Mrs. Nevins Johnson, Charles L. Strobel, Mrs. Francis T. A. Junkin, Ove Vett, Mrs. Vernon Herbst, Mrs. Hayden Harris, Mrs. Hugo Simon, and Mrs. William Niles.

Mrs. Robert W. Hyman is to give a luncheon today at her residence at 222 East Delaware place for Miss Virginia Waller and Miss Winifred Wheeler, afterward taking her guests to a matinée. The Hymans' daughter, Jean, has come home from her studies at the Masters school because of her health, and won't return to school until after the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scott, Miss Estelle Ward, Mrs. Ralph Winston, Mrs. George R. Nichols, and Harold C. Smith are among the members of the English Speaking union who have indicated their intention to attend the luncheon meeting at which Herbert Brookes, the new commissioner general for Australia in the United States, and Mrs. Brookes are to speak. It is to be at the Palmer house.

The White Elephant Rummage shop at 27 East Ohio street will hold its annual Christmas gift and toy sale today. Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, assisted by members of the board of the Children's Memorial hospital, will conduct the sale of gifts and the toy sale will be managed by a group of the junior auxiliary members headed by Mrs. Sangston Hettler.

Apropos Mrs. William Yager's tea and linen shower for the Passavant Memorial hospital, to be held at the Casino next Tuesday afternoon, the committee is anxious that the prospective guests know that towels, tray cloths and other linens besides the sheets and pillow cases mentioned in the invitations also are acceptable.

The Lake Shore League of Women Voters is to hold its next open session on Wednesday, Dec. 10, at 10 o'clock at the Fortnightly on Bellevue place. "Stabilization of Employment" will be the topic of the morning, with Miss Jane Addams and Dr. Benjamin Squires, ex-secretary of Gov. Emmerson's unemployment relief commission, as the speakers. The league's president, Mrs. A. A. Carpenter, will preside.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Otis and Dr. and Mrs. William N. Senn for the debut dance they are to give at the Palmer house on Friday, Dec. 26, for their daughters, Miss Florence Otis and Miss Barbara and Miss Dorothy Senn.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lockman Street and their debutante daughters, Miss Jeanne and Miss Katharine Street, have moved into town for the winter and have taken an apartment at 1245 Astor street.

Mrs. Oliver Dennett Grover is back in her studio apartment at 151 East Ontario street after five weeks of visiting in New York and Detroit.

Better Features of Modern Art Displayed at Chicago Galleries

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The tenth semi-annual exhibition by the artist members of the Chicago Galleries association, 220 North Michigan avenue, opens today. It is one of the finest that has ever been held in the gallery and can compete successfully with any current exhibition. It is a much more truthful record of contemporary American art than the American show now at the Art institute. It is lacking in childish prattle, primitive makeshifts, and lunatic outbursts, but to its credit must go the fact of intelligent, conservative paintings, robust and decorative paintings, and a vitality and enthusiasm which are stressed again and again. The exhibit will continue until Dec. 31.

At first sight the exhibit impresses one as being greatly colorful. Then a sense of vigor and youth bears in upon one. These are not the creations of academic painters, stifled by traditions, nor yet of painters bound to the bizarre through fear of being thought old fashioned. These are magnificent paintings, exuberant and joyous. Intelligent modernism takes its way with several of them. Josephine L. Reichmann surprises us with the sensitive quality of her pattern and color in "Begonia." Frederic Tellander delights us with his gleaming, glinting, dancing "Fountain: Place de l'Observatoire."

Beatrice S. Levy borrows the pathos of Utrillo's lonely roads in her haunting "Walled Path, Provence." Charles P. Killgore evinces his masterly command of his craft in "Flower Market" and "The Sierra Madres." Wilbur G. Adam offers an exquisitely perfect portrait in "Ruth." Joseph Allworthy submits a delightful still life and Edgar S. Cameron gives us a French street, misty gray with a splash of gold from candlelight on the wet road, in "Rain."

The portrait, "Col. Robert R. McCormick," by Amy McCormick, introduces to us a painter new to exhibitions. Mrs. McCormick makes use of the direct approach which modernism makes possible. We find the background a neutral shade, all detail relentlessly cut away, and against it there stands out the incisive, determined, vigorous personality which is Col. McCormick. Nothing of the photographic is here, but a great deal of subtle suggestion, direct impression, and impersonal interpretation. The painting probably is the most dynamic effort in portraiture in the gallery.

Mrs. Edward E. Gann, sister of and hostess for Vice President Curtis, was the guest of honor of Mrs. Frank C. Henry at luncheon today at the Willard.

Society at the Opera

The opera boxes were well filled last night for the performance of "Tannhäuser" despite the fact that many of the "regulars" amongst the opera-goers were attending the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society dinner at Henry H. DOLLAR GRAND OPERA OPENS AT NICE AT BEHEST OF F. J. GOULD

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

NICE, France, Dec. 2.—Grand opera at the top price of one dollar a seat was announced tonight in connection with the opening of the Nice Opera house, renovated and backed by Frank Jay Gould, American capitalist.

Three thousand persons prominent in international society attended "Aida," but the season's program contains many surprises, for the idea behind the project will be "art for art's sake," and the company includes the best musicians, singers, and dancers obtainable among Europe's postwar generation. The house has been redecorated, improved and equipped with elaborate scenery and costumes.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Miss Mildred Hockstader gave a luncheon today for Miss Jacquelin Stewart, daughter of Countess Raoul de Roussy de Sales, and Miss Fifi Laimbeer.

Mr. and Mrs. Kingdon Gould gave a dinner last evening at their home and later took their party to the opera.

Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop W. Aldrich, who have been in Europe for two months, will return on the Bremen. Mrs. Aldrich is the former Miss Harriet Alexander.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Fish Armstrong have come from Syosset, L. I., and have opened their new house in East 81st street.

EVERY CAN of Hills Bros Coffee is as rich in aroma and flavor as when it came from the roaster

You broil the steak evenly by letting it cook on each side a little at a time. Hills Bros. roast their coffee evenly by roasting only a few pounds at a time.

THE WAY Hills Bros. Coffee is roasted — the way it is packed — brings a distinctive wealth of flavor and goodness to every cup you make.

Only a few pounds at a time are roasted by Hills Bros.' patented, continuous process — Controlled Roasting. No bulk-roasting method can roast every berry so evenly as this process. Naturally, no other coffee can have the same delicious flavor that Hills Bros. Coffee has.

Because Hills Bros. Coffee is packed in vacuum tins, air, which destroys the flavor, is completely removed at the time of packing and kept out. No ordinary air-tight tin will keep coffee fresh. The Hills Bros. Coffee you buy is just as fresh as when it came from the roaster.

Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab on the can. Sold by grocers everywhere.

CENTRAL STATES FORESTRY MEET WILL OPEN TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—State foresters and conservation experts from eleven surrounding states will gather here tomorrow for the first central states forestry congress. The delegates were invited to participate in the conference by Gov Harry G. Leslie of Indiana.

On the eve of the congress it was learned from the Illinois delegation that the federal government is considering the advisability of taking over a number of available tracts in Illinois for forest preserve purposes and it was said that Gov. Louis L. Emmerson favored the plan.

Seek Greater Coöperation.

The congress is the outcome of the recent forest research council at Louisville, Ky., at which it was decided to promote greater coöperation between federal and state forestry organizations and private individuals through a central conference.

Among the problems to be discussed are those of marketing and the utilization of materials; the protection of existing forests from grazing and fire; the reforestation of abandoned and submarginal agricultural lands; the importance of forests in the prevention of soil erosion; the silting of stream channels and the control of floods; the development of outdoor recreation, game and wild life, and the advancement of forestry research.

Gov. Leslie Will Speak.

States participating in the congress are Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Missouri, Ohio, Tennessee, Arkansas, Michigan, West Virginia, and Wisconsin. The Illinois delegation is headed by L. B. Springer, superintendent of forestry.

The sessions will be opened tomorrow by addresses of welcome delivered by Gov. Leslie and Mayor Reginald M. Sullivan of Indianapolis. On the day's program are Ralph F. Wilcox, Indiana state forester and Tom Wallace, editor of the Louisville Times, Louisville, Ky.

FOUR CHILDREN AGAINST FATHER IN SLAYING TRIAL

Andrew Belak, 48 years old, who is on trial before Judge E. I. Frankhauser for the murder of his wife, Mary, will probably have all his four children arrayed against him. Attorney Thaddeus C. Toudor, who is defending Belak, said last night that he believes the children will testify for the state. The jury was completed last evening and the taking of testimony will start this morning.

During a previous trial, which ended in a disagreement, two of the children appeared friendly toward the cause of the father. Attorney Toudor said the change in attitude is reported to be the result of letters sent by Belak, who has been in jail without bail since the murder on March 17. In his letters Belak rebuked the children for not visiting him, Toudor said.

Harriet Belak, 10 years old, the youngest child, is the chief prosecution witness. She was the only eyewitness to the slaying. The other children are Mrs. Lillian Lyman, Stanley, and Jean.

AIR VOYAGERS OFF ON SEARCH FOR "LOST CITY"

Will Explore Ancient Mayan Country.

Miami, Fla., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Outbound on the air trail to the ancient Maya ruins on the Yucatan peninsula, the University of Pennsylvania expedition set out from Miami today aboard a chartered amphibian plane.

They will begin their explorations tomorrow upon reaching Cozumel island and the shores of the peninsula tomorrow, after a stop in Havana for the night.

The party of scientists is headed by Percy Childs Madeira Jr., with Gregory Mason, explorer and archeologist, as field leader. The others are J. Allen Mason, curator of the University of Pennsylvania museum; Robert A. Smith, photographer; Frank Ormsbee, pilot, and William H. Carey, radio operator.

To Explore Lost Empire.

From Cozumel, off the Yucatan coast, they will proceed over the mainland to photograph lost glories of the Mayan empire and land, whenever possible, on lakes near the ruins for closer inspection. They expect to spend eight days flying and five in ground work, Mr. Mason said, before returning by way of Havana and Miami.

Among their objectives is the northeastern part of Quintanaroo, part of the Mexican province never thoroughly explored from the air or the ground. There they will search for the lost city of Choaca.

Then to Honduras.

From the Yuactan peninsula they will fly southward to Belize, British Honduras, searching for other evidences of the vanished empire below the southern Mexican border.

Gregory Mason led the Mason-Stinden expedition in 1926 which discovered the ruins of seven cities in Central America and other explorations which have aided in tracing the history of the American Indian.

BOB CHANLER WILL PROBATED; TOTAL OF FORTUNE CONCEALED

New York, Dec. 2.—[Special.]—The will of Robert W. Chanler, artist, who died after an illness of several months at Woodstock, N. Y., on Oct. 24, last, was filed for probate today in Surrogate's court. The will, dated Oct. 17, one week before Mr. Chanler's death, is described in the routine manner as being "over $10,000."

Almost the entire estate, which is estimated to be large, is divided equally between Mr. Chanler's two daughters, Miss Dorothy Chanler of Red Hook and Mrs. Julia Chanler Beach of Paris. The residue is divided equally between them, as are all the painter's screens, for which he was noted, his personal and household effects, including all works of art.

To Charles Spencer McVeigh and Lewis Spencer Morris, members of the law firm of Morris & McVeigh of Wall street, which filed the will, Mr. Chanler left a fund of $70,000 to be distributed according to the terms of a letter addressed to them, which is not explained in the will. Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler, a brother, is named as executor.

LUKE GRANT DIES SUDDENLY; PRESS AGENT OF 'L' LINES

Luke Grant, 62 years old, publicity manager for the Chicago Rapid Transit company and the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railroad, died suddenly yesterday of heart disease at Stuart, Fla. He had been ordered south two weeks ago following a heart attack here. Funeral arrangements have not been completed, but it is probable the body will be brought to Chicago for burial.

LUKE GRANT.

A newspaper man of years' standing, Mr. Grant endeared himself to thousands of Insull employés as well as to commuters by his mellow wisdom and kindly humor in the North Shore Bulletin, a company publication of which he was editor. He was born in Glenlivet, Scotland, coming to Chicago in 1890.

In 1897 he became labor editor of the old Chicago Inter Ocean, continuing in newspaper work until 1917, when he went to work for the traction companies. He was appointed assistant secretary of the Illinois state board of arbitration in 1903. He was always actively interested in the affairs of labor. He is survived by his widow, Mary; a son, Stuart, and a daughter, Mrs. Alicia Long. The Grant home is at 1302 Carmen avenue.

CHURCH LEADERS AT FUNERAL OF BISHOP GRISWOLD

Plain Rites Held for Episcopal Prelate.

The Rt. Rev. Sheldon Munson Griswold, late bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago, was buried yesterday. The funeral was held at St. James cathedral with the quiet, solemn rites of his church. There were neither flowers nor eulogy. Bishop George Craig Stewart, successor to the late prelate, was celebrant at the requiem eucharisht. Just ten months previously to the day, Bishop Griswold offered the sacramental sacrifice for the repose of his predecessor, Bishop Charles P. Anderson.

More than 200 seminarians, deacons, priests and bishops formed the procession with which the service began. Bishops from the Canadian, Greek Orthodox, and Russian Orthodox churches were present. In addition to these prelates, 14 bishops of the American Episcopal church assisted. After the burial office had been read by Dean Duncan H. Browne of St. James cathedral and Dean J. H. Edwards, Bishop Stewart began the celebration of the requiem. He was assisted by Bishops James Wise of Kansas and Reginald Heber Weller of Fond du Lac, and the Rev. Messrs. E. J. Randall and Gerald Moore.

SUMNER SOLLITT, AUTHORITY ON BUILDING, DEAD

Sumner Sollitt, Chicago building contractor and nationally known authority on construction problems, died yesterday in St. Luke's hospital. He was 57 years old.

In 1927 he headed a party that visited construction centers in 30 states to study building conditions and costs and his observations later were incorporated in a nation-wide campaign to rid the building industry of unnecessary costs and delays.

He was a member of Union League Chicago Yacht, Hamilton, and Pullman clubs.

Mr. Sollitt is survived by his widow and three children, Mrs. Harold Marks of California, and Sumner Shannon and Grace Harriet Sollitt.

"How I cured my cold in a hurry"

"I drank lots of water all day long to wash the poisons out of my system. I put a little Mentholatum in each nostril to clear my head. At night I rubbed my chest with Mentholatum and covered it with a flannel cloth. Mentholatum does not stain and the extra warmth of the flannel increases its action.

"As the pleasant vapor rose, I inhaled it with every breath. The sore surfaces in my nose and throat were cooled and soothed and my breathing became much easier. I woke up this morning feeling fine."

Thousands are using the Mentholatum treatment. It is a faster, surer way to get rid of colds. TRY IT YOURSELF. Order now—at your favorite drug store. 30c for handy tube or familiar jar. Try Adulterating Your Family When Tension Gets High

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

In despair, one summer day, she took all kinds of work like darning and mending outdoors and spent hours just sitting and watching and listening.

And she discovered that they were of two totally opposed temperaments and that they couldn't possibly play together all day without explosions and fireworks. So she worked out a scheme of keeping them separate for a large part of each day. I won't try to go into the further details here, except to say that it was successful and that after a while the children found a working basis for companionship when they ceased annoying each other so.

We promised yesterday to go further into the question of why children in one family so often quarrel with each other. Here then is a reason: two or three or more children in a family may be so utterly opposed in temperament and tastes that, at least while they're children, they can't get along. Later the tolerance and control that help them to adjust to each other may come along. But not while they're young and learning to manage themselves and the world. Yet, because they are in the same family they are often thrown constantly together, get under each other's feet, so to speak, and on each other's nerves, without a natural congeniality. Hence—quarrels.

A sharp difference in ages will often account for friction if children in one family are forced through some circumstances to play together exclusively.

In short, in all these cases, the trouble may be merely that the children in a family are too much together.

The remedy is then—adulterate the family. Break up the closeness of the family group which is cerating tension and discord. Import children to play with yours. Let one or another of yours go somewhere else to play—provided it is a suitable place. Give the children a chance to get away from each other. Just because people—children of grownups—are born of the same father and mother doesn't mean that they should spend all their waking hours together.

These two days' articles do not pretend to cover the subject—they are merely suggestive of some causes and cures of the frequent quarreling among children in a family.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Asks for Typewriter.

"I am wondering if it is possible for you to secure for me through your TRIBUNE friends a portable typewriter. I am a blind patient in this veteran's bureau hospital. I have learned to use the typewriter in the occupational school here and also learned to read Braille. I am not eligible for compensation and am not able to work, yet I could get a lot of enjoyment out of a typewriter if I had one. F. K."

When you realize what pleasure your old portable would give this service man who has lost his sight, I know you'll be happy to donate it. If it's not in working condition perhaps it can be renovated.

Paris Fashions Throw Away the Waist Lines

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Many a figure in danger of sinking amid the tidal waves of fitted fashions is being pulled back to sartorial security by the saving waist lines, thrown out, just in the nick of time, by the Paris couturiers. It's all very well to preach '8 inch waists to those who have 'em, but the majority of modern women are a bit more comfortably shaped and a belt placed too literally around their natural waist may prove unflattering.

Chanel underlines this fact by low sering most of her waistlines to the top of the hip bones. Martial et Armand offer aid to needy figures by swathed hip girdles and princess cuts that give the effect of lower waist lines without actually displacing them. Molyneux' adjustable silhouette permits the belt to be placed where it's most becoming, and Jane Regny and Worth present a choice between three waist lines in a number of their evening frocks.

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

Interesting detail gives chic to this lovely day dress of black Canton crêpe. Shirring narrows the effect through the hips, and the white crêpe vest and self-covered button trim also gives a slimming effect to the bodice. The shirring on the sleeves below the elbows is a quaint new fashion.

The pattern, 2852, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 26, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 26 requires 4 yards of 39 inch material with ¾ yard of 9 inch contrasting.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

I have done a lot of water drinking propaganda in my day. I've preached and preached it. But somehow I never get over the feeling when I am using plain cold water as my theme that my audience would be more alert if I were to inject into the glass just one small drop of something with a fancy name to it.

Freud might explain, but I hope he wouldn't, that plain water leaves me cold, myself, and that's why I react so to my own water talks. But I could go ahead and make a Baron Munchausen out of him any day, for I am a heavy imbiber and I believe in its use for a dozen different things that may ail one.

I go on fruit juice sprees every now and then. While I appreciate fruit juices, still my main object is to get the larger quantity of water into my system that the fruit drink recipe calls for. Two quarts of water to a cup of fruit juice makes the drink. It's just a way I have of introducing a new flavor to the good old beverage fresh from the faucet.

Well, when some one else is willing to preach on my favorite topic you may be sure she can have the pulpit. That's why "Amalia" is now going to say: "Morning folks." She has tried water for her complexion. But let her tell it herself:

"You've often preached water drinking in your column, and you may be glad to know that here is one young lady who can testify to the good results of this practice as far as her complexion and skin is concerned.

"For several years I have been troubled with acne and recently took a series of treatments. These treatments healed up my skin nicely and I have not been bothered with pimples since. But it took the water drinking régime to really clear up the landscape and give the treatments a chance to show the good they had done. I believe the specialist who gave the treatments on that.

"I was pleased to discover, too, that the nasty little eruptions which so frequently occur on thighs and calves yielded to the water drinking habit.

"So I remain, yours for clear preaching, AMALIA."

Food Talk.

Rabbits are plentiful this year. They always are. It is a way they have. At this season a hunter can scare up as many as twenty and even the inexperienced can bring down three or four at one shot. Because they are not popular with the hunter. Nor are not popular with the hunter. Nor with many cooks. I am grateful that the rabbit has not fallen into disrepute on the farm and in many city homes where it is still admirably cooked.

A wild rabbit is much more interesting in flavor than the mild, sedentary creature of the hutch. However, the latter is excellent and almost equal to chicken when it is well prepared.

Success in cooking rabbit depends largely upon the age of the animal. It should be under six months. One can determine this by the size. An old rabbit has a much larger heavier body. If the pads are dry, the claws hard, the teeth long and the animal is exceptionally fat, the rabbit is too old. The female or doe is preferable to the buck. Rabbits should be fresh—not long killed. The eyes should be almost as bright as when the animal was alive. Avoid those shot in the stomach.

The rabbit is a lean animal, so if it is not bard or covered with liquid it will need to be larded with slices of bacon or fat pork. Most of the flesh is on the hind legs and loins. Two rabbits should adequately serve six persons. We hope the two following recipes will incite you to experiment with rabbit and you will never lose an opportunity to purchase a fine one now and then from your butcher and you will never fail to make good use of those your marksmen may be good enough to bring home.

RABBIT EN CASSEROLE.

Divide a cleaned rabbit into joints and its back into several pieces. Wash and dry thoroughly. Cut two slices of bacon for each rabbit and put into a heavy iron skillet. Add 1 tablespoon butter and when hot put in the rabbit. Cook for ten minutes, until nicely browned. Turn often to see that it does not burn. Sprinkle with flour and, still turning, cook for a few minutes longer. Add 1 cup meat stock [lacking stock add 1 cup boiling water in which is dissolved 1 beef or chicken bouillon cube]. Cover closely and simmer gently for 1¼ hours. Have a number of small cooked onions and add them to the rabbit ten minutes before it is ready. A few mushrooms sauted in butter enhance this dish. Two or three tablespoons tomato purée and 1 tablespoon tarragon vinegar improve the dish for many.

BAKED RABBITS.

Choose young rabbits. Wash and dry the livers. Chop them and add one small onion to each liver. Cook in one tablespoon butter until soft. Add this to 2 cups stale bread crumbs. Season with a teaspoon finely chopped parsley and a pinch of thyme. Add salt and pepper and 1 beaten egg and a little stock to moisten. Rub inside of rabbit with ½ teaspoon salt. Stuff the rabbit and sew up. Rub outside of rabbit with ½ teaspoon salt and a few grains pepper. Place greased paper or strips of fat pork over backs. Place in a hot oven [450 degrees F.] for about five minutes to brown, then reduce to 350 degrees F. Baste frequently with water in which a little butter has been melted. About 45 minutes of cooking should suffice for tender rabbits. One rabbit yields 2 servings.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER

Soils inhale oxygen and exhale carbon dioxide just as humans do, says F. B. Smith, chief of soils work at Iowa State college, who finds that some soils not properly cared for do not get a proper chance to breathe.

"They even get choked up and asphyxiated," he says. An apparatus which he has perfected enables him to measure the rate at which carbon dioxide escapes from the surface of a soil. Within reasonable limits, it has been decided that the greater the respiration of the soil the more productive it is. The additions of barnyard manure, lime, and organic matter are considered the surest ways of increasing such favorable soil reactions.

For 10 years he measured the carbon dioxide escapement and the crop yields on test p'ots. Yields averaged 44.9, 49, and 36 bushels of corn per acre, respectively, on a plot which received manure, another which was given manure and lime, and a third which received no applications.

Nearly every phase of soil management revolves around this type of measuring the productivity of a soil, says Mr. Smith. For instance, he cites the common advice of not working a soil when it is too wet, as this causes puddling. The effect is to make the soil too compact, shutting off any chance to inhale and exhale. Undesirable gases will not be allowed to escape and the soil may become choked.

Straws and manures with large amounts of bedding should be applied before a crop is to be planted in order to give the material time to decompose. Otherwise there is a stimulation to organisms which in their growth compete with the crop for available plant food.

Michigan Students Lose Two Skits to Censors

Ann Arbor, Mich., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Faculty censorship today took toll of humor of University of Michigan students for the first annual all campus revue, "Aw Nuts," that will be presented here next week as a successor to the defunct Michigan Union opera.

Two skits, written for the revue, were blue pencilled by the committee on theater practice and policy. Two other skits will be submitted this week. Final approval on song and dance acts must be obtained during dress rehearsals Saturday and Sunday evenings. More than 50 students and co-eds have rôles in the show. All music, dialogue, and lyrics have been written by students.

Try Adulterating Your Family When Tension Gets High

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Their mother was distracted.

And she discovered that they were of two totally opposed temperaments and that they couldn't possibly play together all day without explosions and fireworks. So she worked out a scheme of keeping them separate for a large part of each day. I won't try to go into the further details here, except to say that it was successful and that after a while the children found a working basis for companionship when they ceased annoying each other so.

We promised yesterday to go further into the question of why children in one family so often quarrel with each other. Here then is a reason: two or three or more children in a family may be so utterly opposed in temperament and tastes that, at least while they're children, they can't get along. Later the tolerance and control that help them to adjust to each other may come along. But not while they're young and learning to manage themselves and the world. Yet, because they are in the same family they are often thrown constantly together, get under each other's feet, so to speak, and on each other's nerves, without a natural congeniality. Hence—quarrels.

A sharp difference in ages will often account for friction if children in one family are forced through some circumstances to play together exclusively.

In short, in all these cases, the trouble may be merely that the children in a family are too much together.

The remedy is then—adulterate the family. Break up the closeness of the family group which is cerating tension and discord. Import children to play with yours. Let one or another of yours go somewhere else to play—provided it is a suitable place. Give the children a chance to get away from each other. Just because people of two totally opposed temperaments and that they couldn't possibly play together all day without explosions and fireworks. So she worked out a scheme of keeping them separate for a large part of each day. I won't try to go into the further details here, except to say that it was successful and that after a while the children found a working basis for companionship when they ceased annoying each other so.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

Interesting detail gives chic to this lovely day dress of black Canton crêpe. Shirring narrows the effect through the hips, and the white crêpe vest and self-covered button trim also gives a slimming effect to the bodice. The shirring on the sleeves below the elbows is a quaint new fashion.

The pattern, 2852, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 4 yards of 39 inch material with ¼ yard of 9 inch contrasting.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Asks for Typewriter.

"I am wondering if it is possible for you to secure for me through your famous friends a portable typewriter. I am a blind patient in this veteran's bureau hospital. I have learned to use the typewriter in the occupational school here and also learned to read Braille. I am not eligible for compensation and am not able to work, yet I could get a lot of enjoyment out of a typewriter if I had one. F. K."

When you realize what pleasure your old portable would give this service man who has lost his sight, I know you'll be happy to donate it. If it's not in working condition perhaps it can be renovated.

Paris Fashions Throw Away the Waist Lines

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Many a figure in danger of sinking amid the tidal waves of fitted fashions is being pulled back to sartorial security by the saving waist lines, thrown out, just in the nick of time, by the Paris couturiers. It's all very well to preach '8 inch waists to those who have 'em, but the majority of modern women are a bit more comfortably shaped and a belt placed too literally around their natural waist may prove unflattering.

Chanel underlines this fact by low ering most of her waistlines to the top of the hip bones. Martial et Armand offer aid to needy figures by swathed hip girdles and princess cuts that give the effect of lower waist lines without actually displacing them. Molyneux' adjustable silhouette permits the belt to be placed where it's most becoming, and Jane Regny and Worth present a choice between three waist lines in a number of their evening frocks.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

I have done a lot of water drinking propaganda in my day. I've preached and preached it. But somehow I never get over the feeling when I am using plain cold water as my theme that my audience would be more alert if I were to inject into the glass just one small drop of something with a fancy name to it.

Freud might explain, but I hope he wouldn't, that plain water leaves me cold, myself, and that's why I react so to my own water talks. But I could go ahead and make a Baron Munchausen out of him any day, for I am a heavy imbiber and I believe in its use for a dozen different things that may all one.

I go on fruit juice sprees every now and then. While I appreciate fruit juices, still my main object is to get the larger quantity of water into my system that the fruit drink recipe calls for. Two quarts of water to a cup of fruit juice makes the drink. It's just a way I have of introducing a new flavor to the good old beverage fresh from the faucet.

Well, when some one else is willing to preach on my favorite topic you may be sure she can have the pulpit. That's why "Amalia" is now going to say: "Morning folks." She has tried water for her complexion. But let her tell it herself:

"You've often preached water drinking in your column, and you may be glad to know that here is one young lady who can testify to the good results of this practice as far as her complexion and skin is concerned.

"For several years I have been troubled with acne and recently took a series of treatments. These treatments healed up my skin nicely and I have not been bothered with pimples since. But it took the water drinking régime to really clear up the landscape and give the treatments a chance to show the good they had done. I believe the specialist who gave the treatments on that.

"I was pleased to discover, too, that the nasty little eruptions which so frequently occur on thighs and calves yielded to the water drinking habit.

"So I remain, yours for more preaching, AMALIA."

FARM AND GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER

Soils inhale oxygen and exhale carbon dioxide just as humans do, says F. B. Smith, chief of soils work at Iowa State college, who finds that some soils not properly cared for do not get a proper chance to breathe.

"They even get choked up and asphyxiated," he says. An apparatus which he has perfected enables him to measure the rate at which carbon dioxide escapes from the surface of a soil. Within reasonable limits, it has been decided that the greater the respiration of the soil the more productive it is. The additions of barnyard manure, lime, and organic matter are considered the surest ways of increasing such favorable soil reactions.

For 10 years he measured the carbon dioxide escapement and the crop yields on test plots. Yields averaged 44.9, 49, and 36 bushels of corn per acre, respectively, on a plot which received manure, another which was given manure and lime, and a third which received no applications.

Nearly every phase of soil management revolves around this type of measuring the productivity of a soil, says Mr. Smith. For instance, he cites the common advice of not working a soil when it is too wet, as this causes puddling. The effect is to make the soil too compact, shutting off any chance to inhale and exhale. Undesirable gases will not be allowed to escape and the soil may become choked.

Straws and manures with large amounts of bedding should be applied before a crop is to be planted in order to give the material time to decompose. Otherwise there is a stimulation to organisms which in their growth compete with the crop for available plant food.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY

K. L.: FOR THE REMOVAL OF thickly clustered blackheads on the nose and chin it is well to steam the face. After the skin has been softened gently squeeze out the black points. Avoid bruising the skin. Blackheads should be removed immediately to prevent the formation of pimples.

Food Talk.

Rabbits are plentiful this year. They always are. It is a way they have. At this season a hunter can scare up as many as twenty and even the inexperienced can bring down three or four at one shot. Because they are such easy prey they are not popular with the hunter. Nor with many cooks. I am grateful that the rabbit has not fallen into disrepute on the farm and in many city homes where it is still admirably cooked.

A wild rabbit is much more interesting in flavor than the mild, sedentary creature of the hutch. However, the latter is excellent and almost equal to chicken when it is well prepared.

Success in cooking rabbit depends largely upon the age of the animal. It should be under six months. One can determine this by the size. An old rabbit has a much larger heavier body. If the pads are dry, the claws hard, the teeth long and the animal is exceptionally fat, the rabbit is too old. The female or doe is preferable to the buck. Rabbits should be fresh—not long killed. The eyes should be almost as bright as when the animal was alive. Avoid those shot in the stomach.

The rabbit is a lean animal, so if it is not boiled or covered with liquid it will need to be larded with slices of bacon or fat pork. Most of the flesh is on the hind legs and loins. Two rabbits should adequately serve six persons. We hope the two following recipes will incite you to experiment with rabbit and you will never lose an opportunity to purchase a fine one now and then from your butcher and you will never fail to make good use of those your marksmen may be good enough to bring home.

RABBIT EN CASSEROLE.

Divide a cleaned rabbit into joints and its back into several pieces. Wash and dry thoroughly. Cut two slices of bacon for each rabbit and put into a heavy iron skillet. Add 1 tablespoon butter and when hot put in the rabbit. Cook for ten minutes, until nicely browned. Turn often to see that it does not burn. Sprinkle with flour and, still turning, cook for a few minutes longer. Add 1 cup meat stock [lacking stock add 1 cup boiling water in which is dissolved 1 beef or chicken bouillion cube]. Cover closely and simmer gently for 1¼ hours. Have a number of small cooked onions and add them to the rabbit ten minutes before it is ready. A few mushrooms sauted in butter enhance this dish. Two or three tablespoons tomato purée and 1 tablespoon tarragon vinegar improve the dish for many.

BAKED RABBITS.

Choose young rabbits. Wash and dry the livers. Chop them and add one small onion to each liver. Cook in one tablespoon butter until soft. Add this to 2 cups stale bread crumbs. Season with a teaspoon finely chopped parsley and a pinch of thyme. Add salt and pepper and 1 beaten egg and a little stock to moisten. Rub inside of rabbit with ½ teaspoon salt. Stuff the rabbit and sew up. Rub outside of rabbit with ½ teaspoon salt and a few grains pepper. Place greased paper or strips of fat pork over backs. Place in a hot oven [450 degrees F.] for about five minutes to brown, then reduce to 350 degrees F. Baste frequently with water in which a little butter has been melted. About 45 minutes of cooking should suffice for tender rabbits. One rabbit yields 2 servings.

Michigan Students Lose Two Skits to Censors

Ann Arbor, Mich., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Faculty censorship today took toll of humor of University of Michigan students for the first annual all campus revue, "Aw Nuts," that will be presented here next week as a successor to the defunct Michigan Union opera.

Two skits, written for the revue, were blue penciled by the committee on theater practice and policy. Two other skits will be submitted this week. Final approval on song and dance acts must be obtained during dress rehearsals Saturday and Sunday evenings. More than 50 students and co-eds have rôles in the show. All music, dialogue, and lyrics have been written by students.
